Rioting Egyptian Students Kill Cairo Chief Of Police

Four Officers Are Slain, 259 Demonstrators Jailed In Wild Outbreak

CAIRO, Egypt, Dec. 4.—(AP)—Rioting students shouting Palestine and anti-government slogans killed Police Chief Selim Zaki Pasha with a grenade today.

Police sources said three other policemen were killed and 18 wounded, in the battle at Fuad I University Medical School. Two hundred fifty-nine students, most of them injured, were arrested.

The disorder occurred as Dr. Ralph Bunche, acting U. N. mediator in Palestine, was paying a visit to Cairo. He and his assistants were guarded by a squad of 12 constables and eight plainclothesmen.

Premier Mahmoud Fahmy Norhrashi Pashs Pasha, who was conferring with Bunche at the time, told reporters "these are elements of destruction. We are going to use all authority in our hands."

The incident also coincided with news of the fall of Premier Jamil Mardam Dey's government in Syria after several days of strikes and street rioting. Dissatisfaction with the situation in Palestine led to the distrubances.

From another Arab country, Iraq, dispatches reported the National Democratic and Liberal parties suspended activity because of government restrictions. Only the Independence party is functioning in Iraq now.

(Middle east dispatches in recent days have reported the likelihood of disturbances, not only in Syria but Iraq and Egypt as well, as a result of popular disillusionment over Palestine events.)

Shouting "the Sundan for Egypt", "Palestine for the Arabs" and "down with Nokrashy," the students tried to march on Premier Mahmoud Fahmy Nokrashy's office. They kidnapped Dr. Ibrahim Shawki Bey, director of the university, and made him march with them.

Have you done your part in making someone happy on Christmas? Don't you know that right here at home there are hundreds of families who are barely existing in these days of high prices and whose tiny income, probably from the welfare department as the only source of supply, is taxed to the limit to pay rent and fuel and to provide scanty food?

If you, from your greater supply of this world's goods will only put aside a small sum for Good Fellows, you will make some home happier. And in the end you will be blessed for your thoughtful generosity.

Before us lies a letter from a girl

3,200 Chinese Killed In Refugee Ship Blast

Greatest Maritime Disaster In History; Only 200 Bodies Have Been Recovered; Small Percentage Rescued

SHANGHAI, Dec. 4.—(AP)—More than 3,200 Chinese were estimated dead or missing tonight in the explosion of an overcrowded refugee ship in the Yangtze estuary.

Lack of passenger records made possibly only the roughest figures. The exact toll never will be known.

Even approximate accuracy, however, ranks the disaster as the greatest in modern maritime history, including single-ship casualties of major wars.

Estimates of those rescued ranged from a low of 100 to a high of 700.

The 2,099-ton steamer Kiangya sailed from Shanghai Friday for Ninghsien (Ningpo), 200 miles down the coast. It exploded about 10 p. m. Friday and sank within an hour, all available survivors agreed. Cause of the explosion was not known. Guesses ranged from Communist sabotage to a floating mine or possibly overtaxed boilers.

The loss was not discovered until Saturday morning, when a passing coastal ship sighted the funnel and a bit of wrecked superstructure protruding above the shallow water.

Six Chinese tugs and former landing craft still searched the scene 30 miles northeast of Shanghai tonight.

It was considered unlikely that they would find additional survivors after more than 24 hours in the chill, wind-lashed waters.

Officials of the China Merchant Steam Navigation Company which operated the ship said its top capacity was supposed to be 1,186 persons.

They estimated that actually it had carried as many as 4,250 half of whom had boarded without tickets.

This was admittedly only a guess, but officials said on many recent trips since the Communist invasion scare began, more than 4,000 persons had clambered aboard.

They conservatively estimated 3,000 missing plus 200 bodies recovered.

No non-Chinese were known to have been aboard.

The steamship office had to close during the day as thousands of relatives of passengers sought admittance.

Jes' Ramblin'

Here's where we start with another squawk, and maybe it is a justifiable one at that:

"Jes' Ramblin'

"Sir: Shame on a civilized community torturing helpless fowls for amusement of the public!

"A Friend of the Rooster."

A letter has just been received with reference to the old folks' home at 904 Jackson street, where the second floor is almost entirely devoid of chairs and settees. Some pictures also would be much appreciated to adorn the walls.

On this floor in the hallways, a church service is held and those attending have to stand as there are no chairs. A few chairs of any kind that are still durable and some pictures would be much appreciated, it is stated.

Dear Jes' Ramblin':

As publicity director of the North Monroe Lions Club, I would like to take this medium of informing the citizens of this community that this club is sponsoring a project which we hope as the years go by will be something that both children and adults will look forward to. We have entitled our project "The Community Christmas Tree" and it entails the decorating of a large Christmas tree, the construction of a Santa Claus throne on the grounds of the Central Grammar School, and the collection

SECRET ARMY FORMATION IS REPORTED IN HOUSE BULLETIN

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—(AP)—The house un-American activities committee said today an estimated 800 Moscow-trained American Communists are "high officers of a secret army now being drilled to overcome our government."

Where in the United States such a secret army is being drilled, the committee did not say in a pamphlet titled "100 Things You Should Know About Communism and Education."

The pamphlet is in question and answer form and is one of a series prepared by the committee.

It said education is one of the ripest fields for Communist activity, explaining that many Communists and fellow travelers have bored into the American school system and constitute "a deadly danger."

"Besides active teaching in public schools, private schools, and church schools, from kindergartens to colleges, they run some schools outright," the committee said, adding:

"The Communists have always found the teaching group the easiest touch of all the professional classes for actual party zealots and fellow travelers."

It gave this as the reason communism attracts so many learned men:

"Sometimes it is frustration. Sometimes it is greed or love of power. Sometimes it is misplaced idealism."

The committee said the highest college of Communist training is the Lenin school in Moscow, where:

"Carefully trained Communists from the United States and other countries get a free course in factory sabotage, bomb-making, kidnaping, train-wrecking, mutiny, civil warfare, espionage, infiltration and other methods of wrecking a country."

It estimated that 800 American Communists trained at the Lenin school have returned to the United

IMPENDING BATTLE TO DECIDE FUTURE CHIANG DIRECTION

Clash Between Southbound Nationalist Force, Northbound Reds Awaited

35,000 REINFORCEMENTS MOVE INTO QUEASY CITY

NANKING, Dec. 4—(AP)—Official attention riveted today on an impending collision south of Suchow by major Communist and Nationalist forces which may determine the immediate future of the Chinese government.

Chinese official circles displayed considerable optimis that a head-on clash would at least temporarily stabilize the situation. Well informed foreign military quarters expressed belief that even a partial success would give the government 60 to 90 days respite.

Arrival of 35,000 reinforcements in Nanking from Hankow was another cause for easing the recent black gloom of Chinese officials. This brought to some 75,000 the number of effectives holding the Yangtze river defense before the capital.

Red Gen. Chen Yo was reported moving an estimated 125,000 troops into position to block the southward march of three government army groups that evacuated Suchow Wednesday.

Three Communist columns, of about 50,000 men, already were reported engaging the government groups about 30 miles south of Suchow.

(The Communists broadcast that this action was only ten miles south of Suchow, and that the government forces had fled westward after suffering "thousands of casualties without gaining an inch.")

Five of Chen Yi's columns broke off their offensive on the Hwai river

ARCHITECT HIRING HANDED TO STOKE

University Board Leaves Officials With Problem Of Following Suggestion

BATON ROUGE, La., Dec. 4.—(AP)—Louisiana State supervisors today left to the University administration the decision on a suggestion from the governor's office, division of administration, for employment of an architect.

The issue came up at a meeting of the board of supervisors in connection with the proposed Red River Valley Experiment Station near Bossier City. The university proposed that Neild and Somdal of Shreveport be employed as architects for the project. The division of administration, which under a 1948 law must approve all state architectural and construction contracts, withheld approval and suggested D. Curtis Smith of Monroe as architect.

Board members discussed whether the university was subject to the law, since in other matters it enjoys more autonomy than most state agencies. President Harold W. Stoke said the matter was reported to the board because of the possibility that a precedent would be set by the decision in this case.

Comptroller Troy Middleton suggested that Smith be employed since he was a competent architect and the action would "avoid making a mountain out of a molehill."

J. Y. Fauntleroy, board member from New Orleans, suggested that

WEST MONROE YOUTH ARRESTED IN THEFT

Winford Sharp, 23, West Monroe, charged with the theft of an automobile and hit and run driving, was arrested early Saturday morning by Monroe police shortly after he was reported to have collided with another automobile and failed to stop.

Three persons received minor cuts and bruises as a result of the collision. The injured persons, Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Taylor, of 114 Grayling lane and their son, W. A. Taylor, were not seriously injured and were not hospitalized, police said.

The collision occured at the intersection of Jackson and Grammont streets where the Taylor car was knocked from the street to the sidewalk, striking the side of the Post Office Pharmacy. Sharp, believed to have been operationg a stolen automobile then fled the scene of the accident and was later picked up by patroling officers, officers stated.

Senn D. Jackson reportedly riding in the automobile with Sharp, was held for a material witness, police said. Both men were lodged in the parish jail, officers said. The auto in question was reported to have belonged to A. C. Richardson, of Chatham, who said the car was taken from near the St. Francis sanitarium Thursday.

THREE PRESCRIPTION DEPARTMENTS CLOSED

FERRIDAY, La., Dec. 4.—(Special)—Eugene W. Vogt, Ferriday druggist and secretary of the state pharmacy board, said today that six Louisiana drug stores, three in north Louisiana and three in south Louisiana, were forced to close because they were not employing registered pharmacists. Only the prescription departments will be affected, Vogt pointed out.

It has been against Louisiana law for several years for the employment of an unqualified pharmacist but it had not been enforced until the revision of the law during the first session of state legislature after the election of Earl Long.

Vogt, who is a former mayor of this city, said the six cases will be reviewed at a meeting of the board in New Orleans in June. He declined to identify the establishments affected.

EXPLOSIVES TRUCK BLASTED TO BITS

Two Or Three Persons Killed When Vehicle Runs Into Ditch After Flat

THROCKMORTON, Tex., Dec. 4—(AP)—An explosives truck rammed into a ditch four miles south of Throckmorton today and disintegrated with a great rumbling roar, killing its rider or riders and one other man. The time was shortly after 2 p. m.

The shock waves rattled windows in this city, 65 miles northeast of Abilene, and the blast was plainly heard at Woodson, 15 miles away.

Known dead was Willis Buchanan, Throckmorton rancher, who was driving along the highway in his pickup truck.

A big trailer truck, also in the vicinity, was blasted off the highway and its driver Jack King, 23, of Wichita Falls, Tex., his arm badly mangled, thrown clear. He was taken to Olney, Tex., hospital.

An eyewitness, E. L. Crepsinger of Throckmorton, said the explosives truck pulled off to the right of the pavement, its right wheels went into a small ditch at the end of a culvert, and it blew up.

"It looked like it went about 300 feet high," Crepsinger said. The explosion knocked out electric service in Throckmorton for a few minutes, damaged a home, set a grass fire that was extinguished, and dug a huge crater.

Officers were trying to identify the truck and its occupant or occupants.

WARSHIP TERMED 'MIGHT IN PEACE'

President Truman Says Huge Missouri Will Not Be Placed In Moth Balls

NORFOLK, Va., Dec. 4.—(AP)—President Truman stood on the deck of one of America's mightiest warships today and called it "a symbol of might in peace."

He was talking about the 45,000-ton battleship, Missouri, named for his state.

He stood just a few feet from the bronze plaque on the deck which commemorates the Japanese surrender aboard the "Mighty Mo" in Tokyo Bay in 1945.

Mr. Truman arrived here shortly after noon (EST) on a week end cruise from Washington. He came to take part in the presentation of a 281 piece silver service to the battleship.

The $10,000 set of silverware was the gift of the people of the state of Missouri. It was presented by Governor Phil Donnelly and accepted by the vessel's skipper, Captain James Thach, Jr.

Under unusual circumstances, Mr. Truman took the occasion to make it emphatically clear that the Missouri is not going to be taken out of active service.

After the presentation, the president

General Dedicates Ruston Armory

Major General K. F. Cramer, chief of the national guard bureau in Washington, D. C., is shown dedicating a new guard armory at Ruston late yesterday afternoon. The general arrived late Friday to head the ceremonies which were preceded by aerial salutes, a parade, and a band festival. Assigned to the 199th company of national guardsmen, the new building is a base capable of supplying 150 personnel.

2 Million Berliners To Choose Conqueror

Four Powers Will Measure Success Of Recent Programs In Besieged City By Outcome Of Communist, Democratic Race

By Donald Doane

BERLIN, Dec. 4.—(AP)—Nearly 2,000,000 Germans, blockaded 100 miles behind the Iron Curtain, were urged tonight to vote "for freedom and against communism" in tomorrow's city election.

What ordinarily would be a local contest between rival political parties has been magnified by the east-west struggle into a giant straw in the wind indicating which conqueror the Germans prefer.

Communists are boycotting the election and are not on the ballot. The result, therefore, will be judged on the relative size of the vote and the stay-at-home element.

If more than 80 per cent of the eligible voters come out, the western powers will hail it as a vindication of their fight to stay and prevent the Sovietization of Berlin.

If voting is relatively light, the Communists will claim German endorsement of their efforts to drive out the western powers.

Clear weather favored a heavy vote, and also the airlift which flew in 4,754 tons of food and fuel today.

"Anyone who stays at home tomorrow is giving a vote for communism against freedom," declared Ferdinand Friedensburg, deputy mayor of the legally elected government which rules two-thirds of the divided city.

The Americans and British punctured a last-minute scare campaign of Communist rumors that the western powers are getting ready to abandon the city in January or February. The campaign was calculated to make timid Germans fear to show their colors tomorrow.

"The United States will not be

SENATOR PLEDGES FIGHT FOR PARITY

Oklahoma Solon Will Head Agriculture Committee To Keep Prices Up

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—(AP)—Sen. Elmer Thomas (D.-Okla.) said today he will lead a fight in the next congress to keep farmers prosperous and farm prices near recent high levels.

"Votes of farmers and farm states provided the biggest surprises in the recent election," he told a reporter. "I have a four-point program that will have support of friends of the farmer in congress who can remember the election results."

Thomas will be chairman of the senate agriculture committee when Democrats take over control in January.

TOP NATIONAL GUARD FIGURES PRESENT AT RUSTON CEREMONY

By Percy Fant
(of the Morning World Staff)

RUSTON, La., Dec. 4—A newly-constructed $30,000 National Guard Armory, completed here weeks ago, was dedicated late this afternoon by Major General K. F. Cramer, chief of the National Guard Bureau in Washington, D. C.

The dedication followed numerous air salutes by planes from Barksdale Field, Shreveport, Baton Rouge, Randolph Field, Texas, New Orleans naval air base and national guard craft from Little Rock, Ark.

Also present at the affair and contributing to the occassion, were eight high school bands from Louisiana and Arkansas and over a thousand national guardsmen from twelve infantry companies.

The dedications followed a three-day festival here.

Cramer arrived at the Ruston airfield late yesterday afternoon, preceding the arrival of Brigadier General Raymond F. Hufft, adjutant general of Louisiana; Brigadier General R. W. Burns, second in command of the Air Training Command at Barksdale field, and Brigadier General Joseph A. Redding, assistant division commander of the 39th infantry division.

Air force displays, including four C-47 transport planes and four AT-6 advance trainers, were put at the disposal of visitors.

A parade of national guardsmen and high school bands through downtown Ruston, immediately preceded the dedication of the armory.

Competing for trophies on the football field of Louisiana Tech, the bands entertained an estimated thousand spectators.

Winners of the trophies, announced at the dedication, were: first prize, Magnolia, Ark. high school band; second prize, the band from El Dorado,

NO DEATHS ARE REPORTED FROM QUAKE EFFECTS

Landslides Caused In One Area, Windows Broken, Buildings Cracked

SEVERE SHOCKS AND MUCH CONSTERNATION CAUSED

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 4.—(AP)—A rolling quake, centering in isolated hills a hundred miles east of here, damaged windows and sent hundreds of persons rushing into the streets today but there were no reports of death or serious injuries.

In the San Bernardino mountains north of Banning, it caused land-slides and broke chunks of pavement on a road leading to the Morongo Indian reservation.

In the winter resort town of Palm Springs, some 20 miles to the south, police said the rear end of a furniture store collapsed, plate glass windows were broken, slate slid off a roof.

Other cities in the general area—Twenty-nine Palms and Indio, among them, reported severe shocks and much consternation. In Indio, the police desk sergeant released his prisoners into the jailyard, a liquor store reported heavy damage as stocks tumbled to the floor, merchandise bounced off shelves in markets. A bank vault was sprung in Twenty-nine Palms. Pavements showed cracks.

Seismologists reported the quake about equal in severity to one in April, 1947, which also centered in a remote desert area northeast of here. Only the isolated nature of the country, said the experts, prevented serious damage and possible loss of life.

The tremor was felt in a band extending from Santa Barbara and Fresno on the north to San Diego and El Centro on the south, and east to the Colorado river.

There were reports of plaster cracks, broken dishes and stopped clocks in Los Angeles. In Arlington, windows were broken and a paint store messed up when stock fell to the floor. Windows were broken in the building of the Ontario Daily report. A telephone operator fainted in Los Angeles. Brief power line failure occurred in Victorville.

NEGRO YOUTH SHOT, FOUR MEN JAILED

WINNSBORO, La., Dec. 4.—(Special)—A 14-year-old Negro boy, Dan Gordon, was receiving treatment in a Winnsboro clinic tonight for a serious bullet wound of the chest after he was shot by a .22 caliber pistol shortly after 2 p. m. yesterday afternoon, Franklin parish Sheriff Hiram Waller said.

Four men are being held in the Franklin parish jail in connection with the shooting, Waller said. The men were identified as Harmon Futch, 35, and T. A. Kendricks, 25, both of Sun Ray, Tex., Sherwood Futch, 27, of West Monroe and Elton Futch, 30, of Rayville.

Gordon was shot near his home, two miles south of here on Highway 15. Shortly after the shooting, Winnsboro authorities were notified and given a description of the automobile, from which four occupants were reported to have fired the shots which struck the Negro, Waller said.

The state police were notified to be on the look-out for the four men who were believed to be headed for Monroe, on Highway 15.

Late yesterday afternoon, state police apprehended the four men at the Forest Club, 12 miles south of Monroe, according to Sheriff Waller. They were returned to Winnsboro where they are being held for questioning and investigation.

Waller said the men admitted shooting in the direction of the Negro boy with the intention of scaring him.

Harmon, Sherwood, and Elton Futch are brothers, officers said.

Ousting Of Electoral College

The Dixiecrat revolt may have been strictly a one-shot performance. But it is possible that it will bring Americans a bit closer to the day when they will lock the door of the electoral college and throw the key away. It all depends on what the 40 Thurmond-Wright electors do.

Senator Ellender of Louisiana recently visited the White House, and afterwards said he had told the president that he was going to try to get those 40 electors to cast their ballots for Mr. Truman and Senator Barkley, rather than for the states' rights slate.

They would be entirely within their rights if they did this. They are not directed by the constitution to conform their choice to the popular vote.

But if the Thurmond-Wright electors vote for the regular, and victorious, Democratic candidates, they will do more than break the pledges that won them a majority in Alabama, South Carolina, Mississippi, Louisiana, and placed two of their number on the list in Tennessee. They will effectively disfranchise considerably more than half a million persons who voted for them.

Such an action would emphasize a deficiency in our voting system that is theoretically present in every presidential election, even though it seldom makes any actual difference. For, in spite of political tradition and practice, the voters have no legal voice in the choice of the president.

They may express a preference, as the Dixicrat supporters did. But the electors whom they voted for can vote as they choose.

This year's election offered other reasons, of course, for giving the voters a more direct and secure means of selecting a president. The contest barely missed winding up in the house of representatives, which would have taken the choice out of the people's hands entirely.

As a result of all this, the new congress will undoubtedly have a chance to start the machinery for changing the system. One proposal, by Senator Lodge of Massachusetts and Rrepresentative Gossett of Texas, has already been made public. It would not do away with electoral votes, but it would do away with the electors. And it would divide a state's electoral votes between the candidates in proportion to their popular vote.

This arrangement, or simply a direct popular vote, would naturally end any danger that congress, and not the people, might have the right to choose a president. It would abolish the chance that voters might find their support being recorded for a candidate whom they had opposed.

The present electoral system was a compromise among the delegates to the constitutional convention. But the controversy that brought it about has only historical interest today. Its meaning is blurred and dated, but its inequities are no less potent for being meaningless.

We can see no reason why a proper reverence for the constitution should blind congress to this obvious flaw. The logical action will be for the legislators to draft an amendment which will make the letter conform to the spirit of our free and secret ballot, and then let the people vote on it.

STRIKE STATISTICS

Dock strikes on both coasts have ended, but the consequences will continue to be felt for many months. Indeed, some of the losses caused by these work stoppages cannot be made up. The food that spoiled on unloaded ships, for example, will never nourish any human being.

Waterfront workers on the West Coast were out two months, those on the East Coast three weeks. As a result of the protracted tieup of Pacific Coast ports the whole region has suffered an economic slowdown. Jobs are scarcer there, especially for unskilled and semi-skilled workers, and the strike is held to be the factor chiefly responsible.

How much did these strikes cost? It is impossible to say, but one estimate puts the loss in wages to West Coast strikers at $30,000,000 and the loss to employers at $4,000,000 a day. Perhaps $250,000,000 would be a reasonably accurate figure for the direct cost of that strike. Twice as many men were involved in the East Coast stoppage, but as they stayed off the job for a much shorter period the direct cost might be reckoned at $150,000,000. The indirect costs are incalculable.

The unions won, but it should be remembered that they could have settled for an increase of a few cents less an hour than they gained. On the East Coast they have now won three cents more and vacation provisions equal to another four cents. But the men have not worked for three weeks—and in three 40-hour weeks at $1.85 an hour they would have earned $222. It will take 79 weeks of 40 hours before their extra seven cents an hour will offset the uncollected wages.

As for the West Coast workers, they will be behind the game for years.

Oh, for the good old days when houses with high rents had that vacant look.

A judge ruled that a Kansas man had no reason to strike his wife. We agree that you can't beat a good wife.

Both men and women dress in front of mirrors to see what's going on.

For better ways to add insult to injury, consider the bandits who held up a jail and robbed the prisoners.

If most people were as bad as you think, they'd be a lot worse than they are.

After all, horse sense is just good old stable thinking.

IN HOLLYWOOD

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 4.—A close call for goggle-fishing enthusiast Gig Young when he was trapped under water for more than a minute the other day while questing for abalone. . . . Jean Sablon and Metropolitan Ballerina Maria Sveltlova have scheduled an altar-trek for January . . . I hear that the life story of Satira, the night club dancer who did time in Cuba for the slaying of her lover, is now being offered to Hollywood studios as a screen vehicle . . . Larry Parks and Betty Garrett, denying that they are on Doc Stork's list, are checking the possibility of adopting a child.

That report that Van Johnson has signed up to do a trapeze act with Ringling Brothers Circus next summer sounds like a publicity phoney to me . . . When Judy Canova returns from her current p. a. tour, she'll probably be greeted by a $60,000 lawsuit; her estranged spouse, Chet England, wants that amount as his share of alleged community property . . . Time out for Barbara Bel Geddes, painfully injured in a New Hampshire skiing accident . . . Vic McLaglen's 24-year-old daughter, Sheila, was secretly married, last November 6, to Morley Horder, a Monterey, California, building contractor.

I'm told that 20th Century-Fox bosses will offer Betty Grable and Tyrone Power life-time contracts, come the first of the year . . . Leslie Brooks' missing daughter, located in Honolulu as a result of my broadcast two weeks ago, has again disappeared; it is believed that the baby's father has taken her to New Zealand.

PREVIEW NIGHTS: Pic of the week: 20th Century-Fox's "Yellow Sky" (Gregory Peck-Anne Baxter-Richard Widmark). Western drama at its best—believable, powerful and thoroughly entertaining . . . RECOMMENDED: 20th Century-Fox's "That Wonderful Urge" (Tyrone Power-Gene Tierney-Reginald Gardiner). Urge yourselves to see it if you like zany, rib-tickling comedy. . . . GOOD: Screen Guild's "The Mozart Story" (Hans Holt-Winnie Markus). A made-in-Europe offering, featuring superb music by the Vienna Philharmonic Orchestra . . . SO-SO: Columbia's "Manhattan Angel" (Gloria Jean-Ross Ford-Patricia White). Class "B" fare—and strictly class-conscious . . . BEST PERFORMANCE: Gregory Peck in "Yellow Sky."

Ever since the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences announced that this year's annual presentation of awards would be closed to the public, I've been receiving letters of protest from irate movie fans. They contend that since they're the ones who really make the stars they should at least be allowed to sit on the sidelines and watch Hollywood's biggest show-of-the-year. It seems to me they have a legitimate beef. And in my opinion, considering Hollywood's concern about "bad public relations," it would be far smarter of the movie industry to concentrate on courting fans, instead of slamming a door in their faces.

In today's mail is a letter from Phi Mu fraternity, a national Greek letter society with chapters on many college campuses. The letter reports the results of a poll which posed the question: "What is wrong with American movies?" It's interesting to note that the one objection most often advanced by a representative group of college girls was the same criticism which Hollywood likes to dismiss as a vagary of "doddering long-hairs." The gals think American movies are "too sexy."

The other day Xavier Cugat took it upon himself to reprimand the press. He charged that American newspapers are only interested in presenting derogatory news about Hollywood celebrities. "An actor," said he in effect, can get publicity only if he smokes marijuana or gets a scandalous divorce. "No one writes about a nice man." Well, I'm wondering where Cugat has been all these years to be so misinformed about the facts of stellar publicity. I defy him to cite me another three actors so widely and persistently publicized by the press over a period of years as Bing Crosby, Clark Gable and Bob Hope have been. And not one of the three has ever been involved in a scandal.

If it is true, as reported, that Veronica Lake is trying to dodge process servers who seek to summon her into court to answer her mother's suit for support, I think she is making a mistake. I don't pretend to know anything about the justice, or injustice, of her mother's suit, but Veronica, if falsely accused, certainly can't hope to clear herself by running away, now that the charges have been made and headlined throughout the country. Her best defense with Joan and Jane Public, who are fair-minded folks when all's said and done, will be the same defense that she must, sooner or later, offer in court.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

THE LAW OF NATIONS

After the downfall of Napoleon, Europe faced all the confusions which we face today. Napoleon had tried to reorganize the world to his liking. He sought a federation of states under himself; sometimes that Stalin is trying to do today. Opposed to Napoleon were those countries which he had failed to master and those which managed to liberate themselves. He was master of the world, creating states, appointing kings, changing forms of government.

Then he failed. The real cause for his failure will long be debated, but when it happened and he was a prisoner on St. Helena, Europe engaged in conferences at Paris and Vienna and undoubtedly in other places to find a conclusion to be a prolonged, universal war. It was extraordinarily difficult and the nations were in conflict, even to their own detriment. The shock of Napoleonism did not readily abate. Napoleon was present in spirit at every conference as Hitler is present today.

The most curious character at these conferences was Talleyrand, renegade and married bishop of the Roman Catholic Church, Napoleon's foreign minister as he was now the minister of Louis XVIII. He had survived the Revolution, Napoleon, and was now making a peace. He had his instructions from Louis, which he probably wrote to himself. I quote the essence of them from Ferrero's "The Reconstruction of Europe." I quote them because they apply today as poignantly as they did when Talleyrand made them his guide:

"The European nations do not live under moral or natural law alone but also under a law which they have invented and which gives the first law a sanction which it would otherwise lack; a law established by written conventions or by customs which are constantly, universally, and mutually observed, based always on mutual consent, whether expressed or tacit, and obligatory for all. This law is the law of nations.

"This law has two fundamental principles. One is that sovereignty cannot be acquired by the simple act of conquest, nor be transferred to the conqueror, if the sovereign does not cede it willingly. The other is that no title of sovereignty, and consequently the law which proceeds therefrom, has any reality for other states, unless they recognize it."

Our own troubled times arise, of course, out of war and all that preceded the war, but more immediately they come from errors of judgment and misunderstanding of history at the preliminary conferences of Teheran, Yalta and Potsdam, the order JCS 1067 which implemented the Morgenthau plan and the failure to make the United Nations a true parliament of man.

The essential error was that the law of nations was abandoned. For it was substituted a series of deals, trades, transactions based upon the assumption that sovereignty is a matter of no importance, that lands and peoples can be moved about without their consent and against their interest. So we find Poland made a fief of Soviet Russia; Manchuria made into a Soviet sphere of influence; Korea divided in half between Soviet Russia and the United States.

A line was drawn vertically across Europe which closed off a large part of the world to the rest of the world. Our country became so large geographically and in manpower that it made a just peace impossible.

None of this was done with the consent of the countries or peoples involved. They were not present. For instance, China was not asked to come to Teheran, although Chiang Kai-Shek was immediately after called to Cairo, where a declaration was made by Roosevelt, Churchill and Chiang which was violated at Yalta. De Gaulle was not at Yalta.

It is interesting that no matter what has since been tried ends in failure. The reason, of course, is that no principles guide the world today. No contract can be written without basic and agreed principles; no treaty of peace can be written without basic and agreed principles. Without them, the representatives of nations are like blind men walking in a forest. Of course, they stumble at each step; they hit into obstacles; they soon strike at each other. That is where we are, but we need not be. Once the principles of the law of nations are restored, the road will be a less onerous one.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

WEEKLY BIBLE COMMENT

By William E. Gilroy, D. D.

The Apostle Peter, while he commended "beloved brother Paul's" Epistles (11 Peter 3:15, 16), said also that Paul had written "some things hard to be understood."

The New Testament contains epistles by Paul, Peter, James, John and Jude. Of these a greater number are by Paul. As far as their length, variety, subject matter, and historic place and impact upon the Christian church, they are much the most formidable, even though the Epistles are all alike and bear much similarity in their expression of a common Christian spirit and teaching.

If we were to judge Paul's Epistles by those more obscure and difficult passages to which Peter referred or by the many references to local problems and controversies in the churches, we should hardly think of his letters as being the world's greatest.

But think of the many passages in which Paul showed himself far in advance of his age and well abreast of modern thought and movements in his conception of liberty. Think of his conception of church and society in which men are members one of another. Think of the clarity of his zeal for righteousness and the soundness of his ideas concerning life and labor. And then you have reason to appreciate the greatness of Paul and his letters.

But even beyond these things is the loftiness of the thought and the unexcelled beauty of expression in many passages that lift the letters to a great height.

If Paul had written nothing but the 13th chapter of 1 Corinthians, the "love" chapter, that gem of spiritual and literary perfection would have marked his greatness. But that is only the finest of many richly beautiful chapters or portions of chapters.

And his prayers for his fellow-Christians in the closing verses of Ephesians 3 has an eloquence of words that matches the magnitude of its vision of the boundless possibilities of Christian attainment.

These are but a few examples of the world's greatest letters. With the vigor and variety of the Pauline conceptions was combined a rich vocabulary and a high skill in the use of words. His lists in various places are striking: The list of things to think about, in Philippians 4:8; the list of the fruits of the Spirit, in Galatians 5:22-23. Most striking of all is the list of all possible experiences, followed by the list of all possible forces and powers, in Romans 8.

Men of action are not always articulate or forceful in expression, but Paul was as great in words, at least in the written word, as he was in deeds.

What Others Say

Editors' Roundtable

LAW BY EVOLUTION

In the Tokyo and Nuernberg war crimes trials, editors are primarily interested in the new legal concept that aggressive war is a crime against humanity rather than in the issue of war atrocities already outlawed by international treaties. Editors, in substantial majority, see the concept as man's recognition of an already existent crime despite the ex post facto argument that the crime was not defined in written law or treaty. However, a minority of considerable number considers the concept ex post facto law, repugnant to our ideals of justice.

Chicago Tribune (Ind.): "In Tokyo, as in Nuernberg, judgment is carried out by a court without warrant of authority save such as it has sought to confer upon itself. . . . It is the same procedure which obtained at Nuernberg when the German leaders were condemned under a new international criminal law resting on no existing international agreement, treaty or convention."

Long Beach (Calif.) Press-Telegram (Ind.-Rep.): "The tribunals at Nuernberg and Tokyo had to overrule one persistent quibble . . . that criminal conspiracy for aggressive war had never been spelled out in any law book. Recognition of such conspiracies as deeply unlawful acts rests on the concept of the high value of human life. . . . This concept, exemplified in many international agreements as well as in common law, was enough to satisfy all except a few literalists."

Des Moines (Iowa) Register (Ind.-Rep.): "The key lies of course in the definition of the 'crime' and of 'justice.' . . . We ourselves have been guilty of aggressions, in the lifetime of many now living. We have been guilty of the most barbaric cruelties toward other races—conspicuously during our Indian wars. . . . To be sure, we must protect our society. . . . But that authority is strongest which is assumed humbly and that power is most permanent which is exercised in moderation."

Fort Worth (Texas) Star-Telegram (Ind.-Dem.): "Executions of Japanese and German leaders in aggression can hardly be dismissed as revenge upon the defeated or even as punishment of a few individuals for guilt. The significance of the proceedings is that they are milestones in the evolutionary course to order and justice in world affairs. If this civilized path is not followed, another war may well reduce the world to ruins, chaos and prostration."

Denver (Colo.) Post (Ind.): "The real basis for the war crimes judgments must be found in whether or not they will prevent future aggressions. And we know, from the Russian aggressions . . . that this is an already vanished hope. . . . To prevent the crime of war . . . the world will have to take from nations the sovereign right to make war. . . . Meanwhile we must see the Tokyo verdicts. . . . as a simple act of vengeance."

St. Paul (Minn.) Dispatch (Ind.): "At the moment it is difficult to see that a world conscience against aggression, a world moral condemnation of violence really exists. . . . But perhaps these trials do mark a new start in international morality and at some time in the future will be looked back upon as the first step toward a higher civilization. . . ."

Phoenix (Ariz.) Gazette (Ind.-Dem.): "The precedents . . . can serve international peace only in a world where nations are . . . willing to submit their disputes to impartial decision by international bodies. . . . In a world of dangerous national rivalries the prospect of being hanged if defeated will not deter leaders of gangster states. Such men don't start wars unless they are confident of winning."

Portland (Ore.) Oregonian (Ind.-Rep.): "The practical effect of 'the greatest trial in history' may be to discourage leaders of small nations from attacking their neighbors. . . . No major power, such as Russia, can be expected to launch another great war unless its leaders have full expectation of winning it. Hence, the Nuernberg and Tokyo verdicts are not likely to prevent such a war, though they may induce war makers to make more careful propaganda and military plans."

San Francisco (Calif.) Chronicle (Ind.-Rep.): "The trials cannot stand as completed accomplishments in themselves. They are links in the chain we are trying to forge to secure peace in the world. Without the remaining links—a resolution of our cold war with Russia, the restoration of the standard of living in depressed countries, the evolution of a strong United Nations—the chain dangles pointlessly in space and peace remains in jeopardy."

Our Children

WHY EDUCATE?

By Angelo Patri

We, the people of this country, believe firmly, devoutly in education. Families make great sacrifices to send sons and daughters to school and college, all in the hope that education will fit the young people for the life that is before them.

Too often, however, their expectations are met with great disappointment. The education they paid so dearly for and hoped so much from did nothing veryhelpful toward fitting the students for the life of the time. They left college, high school or elementary school with empty minds and untrained hands, wondering where to go and what to do next.

This is to the utter shame and disgrace of the schools, from kindergarten onward. The hard, bitter truth is that the schools are failing in their mission, betraying the trust placed in them by dwell in a long-outmolded pattern of preparation for life. A century ago the bookish school, whose sole duty was to cram facts into memories, may have served its day but certainly it does not serve this day.

Why are we educating our children? Isn't it to train them how to live in a liberty-loving land? How to get along with people in friendly, cooperative fashion? How to carry their end and a bit more in the job at hand? How to face a problem and find a solution to meet the need? How to think things through and do something useful about them?

That's what I believe a school ought to do, but how many are doing it? Look at the day's program in most of our schools and see how much room there is for a child, an adolescent, a college student, to think around and through a problem and help himself to solve it? There is scant room for this sort of thing in the curricula-dominated schools, in the teacher-dominated classrooms, in the college-entrance examinations.

Once I heard a teacher shout, 'Think? Who asked you to think? I'm doing the thinking here. You do

In Washington

By Bascom N. Timmons

Public power advocates are interpreting the election returns as a mandate to expand their operations.

They say the old political adage that "beer gets more votes than kilowatts" has been reversed, particularly west of the Mississippi river.

Congress will be put under considerable pressure to appropriate for expanded reclamation and irrigation projects, with added power. It was the record of the eightieth congress on the matter of appropriations for such projects that turned the west to the Democrats, say the public power boys.

Senator James E. Murray, Democrat, Montana, has announced back home that he plans to reintroduce his Missouri Valley Authority bill, with certain amendments to give local people more voice in development of western resources.

Senator Glen Taylor, Democrat, Idaho, has announced he plans to introduce a Columbia Valley Authority bill. His deflection to Henry Wallace will undoubtedly hamper his chances to get action on that or any other piece of legislation, but other proponents from the CVA area will try to exert pressure to step up the power expansion program in the Pacific northwest.

The southwestern power administration, which was strangled by the eightieth congress, is seeking $11,000,000 in the budget to resume construction of transmission lines and substations to market power from the Dension dam and Norfork projects in Texas, Oklahoma and Arkansas.

The Tennessee Valley Authority will certainly ask and obtain from congress funds and authority to start building the controversial New Johnsonville steam plant, which the eightieth congress denied.

An effort will be made to bring the Cumberland river in Kentucky and Tennessee under the TVA, for navigation, flood control and power development.

California congressmen will probably ask for funds for lines to carry power to market from the giant projects in that state. Other smaller projects elsewhere in the country will be touted for a cut of appropriations.

The REA boys are already heading for Washington to put in their bid for an expanded REA program.

There is some quiet suggestion of a congressional investigation of the private power lobby in Washington to keep the opposition occupied while the drive is being made for expansion of public power facilities.

Some of the Democrats coming to President Truman's inauguration on January 20, 1949, will think they are back in Philadelphia for the Democratic national convention last July.

They will find their hotel rates doubled. They will have to fulfill a three or four-day reservation, financially at least, even if they do not remain that long. Moreover, they must plunk down an advance in order to get a reservation in the first place.

Not all visitors will have to pay double rates. Many will be charged only 10 to 33 per cent above normal. It's up to each hotel apparently how much they jack up their rates.

A few larger, better-known hotels like the Mayflower, the Statler and the Carlton are maintaining their regular rates. The first two, however, require a minimum stay of three to four days.

Before pursuing this subject further, the reader should know that nearby every one of the some 33 larger hotels in Washington are already booked for the entire inauguration period. Unless one is an old and favored guest of some particular hotel, writing for reservations at this comparatively late date would be futile. And even old customers are likely to get left out when the demand exceeds the supply.

Three hotels along the parade route—the Raleigh, the Williard and the Washington are among those which have doubled their rates for the occasion.

Others that have doubled their rates, though, cannot attribute the increase to the fact that they are situated on the parade route. Among these are the Lafayette, the Burlington and the Carroll Arms.

Those planning overnight stays in the nation's capital at inauguration time—and that includes from January 18 to January 22, 1949—should make arrangements for their housing beforehand. If their regular hotels cannot accommodate them, and this is probably the case at this late date, then they should write to:

Inauguration Housing Bureau
Pennsylvania Ave. and 14th St., N. W.
Washington, D. C.

This bureau, which will be set up and functioning by the time any reader of this column could write in, will attempt to find rooms in smaller hotels, apartment houses, private residences, etc.

During the inauguration period, also, it is likely that tourists camps near Washington will be filled. At such times, in the past, many visitors have made reservations in places near Washington—such as Baltimore, Md., and Fredericksburg or Richmond, Va.—and driven there after the inaugural ceremonies are over.

In any event, if you are coming to Washington during inauguration week, don't be surprised to find the place a trifle crowded.

A fair number of Washingtonians we know already have laid plans for staying indoors and watching the whole business over television. Maybe they've got something there.

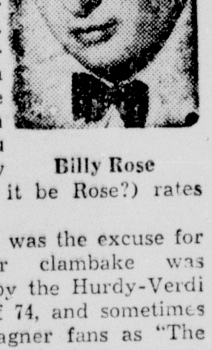
Pitching Horseshoes

By Billy Rose

Mr. Abel Green, Editor
Variety
New York, N. Y.

Dear Abel,

When you asked me to cover the opening performance of the Met for your paper, I accepted with what the boys around Lindy's call "alacrity." And for two good reasons: (a) it didn't figure that anybody else would invite me after the pot-shots I had been taking at the Old Lady of 39th Street in my column, and (b) Eleanor recently bought herself a new evening dress, and I knew baby doll wanted to show it off.



Billy Rose

Last Monday night, dressed to the nines, the Roses arrived as the house lights were dimming, and were shown to their seats by an usher who looked like a double for W. C. Fields. These seats, incidentally, were in the last row of the orchestra—which ought to give you an idea of how Variety (or could it be Rose?) rates around the Met.

The opera which was the excuse for this billion-dollar clambake was "Otello," written by the Hurdy-Verdi Man at the age of 74, and sometimes referred to by Wagner fans as "The Moor the Merrier." The baton was in the capable mitts of Fritz Busch, the orchestra was out of Local 802's top drawer, and the principal roles were larynxed by Ramon Vinay, Licia Albanese, Leonard Warren and John Garris.

Of course, as you know, my knowledge of Italian stops with "veal parmigiana," and so, as far as I was concerned, the opera was merely a sound to be heard. However, in fairness to all concerned, I thought most of the sounds were lovely and that the vocalists rated their bravos.

So much for sound. As for the sight part of it, the opera is laid in Cypress at the end of the 15th Century, and judging from the unsightly piles of lumber masquerading as scenery, the sets must have been built around that time. The production motif is supposed to be Venetian, but as our old friend, Lou Holtz, might put it, it shouldn't happen to a doge. And as for the direction, clothes and lighting—well, they're up to the usual Met standards, and no harsher words are in my lexicon.

The last time I caught "Othello"—the Theatre Guild production starring Paul Robeson—Mr. Shakespeare had a little something to do with the evening, and Will's play came through as the hard-hitting drama he intended it to be. The standard opera version is something else again—Shakespeare's plot is used, but only as a convenient rack for Giuseppe's music and Arrigo Boito's Italian versifying. And so, served up in language few of us understand, it ceases to be a great show and becomes a concert—three hours of vocalizing by people wearing funny suits.

As for the real show—the opening night audience—it behaved pretty well this year. Though Sherry's bar on the first floor was so crowded they had to leave the lemon peel out of the champagne cocktails, for a change there were no hand-stands and no leg shows. Of course, as per usual, Mrs. George Washington Kavanaugh wore an ice pack around her neck, and her diamond tiara never looked lovelier. Mrs. Betty Henderson, however, seemed strangely subdued, and contented herself with posing at the bar with her physical trainer, an ex-pug named Packy O'Gatty.

Last season the Met went into the red for $220,000, though it played to 97 per cent of capacity. This year the deficit figures to be even greater, and if any workmanlike plan has been evolved to make the Met solvent, it's strictly top secret stuff. Which means, I'm afraid, that next summer we'll be reading the same stale announcement—"Met Threatens To Shut Up Shop Unless Unions Accept Status Quo."

And so, to paraphrase an old Willie Collier line, I can only report that the opening was a succes but the board of directors was a failure.

Cordially,
Billy Rose.

FOUNDING AND HISTORY OF ANTIOCH CHURCH IS TOLD

Descendant Of Two Men Who Helped Build It Reveals Story

H. O. Dickerson, of Eros, route 1, has prepared interesting information concerning Antioch Church, one of the oldest churches west of the Ouachita river. This picturesque and beloved church, 20 miles from Monroe and located near the Jonesboro highway, was founded 108 years ago, so far as history can substantiate.

Names of the founders were three members of Mr. Dickerson's family, Lee Henry Dickerson, his paternal grandfather; Turner Wood, his maternal grandfather; and A. J. Wood, his great uncle. Others who aided in its foundation were George Farr, Monk Greenhaw, John Landrum, Huey Sims and Bill McDonald.

Writing the information he has compiled, Mr. Dickerson says:

"The first service held at Antioch Church was under a brush arbor and its use continued about three years.

"There being no such thing as drilled wells for water, all residences and churches were built near springs. As the little congregation began to grow, they had to make further improvements. It was decided that they would build a little log house. My grandfather told me that he took his 'freed' man Walter and they cut and laid the first pillar for the church. At this date in history there were no cross-cut saws. I believe the only tools they had were an ax for felling the trees and hewing the timbers, and a foot-adze for smoothing the split surfaces.

"The logs were hauled out of the woods to the hill site with a team of oxen by my grandfather Dickerson and Walter. The six men after a time completed their church. It was 14'x16'. The walls were split logs, the roof rived boards put on with square headed nails, the only kind in use at that time. 'Was that large enough?' I asked my grandfather, 'Yes,' he replied. There were only 28 families west of the Ouachita river then.'

"The inside was very plain. The floor was a hard clay packed dirt one at first; later they split boards and laid them. The benches were split logs with holes bored at an angle with a straight auger, and pegs driven in for legs. The pulpit was a small box-like affair with a chair of rived board with the same pegs as legs for the preacher to sit on.

"The preacher lived about 30 miles away. He came by way of horseback and could be identified way in the distance by his saddle pockets. These held his Bible and other religious material. He always came on Friday afternoon and went back on Monday morning. The congregation was happy to entertain him during his stay. He only came once a month. In the summer after crops were 'laid by' a protracted meeting was held for several days. I only wish I could remember the minister's name as my grandfather told me.

"In the early days horseback was the only mode of travel. Around the church yard were hitching posts and, since ladies rode horseback on side saddles, they had to be accomodated with a dismounting block. This I remember to be a section of very large log hewed into two steps, the top being the broader for her to get off on, the smaller to step to the ground on. It also provided a means of her stepping out of her riding skirt conveniently and modestly.

"This sacred, sentinental building stood for many years until the community outgrew it.

"The members decided to build a larger and better building. So the little log building was sold to the highest bidder and was bought by one of the founders, Huey Sims, for seven dollars. With that money and more they bought rough lumber. Thus the second building and third worshiping place was completed, and used. This building was also used for a school house.

"In about 1942, the membership again decided to improve and enlarge their church. Under the leadership of Brother Falcom Hearn, the pastor, Antioch was again rebuilt to keep abreast of the times.

"Brother Hearn, an artist with builder's tools, and his congregation provided the financial and physical power using the same frame work of the original building and constructed a beautiful church. In addition to being pretty it is comfortable, being equipped with electricity for lights and attic fans and butane gas for heat.

"The six founders, founded Antioch a Baptist Church, since it has intermittently been Methodist, Baptist and Union churches. It is now a Methodist church.

"In front of the church is a beautiful cemetery almost as old as the church. The first man to be buried was a man by the name of Harom Brownlee. My grandfather tells me there were only six men to bury him (these same founders of Antioch), and that they just gathered around the grave and prayed and then buried him.

"The above information was given me verbally by my grandfather, Lee H. Dickerson, who lived to be 102 years old. Any additions or corrections will be greatly appreciated."

REAR ADMIRAL TO SPEAK HERE

Ellis M. Zacharias Is Town Hall Lecturer On Monday Night

Rear Admiral Ellis M. Zacharias, in his 38 years of naval service, was regarded as the navy's number one expert in naval intelligence. In March, 1941, he predicted the impending Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor, complete in every detail except the actual date. Recently, Zacharias made headlines again when he went on record as saying that the United States now possesses an atom bomb fifty times more powerful than those dropped on Japan to end the war.

"Other weapons exist which could wipe the last vestige of human, animal and vegetable life from the face of the earth," reports Rear Admiral Zacharias. "They are being manufactured right now," he said. "They are not an American monopoly. Several nations are known to have them."

The weapons, as the retired naval intelligence officer explained, are of a biological, bacteriological and climateological nature and are shrouded in the deepest military secrecy.

"These modern weapons," he continued, "bearing only slight similarity to conventional armaments of the past, permit the waging of intercontinental war from long distances. They are designed to destroy live in enormous areas."

The well-known speaker and author of the best-seller, "Secret Missions," who will be heard at Ouachita Parish auditorium on Monday, Dec. 6, went on to say that Russia is investigating the military applications of cosmic rays and is proceeding with rocket development; that Britain is making progress in guided missiles, and the United States has a secret biological weapon which he termed a germ proposition which could be sprayed from aircraft or rockets.

"Furthermore," he added, "the new weapons are of such a nature that their lethal quality continues long after actual use. Areas would have to be quarantined as long as a thousand years."

Our Children

as you are told." That teaching spirit is not yet dead in our schools, but it must be driven out if this nation is to survive free and independent. "A nation goes forward on the feet of little children."

First we must set our goals: Children, youth, freed of their ignorance through self-activity, self-help, self-direction and self-discipline. Next, teachers trained to develop that ideal. Then, the people informed of education's needs, requirements, goals and its present sad lack of them. The schools belong to the people, and it is the people who must reform them, and speedily.

SEEKS TOYS AS AID FOR SANTA

Workshop Serves As Headquarters For Repair Of Playthings

Do you have any broken or discarded toys in the attic or basement? If so, turn them over to Santa Claus' Workshop and you will help make some needy youngster's 1948 Christmas brighter and happier.

The Santa Claus Workshop has been set up by the local Sherwin Williams Company branch at 113 Catalpa street which is serving as headquarters for refinishing toys so that they will be like new when Santa Claus is ready to make his Christmas deliveries.

Mr. Campbell, Sherwin Williams branch manager, who has arranged the program says that its aim is to provide enough toys so that every needy child in the Twin Cities will be assured a gift from Santa.

Cooperating in the program are Rodney J. Hobbs Post of Veterans of Foreign Wars No. 1809 and Chamber of Commerce of Monroe and West Monroe, American Red Cross, Salvation Army, and Hudson Leehy Post of Veterans of Foreign Wars No. 3993 West Monroe, La. Churches, lodges fraternal groups, women's clubs and other organizations are invited to participate in the program by collecting broken or discarded toys from among their membership and giving them to the Workshop for repairing.

Individuals may deliver their toys donations to the Sherwin Williams branch or should call the store and arrangements will be made for picking up the articles.

Mr. Campbell has enlisted a crew of volunteer workers to handle the job of repairing and painting the toys. The articles will be disyplayed in the window of the Sherwin Williams branch until the day before Christmas and will then be distributed to needy families whose names will be compiled by the Santa Claus Workshop committee.

Members extended congratulations and good wishes to President Petty on her election to the high office of department junior vice-president.

A letter was read from a veteran at the Veterans' Hospital at Alexandria, thanking the auxiliary for the gift of a radio. He told of the many hours that he was unable to leave his room due to his condition and the bad weather, and the pleasure he received from the radio and sharing it with others in his ward.

'HILL BETWEEN' WILL BE GIVEN

Three Act Comedy Slated By N. J. C. Speech Students

Curtain time is drawing near for the performance, "The Hill Between," a three-act comedy-drama to be presented Monday, December 6, at 8 p.m., in Brown hall auditorium of Northeast Junior College. The cast is beginning to show stage tension, which in theater jargon frequently means a "bang-up production."

The play, under the direction of James W. Parkerson, instructor in speech at N. J. C., is sponsored by Delta Psi Omega, national honorary dramatic society.

Members of the cast who are to be seen in important roles are speech students or are interested in work in that department. Several have had experience in college or high school plays.

Bob Curtin, playing the lead as Brent Sanders, lives in Monroe and is a freshman at N. J. C., where he is pursuing a course in business administration. Before going into the navy he graduated from Wisner High School where he took part in the senior play. One of his main interests is radio work and he hopes some day to be an announcer.

The part of Brent's wife, Anna, is carried by Pat Ann Rector, a graduate of Ouachita Parish High School, where she sang in the choir for three years. High School activities also included work in the Speech Club. Pat Ann took part in several productions on both the stage and radio. Now a freshman at the college here, she is majoring in music.

Alice Rolleigh will be seen as Julie. Though a freshman at N. J. C., she is no newcomer to the theater. She participated in many plays at St. Matthew's High School from which she graduated with honors in speech. Many Monroyans will remember Alice in the role of Jane in the performance of "Growing Pains," given at St. Matthew's. She is a member of the N. J. C. Wig and Mask Club and the Radio Workshop Players.

Playing an outstanding role as Ellen in "The Hill Between" is Cloteal Jones, graduate of O. P. H. S. During her high school days Cloteal was active in speech, and she also played first saxophone in the band. Study as a freshman music major at the college and work in the Wig and Mask Club keep Cloteal busy.

Besides the acting that is scheduled to make "The Hill Between" a good performance, other important jobs are being handled by students. Lucille Smith is makeup chief, Carolyn Bagwell is property manager, Beverly Martin is prompter, and Reginald Spencer is stage manager. He is being assisted by James Gilmer, president of Delta Psi Omega.

A special feature of the play is the square dance to be given in the second act. Music for this specialty is being played by Jim Smith and Thomas Beardon.

FINE $80,000 AUDITORIUM USED 1ST TIME HERE SUNDAY

Central Baptists Throw Open New Structure; Growth Rapid

"Opening day" services are being held today in the beautiful modern church auditorium of the Central Baptist Church, located in "The Heart of Monroe's Southside" at 3400 Lee Avenue. H. H. Land was the architect and Frank Masling and Son were the contractors. The building itself cost approximately $70,000 and the furniture equipment an additional $10,000. The church has managed to raise half of this amount in recent years and plans are made to retire the present indebtedness in the near future.

Central Baptist Church has over 500 members with an average attendance in Sunday School of about 300. During the past year the monthly income has averaged $2,300. Through the sacrifice on the part of many members and the gifts of friends, this was made possible.

The new structure is made of brick with plaster walls, acoustical tile ceiling, and asphalt tile flooring. The platform is covered with rugs and also the aisles. The building is equipped for sound-amplification with microphone outlets on the platform and speakers conveniently located in the building and in the bell tower.

The bell tower extends forty feet up from the ground. The bell that is used is very large and heavy. It was formerly used by the city years ago to call the volunteer firemen together for fires.

The auditorium is furnished with oak pews and will seat about 500 people with 32 seats in the choir. Additional rooms compose a large vestibule, a cloak room, a mother's room, a church office, a pastor's study, two restrooms, two choir rooms, five classrooms, a library room, a movie projection room and six storage closets.

The baptistry is so constructed as to give a waterfall effect. There are two plate glasses in the front and the water runs over the inside glass and then flows down the drain between the two glasses.

Future plans call for an educational unit twice the size of the new auditorium, extending across the back of the property and then coming towards the front in a U-shape.

Central Baptist Church was organized in the old Grand Street Theater building on the nineteenth day of October, 1930. Rev. Roger M. Baxter was the organizer and first pastor and Rev. D. D. Cantrell succeeded him. Rev. C. Roger Johnson, the present pastor, has been with Central Church for the past four and one-half years.

The old buildings of the church still remain; the auditorium, however, was moved to make space for the new auditorium. The old building will be used for social and educational purposes and is being equipped with a kitchen and service for 200 people.

The public is cordially invited to attend the preaching services today at 11:00 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. "Open house" will be held from 2:00 to 5:00 p.m. and visitors and members of other churches are welcome to come at that time if they wish. Light refreshments will be served at open house to all who attend. Take a Southside bus directly to the doors of the church.

MOVIE MAGNATE MARRIES WIDOW

Newsmen Carry On Wild Chase With Louis Mayer Over Western States

YUMA, Ariz., Dec. 4.—(AP)—Louis B. Mayer and a pretty widow, Mrs. Lorena L. Danker, were married today in an atmosphere, produced by pursuing newsmen, something like one of the film magnate's cops-and-robbers thrillers.

For reasons best known to themselves and a bevy of protecting studio publicists, the bridal couple refused to pause for pictures or talk to reporters throughout a sero-comic chase that began at dawn.

By mid-day the 63-year-old chieftain of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Studios and his 41-year-old bride, widow of Radio Producer Daniel J. Danker, were back in California, speeding for Palm Springs by automobile.

Meantime, one photographer, hot in pursuit, burned out a bearing on his car. The car of another lensman caught fire. A sheriff's car and a rented Yuma taxicab were used successfully by the fleeing couple.

Mayer, one of the nation's highest salaried businessmen, and his bride and their party arrived by train from Los Angeles at 4:05 a. m. A fashionable motor hotel became their headquarters. They breakfasted at a nearby drive in restaurant.

Clerk Daniel Willard of superior court brought marriage license applications to the cafe for the couple to sign. Justice of the Peace R. H. Lutes performed the ceremony in the office of Sheriff J. A. Beard, overlooking the jail yard, after a merry chase from hotel to courthouse to the sheriff's home and back to the jail house.

After the ceremony the bridal couple took off for Winterhaven, Calif., gave the pursuing press the clip again then headed for Palm Springs for their honeymoon. They are expected back in Hollywood early next week, then plan to go to New York. Mayer has a 25-room mansion in Beverly Hills, Calif., waiting for his bride.

The new Mrs. Mayer was first married to Danker, a radio producer and advertising agency executive who died suddenly in 1944. Her 11-year-old daughter, Suzanne, was in the wedding party here.

Mayer and his first wife, Margaret, married in Boston in 1904, were divorced in April, 1947, the decree becoming final last May. The court approved a $3,500,000 cash property settlement for the first Mrs. Mayer. Their children are Mrs. Irene Selznick, former wife of Film Producer David O. Selznick, and Mrs. William Goetz, wife of a Universal-International Studios executive.

Mayer, who is Loew's Inc., production chief as well as head of M-G-M, headed the list of individual income earners in the nation for seven years to 1947 in security exchange commission records, his top being $1,138,922 in 1943. In the last two years he has been breaking up his $7,000,000 horse racing empire by dispersal sales.

Ark., and third prize the Winnfield high school band.

Medals for the three best band leaders were given to Mary Burt, of Magnolia; Sammy Kincaid, of El Dorado, and Don Lanford, of Gibsland, La.

Fay McMann, with the Magnolia band, won first prize as twirler; Elizabeth, and Anita Young, both also members of the Magnolia band, won second and third prizes as twirlers.

The eight bands present at the affair were from Ruston, Winnfield, Arcadia, Gibsland, El Dorado and Magnolia, Bastrop, Catahoula parish high schools.

The new armory, assigned to Co. 199, of the third infantry battalion, contains 86 lockers with space for 14 more, three offices, shower room, orderly room and a supply room measuring 30 feet in width and 150 feet in length.

A heavy weapons company, the national guardsmen here are equipped with a 75 millimeter rifle, the only one released to a unit in the state, fifty caliber machine guns, a bazooka, a two and a half ton truck, two jeeps, and a weapons carrier.

According to its commanding officer, Capt. C. L. Harris, the company at full strength would number approximately 150 men. At present there are 90 enlisted men and three officers. Eighty per cent of the enlisted personnel, Captain Harris said, are Tech students.

Introduced by Hufft, Cramer said "that in establishing an armory here, it offers a base of operation for the national guard which will act in the event of another war. Our national guard units all over the nation are rapidly progressing toward an ultimate end of establishing an adequate home defense," Cramer said.

In his speech before some two thousand spectators, band merbers and national guardsmen at the armory, Cramer declared that "there are at the present time, approximately 5,105 national guards in Louisiana. This figure, as well as all over the national, is nearly five times the number enlisted prior to World War II."

A banquet, sponsored by the Rotary, Lions and Kiwanis Clubs and the Chamber of Commerce here, was given shortly after the dedication at 5 p. m.

A regimental review of the 199th Infantry division was held at 7:45 p. m. in the Louisiana Tech stadium, just prior to the third annual Lions Bowl football game between the third and fourth ranking Negro colleges of the nation.

The festivities were concluded by a street dance on Railroad Park in the heart of downtown Ruston. Music was supplied by the Tech Debonnaires.

versity grounds permitted them to pass, but a second cordon stopped them and the first closed in behind them.

In the clash, police said they fired in the air and threw tear gas bombs until a hand grenade was tossed from one of the university roofs, fatally wounding the police chief.

The students then broke through the cordon and rushed to the university, pursued by police. Shooting continued inside. Mounted police arrived to help subdue the students and disperse crowds which collected.

Police trucks hauled away the students, most of whom had bloody faces. Crowds stoned some of the trucks in which police only were visible. The students had been ordered to lie down and keep out of sight.

Several secondary schools in the area joined in the demonstration. Police said three police guards were killed by grenades at other schools of the university in Giza suburb.

Tonight, however, Saber Tantawi Bey, chief of public security declared all was quiet.

The university opened only this morning after being closed for two days as the result of a student strike. The striking students protested the refusal of British officials in the Sudan to admit a group of Egyptian lawyers into that country to defend some pro-Egyptions accused of causing election disorders.

Egypt and Britain, who now rule the Sudan jointly, have been unable to agree on the future status of the land. The Egyptians insist upon annexing the Sudan under the Egyptian crown.

The reports from Damascus said strikes and riots had ended in Syria but the army continued to rule under martial law. Hasem Attassi, venerable former president, has consented to form a new government after having at first refused.

of 14. Her daddy lost a leg in a car wreck and is old and feeble. She has no mother. These two live alone and the little girl goes to school probably poorly nourished and improperly clothed for wintry weather. Imagine how much good a little check would do in such a home!

This is one case. There are hundreds as you would realize could you look over the writer's shoulder at the flood of mail that comes with every delivery and all sound much alike, reflecting poverty at its worst.

Here is a request. It tells of two boys who are barefoot. The writer seems to be one who knows of the case. The letter states:

"Dear Good Fellows: Christmas is only a short time distant and the family of——is much in need. This woman has three boys ages 8, 10, 12 and a girl 14. The mother gets a small welfare check but it takes nearly all to pay rent, buy wood and clothes, and a small sum for food. Two of the boys have no shoes at all, and it is too cold for them to go to school barefooted. Please don't send them any toys for this is not what they need, it is food, clothes and shoes, not play things."

The list seemingly has no end. Please send in your check to Good Fellows. You will never regret anything you do for the worthy underprivileged that are in your midst.

2 MILLION

forced out of Berlin," said Gen. Lucius D. Clay, American military governor.

"The British are not going out by their own will or by any other means," said a British foreign office spokesman in London.

Backed by these assurances that the western allies are not going to desert them, west Berlin's anti-Communists wound up the stormy campaign with fighting words.

The three parties on the ballot, Social Democrats, Christian Democrats (Conservatives) and Liberal Democrats (Rightists) buried their differences in a three-party rally against communism at the Titania Palast Theater tonight. Communist rowdies who tried to break up a series of rallies this week did not put in an appearance.

"The Communists will never smash our will, even if they resort to the use of thoe cannons which ring our city," said Liberal Democrat Carl Schwennicke.

"The Soviets are pressing us with all means short of war," cried Ernst Reuter, Social Democrat favorite for mayor. "They want to press us to our knees but they will never achieve it."

The speakers raged at the Soviet blockade which has left the population dependent on the western airlift for every bite of food.

The election is being held under the Berlin constitution approved by the four occupying powers in 1946. Nevertheless the Communists refused to risk another out-right defeat and banned it as illegal in east Berlin.

There they have set up a rump Communist government chosen by a show of hands at a mass meeting called on 24 hours notice in the Soviet sector. The regularly elected city government has been driven into the western two-thirds of the city.

The Russians have recognized the rump government as the "only legal" one. Communists are urging their followers to ignore tomorrow's voting, and are using every trick to cut down the size of the vote.

They have ordered tomorrow to be a day of work in east Berlin, even though it is Sunday, hoping to prevent 100,000 west Berliners who work in the eastern sector from getting to the polls. They may curtail city-wide transportation.

The polls will be open from 8 a. m. (2 a. m., eastern standard time) to 8 p. m. (2 p. m., E. S. T.), to give more voting time for Germans who work in the Russian sector.

Under the city constitution the voting is secret. The voter receives two ballots, one city-wide, the other for his borough, marks them in a booth and places them in a sealed envelop which is dropped in the box. He may give his registration number instead of his name when voting.

Ten thousand officials will be on duty at hundreds of polling places. Police guards have been strengthened.

British, French and Americans have adopted a hands-off policy unless trouble breaks out which the Germans cannot control. Picked American troops will be held ready for emergency in their sector.

The British will confine their troops to barracks during the voting hours, but the usual force of military police will be on duty.

All Germans over 20 who have lived here six months are privileged to vote. There are about 1,700,000 of them in the three western sectors.

In the 1946 elections when the Communists received less than 20 per cent of the votes, 92 per cent of the eligible voters cast ballots. This time the Communists are expected to stay away.

The Social Democrats won about 48 per cent of the vote in 1946, The Christian Democrats 22 per cent and the Liberal Democrats 9 1/2 per cent.

Extra police sought vainly tonight to break up the milling horde that jammed traffic in nearby streets.

One of the survivors, who were brought ashore in small numbers throughout the day, said two junks passed nearby just before the explosion. He expressed belief they had cast loose a mine, but this was only speculation.

Survivors said many persons were trapped below decks by the explosion and sudden sinking. The radio was knocked out instantly, so no distress call was sent.

The Kiangya's Captain Sun was last seen directing lifeboat launching.

Company officials said that even if he survived he probably could not tell how many passengers he carried.

of gifts from the public which are to be presented by Santa to all children up to the age of 12.

To aid in making this project a success, and to give the community a Christmas tree that they will be proud of we are seeking the aid of all interested people to either assist the members in the decorating of this tree Tuesday evening, December 7, between 8 and 9 p. m., or furnishing the necessary decorations. According to the committee in charge of obtaining the tree, it will be a large one and will require plenty of decorations. We are also in need of someone who is handy with a needle and thread to make a Santa Claus suit. Our Santa Claus weighs about 250 pounds, and we have been unable to obtain a ready made suit to fit him. Anyone desiring to assist may do so by telephoning 316 or writing the Community Christmas Tree, North Monroe Lions Club, Monroe, La.

Thanking you, I am,

Three interesting films are scheduled for presentation tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock at the Trinity Lutheran Church, two blocks south of the Junior College. The titles of the films, as announced by the Rev. H. Kamman, pastor, are: "The World of Silence," "Carlsbad Caverns," and "While the City Sleeps."

The first of these, a color picture, presents the work of the Detroit Lutheran School for the Deaf. An interesting part of this movie will show how a deaf child is located, its parents interviewed, and the child's training at the school proceeds from one step to another, until the child, born deaf, is able to speak intelligibly and to make his own way in the world.

The other two films are added to provide entertainment as well as instruction.

Before the films are shown, beginning at 7:30, a sign-language sermon will be preached for the benefit of the deaf of this vicinity. Others are welcome to attend and watch the sermon being "signed."

"Jennie Lou Ervin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ervin of West Monroe, is the French doll in 'The Toy Shop,' the charming little fantasy play which she and other pupils of Kay Crandall Causey are putting on at Crosley School on Wednesday, December 15 at 7.30 p. m.

"She's also determined to be the one who wins the $5.00 prize which is being offered to the member of the cast, or the member of the Junior Red Cross who sells the most tickets. So no sooner did she get her tickets last Wednesday evening, than she lined up a speaking date through her father with the West Monroe Lions Club of Thursday evening, and first thing Thursday morning Mrs. Causey had a call that Jennie Lou's 20 tickets weren't enough. Sure enough they weren't—after she gave the talk which her father helped her prepare, she sold 35 tickets to the Lions!"

SECRET ARMY

States to serve as "the high officers of a secret army now being drilled to overthrow our government."

In a preface to the report, the committee said this is what the Communists plan to do to the American child if they can control the American educational system:

"They mean to take him from the nursery, put him in uniform with the hammer and sickle flag in one hand and a gun in the other, and send him out to conquer the world.

"If they have their way he will be guided from the kindergarten straight through to college so that he will have anything but a mind of his own.

"He will be trained but not educated. He will be taught to solve problems that are handed to him and to consider it a crime to think for himself. He will be the child-man of communism."

If Communists have their way in this country, the committee said, they would "smash the existing school system," dismiss, jail or shoot teachers who resist, and train pupils to "obey, to love and to hate."

The committee said "we need more law than is at present on the books" in order to halt the spread of communism. But it suggested no specific laws.

In some cases, it said, teachers slip propaganda into classroom work and textbooks and lead "gullible students into red-sponsored campus activities."

The committee listed these as "typical examples" of Communist schools in the United States:

Jefferson School of Social Science, New York City (with annexes at Brighton Beach, Brownsville, Tremont and Allerton, N. Y.); Philadelphia School of Social Science, Philadephia; People's Edcational Center, Hollywood, Calif.; California Labor School, San Francisco, and annexes in Los Angeles, Oakland and Palo Alto, Calif.; Walt Whitman School of Social Science, Newark, N. J.; George Washington Carver School, New York City; Seattle Pacific Northwest Labor School, Seattle, Wash.; Samnuel Adams School Boston; Abraham Lincoln School and three annexes in Chicago; School of Jewish Studies, New York City; Ohio School of Social Science and Art, Cleveland; Tom Paine School, Westchester, N. Y., and Tom Paine School of Social Science, Philadelphia.

Of that group, the committee said, only these now are open: Jefferson School of Social Science, California Labor School, Seattle Pacific Northwest Labor School, and School of Jewish Studies.

The committee said the Henry A. Wallace youth groups are "more tools of the Communist party."

"Communism gained new recruits through the Wallace campaign," the committee said, and "made new contacts and tapped fresh money. The largest vote ever cast for communism in this country was registered in 1948 behind Wallace's name."

British statesman Cecil John Rhodes went to Natal in 1870 the year diamonds were discovered on the Kimberly fields--and the next year struck it rich. Before he was 19 he was financially independent.

line some 400 miles northwest of Nanking and were marching about 70 miles north to reinforce the three Communist columns already there.

Two other Communist columns were reported moving south from east of Suchow to put a pincers on the government forces.

The former Suchow garrison, with some 110,000 effective combat troops among its 250,000 men, was reported attacking towards the south. The 16th army group was on the west flank, the second army group on the east, with the 13th army group holding the rear guard.

The 80,000 troops on the Hwai river line already had been given a breather by the Communist shift northward.

Government hopes for a smashing victory, however, rested mainly on whether the 12th army group could break out of an eight-day-old Communist encirclement 130 miles northwest of Nanking.

Foreign military quarters had suspected some sort of surrender deal might be cooking there, but latest reports said the Communists had begun to fire artillery into the circle and to attack the Perimeter by night.

(The Communist radio, estimating the trapped force at 140,000 men, said it was in a circle only six miles in diameter and again urged Gen. Huang Wei to surrender or be destroyed.

(The Communists claimed that one division had surrendered earlier and had been given good treatment by the Red Gen. Liu Po-Cheng.)

Government planes were continuing to supply the 12th with food and munitions by air drop in hopes it could crack the encirclement.

The flood of civilians fleeing Nanking meanwhile was slowed when the garrison closed the main gates to the railroad and the river docks for 24 hours.

Taking command of all transportation facilities, the military forbade persons without tickets even to approach trains or boats.

WARSHIP TERMED

walked to newsmen "covering" the event and told them:

"I want to make a statement.

"Some smart aleck who poses as a spokesman for the navy said the Missouri is going to be taken out of commission. The Missouri will not be taken out of commission.

"I want to make that as strong as I can make it, and I am speaking as the president of the United States."

To underscore his words, Mr. Truman told reporters they could put his remarks in quotation marks, something they are not always permitted to do.

The chief executive's statement was prompted by a story in a Washington paper yesterday that the "Mighty Mo" was headed for the mothball fleet because there no longer was a place for battleships in modern sea warfare.

Mr. Truman came here aboard the yacht, Williamsburg, after an overnight cruise from Washington. He and his party started back at 2:50 p. m. (EST). The yatch is due in the capital tomorrow morning.

In brief remarks at the close of the presentation, Mr. Truman called this a "great day for me."

He recalled that he was present when his daughter, Margaret, who stood nearby, "broke the bottle of champagne" at the launching of the Missouri.

He recalled, too, that as president he took part in the decision to have the Japanese formally surrender aboard the Missouri.

The Missouri, Mr. Truman said, "is not a symbol of might in war, but a symbol of might in peace."

A nose bleed forced Mrs. Truman to leave the surrender deck during the ceremony and retire to a cabin. She was the first of the president's party to leave the Missouri after the luncheon which followed the ceremony, returning the 100 yards to the Williamsburg in an automobile. Presidential Secretary Charles G. Ross told reporters just before the Williamsburg sailed for Washington that Mrs. Truman had recovered.

As the president was leaving a woman in a fur coat broke away from a group of civilians standing in a roped off area on the pier and ran toward the chief executive. Two secret service men grabbed her and escorted her back up the pier, despite her protest that she "only wanted to say hello to the president."

the board "stand on its rights." But Homer Brinkley of Lake Charles proposed that the matter be left to administrative officers of the university and the proposal was accepted.

The board approved acceptance of grants totaling more than $17,000 for academic and research programs.

It granted a 99-year lease to the Louisiana Baptist Convention for a site for a student center on the campus, adjoining the Catholic center. Dr. Emmett Rwin of New Orleans voted against the lease, saying that various religious centers had turned into organized churches. J. H. Smitherman, however, said the center, without turning into a church, would serve 1,500 Baptist students on the campus. He said $150,000 already has been pledged for it.

Henry George McMahon, professor of law, was granted a partial leave of absence. He has been offered the post of city-parish attorney under the N. E. A. combined government of Baton Rouge and East Baton Rouge parish. McMahon said after the meeting, however, that he would not decide whether to accept until he had discussed with Dr. Stoke whether his acceptance would constitute an undesirable precedent for the university.

Board Chairman Thomas Leigh, of Monroe, commenting that the public relations of the board were at low ebb, said that in future board's discussions would be conducted in open meetings. In contrast with recent practice, most of today's session was a public meeting, instead of a closed session of the board sitting as committee of the whole.

POST $5,000 AWARD FOR THREE MISSING

HOUSTON, Tex., Dec. 4—(AP)—Leland Smith of Allentown, Penn., posted a $5,000 reward for the location of a plane which disappeared last month with Warren W. York, Allentown broker, his wife and the pilot.

York is president of the Warren-York Co., Allentown brokerage firm of which Smith is vice-president.

The reward was announced here today by Max Jacobs, a public relations counsel at Houston, employed by Smith to press the search for the plane.

The plane carrying York, his wife and the pilot, Joel Ritter of Allentown, was last seen Nov. 18 when it took off from Waco for New Orleans.

The search has spread to Louisiana, and this week-end planes from the civil air patrol, reserves of military craft from Hensley Field near Dallas, and units of the Texas Air National Guard, are expected to make search flights, Jacobs said.

Jacobs said the $5,000 reward would be paid either if the missing people are found alive or for recovery of their identified bodies.

SENATOR PLEDGES

says some of his federal farm proposals collide with those of secretary of Agriculture Charles F. Brannan and other administration leaders.

"There are a lot of people who merely want to get the cheapest bread and meat possible," he added. "They have not thought these things through. If low prices and depression hit our farm areas then the whole nation will suffer again as it always has in the past."

Thomas' program:

1. A high rate of government price-supporting loans and purchases at or near 90 per cent of parity prices. (A parity price is one computed to give a farm product the same relative purchasing power it had in a past favorable period.)

2. Government construction and ownership of a nationwide chain of storage elevators for corn and wheat and warehouses for cotton and other crops. These would be used to store crops under the price-support program.

3. Revision of the parity-price formula to cover increases in wages paid to hired farm labor and to give credit for labor of the farmer and his family. This would boost the level of government price-supports under present conditions.

4. Defeat of any international wheat marketing agreement that might force down grain prices in this country or result in subsidizing exports to foreign buyers.

Thomas said farmers cannot fairly be asked to feed and clothe the nation under a price-support program that dips as low as "60 per cent of parity or fair prices" for major crops.

Government loans and supports are scheduled to drop this low in period of surplus under a farm bill passed by the last congress.

"I think organized labor now knows that unless the farmer is prosperous and can buy the ordinary things that labor also is hard hit," Thomas said.

"I expect an awful howl to go up from the grain trade and elevators and warehouse groups about public construction and ownership of these facilities," he said. "But actually it is the ever-normal granary rationalized."

Thomas said failure of the last congress to allow government farm loan agencies funds for corn cribs and storage space pushed prices downward "and was one of the elements that beat the Republicans."

Thomas said it probably would require investment of millions of dollars in government funds to provide adequate crop storage facilities.

"But these could be managed by local committees and rentals eventually would repay their entire cost and maintenance," he said.

EXPLOSIVES TRUCK

They had found a few fragments of bone and flesh.

"I'd say there were two in it, but I couldn't be sure," Crepsinger said. He described it as a short "bob-tailed" truck, and said he didn't notice whether it had any signs or markings on it.

Crepsinger was driving a butane transport truck. He was about 100 to 200 yards behind the explosives truck when it blew up. The trailer truck was just ahead, and Buchanan's pick-up was moving toward the explosives truck.

He said he couldn't tell whether the driver was having tire trouble. "He seemed to run off without a bobble," Crepsinger said.

The W. H. Bird home about 150 or 200 yards away was badly damaged. Mr. and Mrs. Bird and Barbara, their seven-year-old daughter, were in the house. Barbara was slightly cut by flying glas. The others were unhurt.

A big crowd gathered at the scene, gaping at the small pieces of the exploded truck--pieces ranging from the size of a hat to the size of a man's fist.

Officers were telephoning oil companies and oil field equipment companies in an effort to identify the explosives truck.

TWO SCHOOLS IN TIE FOR TROPHY

Mitchell And Ransom Tie For Prized P.-T. A. Membership Cup

W. R. Mitchell and Ransom Schools tied for the P.-T. A. membership cup that was presented at the Twin City P.-T. A. council meeting, Thursday, December 2. Each school had a 20 per cent increase in membership over last year. Mrs. Charles Guerriero presented the cup to Mrs. L. G. Cook, membership chairman of W. R. Mitchell School, for the first 6 months of the coming year; then Mrs. L. J. Shackelford, membership chairman from Ransom, will be presented the cup for the last 6 months.

T. F. Wilson, special agent of fingerprinting department of the F. B. I. was a guest speaker at the meeting. His subject was, "The Science of Fingerprinting and Fingerprinting in General." Mr. Wilson stated that the fingers, palms, and bottom of the feet are the only parts of the body that have distinct markings. The arch, loop and whirl form the main basic patterns of fingerprints. Fingerprinting is the only known positive means of identification, and they are of great value for civil identification. It is a known fact that fingerprints do not change, and it is an impossibility to have duplicate fingerprints.

Mr. Wilson cited an instance of a school in New London, Tex., in which 250 children were burned to death, beyond recognition. Of this number only 8 children had been fingerprinted. Those 8 were the only ones identified.

The council is sponsoring the fingerprinting of all children in the parish.

Mrs. C. Roger Johnson, wife of the pastor of Central Baptist Church, was also a guest speaker. The topic of her talk was "Spiritual and Character Education." The theme of which was: "Train up a child in the way he should go; and when he is old, he will not depart from it—Proverbs 22:6." She gave as illustration "the potter and the clay. How the potter takes the clay in his hands and through much work, time, and effort molds it into a thing of beauty. It is up to you to mold the clay that is in your hands into a beautiful character."

The program was concluded with a forum on "Publicity" under the direction of Mrs. E. H. Scott, publicity chairman of W. R. Mitchell P.-T. A. The following publicity chairmen took part in the discussion: Mrs. Helen Smith, Crosley; Mrs. Robert Irving, Millsaps; Mrs. W. A. Cooper, Lida Benton and Mrs. S. L. Williams, Sherrouse.

The council voted to serve a day with the Salvation Army Christmas kettles, the date to be decided upon later.

Mrs. Fagen Cox, state Founders Day chairman presented plans for the Founders Day programs to be held in February, and she especially urged that the Louisiana Founders be remembered in the programs.

NO DEATHS

occurred 16 years ago, residents reported hearing a rumble preceding the rocking temblor.

Red Cross disaster units were alerted throughout the metropolitan area and officials said it turned into an excellent test, although none was needed.

At California Institute of Technology, Pasadena, Dr. Charles F. Richter timed the quake's official onset at 4:43.42 p. m. (Pacific daylight time—6:42.42 eastern standard time). He said its magnitude was 6 3/4 on a seismological scale which rates the world's most severe quakes at 8 1/2. The disastrous Long Beach quake of 1933 was 6 1/4, but occurred in a much more populous area.

The Cal. Tech scientist put the apparent center at 100 miles southeast of Pasadena, roughly between the desert cities of Indio and Twenty-Nine Palms. Indio reported no damage.

Palm Springs police reported the rear of a furniture store collapsed, in the first of three quakes at 4:45 p. m. (Pacific daylight 6:45 E. S. T. time), 5 p. m. and 5:07 p. m.

In Arlington, on the western side of Mt. San Jacinto, near Riverside, a drug store window was broken, paint spilled on the floor in another shop. In Ontario, a newspaper's windows were shattered.

In Los Angeles, where the quake was timed at 4:43 p. m., a crowd of more than 100,000 was just filing out of giant Memorial Coliseum, where Southern California and Notre Dame played to a 14-14 tie.

From Santa Barbara on the north to San Diego on the south, and inland to the Colorado, the tremor was reported varyingly as light to heavy. Palm Springs police called it the most severe in 15 years.

In downtown Los Angeles, police said a water tank collapsed and a building at downtown Seventh and Hill streets developed a crack. There were wide reports of cracked windows, broken crockery and stopped clocks.

Mt. San Jacinto, which geologists believe may once have been a volcano, is fringed by San Andreas Fault—California's longest and largest. It is on this fault that severe San Francisco, Santa Barbara and El Centro earthquakes have been reported since the turn of the century.

A San Bernardino radio operator reported he heard an operator in the Moreno valley, east of Riverside, say he saw dust for a distance of nine miles along the fault. Hemet, where a severe quake shook down buildings in 1921, reported a sharp quake but no serious damage.

PEARL HARBOR IS COMMEMORATED

Amvets Plan Special Service For Seventh Anniversary Of Attack

Monroe and West Monroe will commemorate the seventh anniversary of the bombing of Pearl Harbor this afternoon with a memorial service for World War II dead.

The service, sponsored by Walter S. Savage, Jr., post, American Veterans of World War II, will be held aboard the organization's floating home at Pine street landing. It is scheduled for 3 o'clock.

Flowers will be strewn upon the waters of Ouachita river in memory of men and women of the armed services of the nation who made the supreme sacrifice in World War II. They will be dropped from a plane flying overhead and cast from river cruisers circling off the AMVET houseboat.

Relatives of men and women who died in defense of their country in World War II are invited to bring or send flowers from their yards to be cast upon the waters.

All veterans organizations are cooperating with the AMVETS in the memorial service. Each organization—The Monroe and West Monroe posts of the V. F. W., the Monroe and West Monroe posts of the American Legion, the Northeast Louisiana Detachment of the Marine Corps League and the AMVET post—will cast sprays on the river in memory of the honored dead of the recent war.

Today has been designated Pearl Harbor Sunday by joint proclamation of Mayor George Breece of Monroe and Mayor C. C. Bell, Jr., of West Monroe. It was so proclaimed as the Sunday nearest the calendar date of the seventh anniversary. Pearl Harbor was attacked from the air without warning by the Japanese Sunday, December 7, 1941. The event forced the United States into active participation in World War II.

The address of the occasion will be delivered by Rev. George Pearce, Jr., pastor of Memorial Methodist Church. He saw combat service with the marines on Okinawa as a naval chaplain.

The address will be preceded by the reading of Rabbi Roland Gittelsohn's Iwo Jima sermon, delivered at the dedication of the Fifth Marine Division Cemetery on that island. The sermon, regarded by many as "The Gettysburg Address" of World War II, will be read by George Fink, member of the AMVET post.

After the casting of the flowers upon the waters of the river, three volleys will be fired by a rifle squad supplied by the Marine Corps League. Taps will be sounded on the bugle by Louis Stern, member of the AMVET post.

Harold Breard, commander of the AMVET post, will act as master of ceremonies.

COMPLETE PLANS FOR JUNIOR SUGAR BOWL

2ND ANNUAL GRID CLASSIC SLATED HERE SATURDAY

South Georgia, Little Rock Furnish Teams For Junior College Clash

Final arrangements for the second annual Junior Sugar Bowl football battle here Saturday night between South Georgia College of Douglas, Ga., and Little Rock (Ark.) Junior College are in the making with the sponsoring Monroe Lions Club promising the greatest display of pageantry in connection with the game that has ever been offered for a football show here.

Little Rock and South Georgia, neither defeated in junior college competition although the Arkansas eleven has bowed by narrow margins to four-year institutions, have already made their plans for their stay in Monroe.

The Arkansas outfit, rated as one of the nation's highest scoring junior college elevens, has reservations for the Virginia Hotel along with many followers of the Little Rock team. South Georgia will make its headquarters at the Frances Hotel. Just when Little Rock will arrive in town hadn't been announced yesterday, but South Georgia plans to be here Friday morning.

The first activity on the program for the visiting bowl rivals will be the Lions Club's football banquet Friday night at the Frances Hotel, Lion President Owen McCleary announced. Guest teams to the bowl, their coaches, Lions Club members and game officials will attend the banquet at which the members of the contending teams will be presented individual miniature silver footballs.

Meanwhile, the advanced sale of tickets for the game is being handled through a downtown office set up the past week in the Capitol Theatre Building with Dan Willensky in charge of the office. The golden sugar bowl to be awarded the winning team and the miniature balls to be given the players are on display at the ticket office.

Sales have been steady through the week with the top reserved seats getting the best business. Reserved seats in the concrete westside stands at Brown Field, where the game will be played, are selling in three price brackets, $3 between the 37-yard lines, $2.40 between the 28's and 37, and $1.80 between the 20's and 28's. General admission prices, including all east side stands, $1.20.

Officials for the game have been announced by B. B. Martin, general chairman of the bowl committee, as Alvin Bell, one of the Southeastern Conference's leading offiicals from Vanderbilt, referee; George Riser, Monroe, and former Louisiana Tech athlete, umpire; Harold Willis, Monroe, also an ex-Louisiana Tech star, head linesman; and Dr. W. L. Bendel, Monroe, chairman of the Northeast Louisiana Football Officials' Association and Tulane graduate.

Several of the fanciest high school bands and pep squads in this section of the state will be invited to appear as guests of the Junior Sugar Bowl to assist in the pageantry before the game and at the halftime period.

ALEXANDRIA, La., Dec. 4.—(AP)—An intercepted lateral and a 98-yard drive gave the Nicholl's Rebels of New Orleans a 14-7 victory over Sulphur High here last night in the third annual Cosmopolitan Bowl football game.

REED GREEN SEEKS JOB AS MAROON GRID COACH

HATTIESBURG, Miss., Dec. 4.—(AP)—Mississippi Southern Head Coach and Athletic Director Reed Green said today that he is applying for the Mississippi State coaching job left vacant by the resignation this week of Allyn McKeen.

The fact that Green is an applicant for the coaching spot at State will mean a delay in developments which had been expected on the Southern coaching situation.

Prior to McKeen's resignation at State, plans were in the making for Green to give up the football coaching job at Southern and devote his full time to his duties as director of athletics. It was understood that Line Coach Thad (Pie) Vann was to move up to head football coach, with a new backfield coach being added to the staff.

If Green does not get the coaching post at Mississippi State, it is anticipated that this shift still will be worked out.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By Hugh Fullerton, Jr.

NEW YORK, Dec. 4.—(AP)—Army athletic authorities went so far as to ask the football players their opinion of playing a post-season game this year . . . The result was just what they expected—a decisive "no." . . . Those kids don't want to prolong the season through December, which gives them three "black" weeks of examinations and then their only vacation of the year . . . On the other side, Georgia Tech's basketballers, who had a very pleasant time in the Oklahoma City tournament last season, insisted on the Garden this year. . . . Bill Alexander told them, "I can get you a Garden game, but you'll probably take a licking." And the kids came back: "We don't care. We want to see New York."

Classy Stuff

Next spring the famous Sewanee football team of 1899 will hold its 50th reunion on the old mountain-top campus—and there's quite a story behind it . . . That Sewanee team undertook a twelve-game schedule which included five big games within six days. Sewanee beat Texas, 12-0, Texas A. and M., 10-0; Tulane, 23-0; Louisiana, 34-0, and Mississippi, 12-0. Only Auburn, beaten 11-10, was able to score on the Tigers that season . . . The reason, in part, was that in those days the school year started in the spring and went through to Christmas time and the boys could practice right through the cool summer. That also explains why the class of '99 was playing football in the fall of '99.

Sportsmention

The Millrose A. A. track meet, first big event of the New York footracing season, has become so overcrowded that Fred Schmertz is asking colleges to send only one relay team apiece. . . . Undismayed about the Boston Yanks' gate receipts, Ted Collins already is making plans for next season and tells solicitious friends, "Don't worry about me." . . . Jacques (The Comet) Richard, kid brother of Maurice (The Rocket) is playing hockey for the Boston Olympics this winter. If the supply of Richards lasts long enough, eventually they'll get down to one nicknamed "The Fizzle." . . . In his indictment of college football, President William S. Carlson of the U. of Delaware apparently overlooked one thing. A blast at the game is an easier way for an educator to get his name in the papers than, say, making some new discovery about nuclear fission.

Weak-end Notes

Rumor from the midwest says Indiana's new grid coach, Clyde Smith, already is running into alumni trouble. Seems some of the old grads had another candidate and aren't too enthusiastic about Smitty after a so-so season . . . If these college "bowl" games confuse you, consider this one: In southern Louisiana two high school games were played a week apart, in towns only about 75 miles apart. Each town selected two outstanding school teams to meet in its "classic . . . and each chose the name "Cypress Bowl."

LAMAR, HINDS TO PLAY IN SPINDLETOP BOWL

BEAUMONT, Tex., Dec. 4.—(AP)—The Lamar College of Cardinals of Beaumont will meet Hinds Junior College of Raymond, Miss., here the night of Dec. 17 in the first Spindletop Bowl.

Hinds, which won seven games, lost two and tied one this year, accepted today the invitation to play. Lamar has a record of seven wins and four losses.

The Cardinals climaxed their season here last week by beating a highly-favored Tyler Junior College team 28 to 6.

Navy first used a forward pass in its football maneuvers in 1906.

HIALEAH FIXTURE

MIAMI — (AP) — Jim Fitzsimmons, dean of American horse trainers, enjoys the distinction of having stabled horses in the same barn at Hialeah every winter since the rebuilding of the track in 1931.

MALONE TO SPEAK AT GRID BANQUET

WINNSBORO, La., Dec. 4.—(Special)—James L. Malone, athletic director and head coach at Northeast Junior College, Monroe, will be the principal guest speaker at a Lions Club banquet here Tuesday night, honoring the Winnsboro High School Wildcat football team. The barbecue-banquet will be held at 8 o'clock at the White Swan Cafe.

Designed "for men only," the affair will be attended by members of the Winnsboro Lions Club, members of the Wildcat football squad, Winnsboro Coach John Nicosia, other school officials and members of the Franklin parish governing bodies, according to Bruce S. Landis III, chairman of the Lions Club committee in charge of festivities.

Football's longest run was chalked up by Wyllys Terry of Yale in 1884—115 yards. The field at the time was 110 yards long.

RIVAL BEARCATS TANGLE IN TECH STADIUM FRIDAY

Winner Of Game Will Qualify For State Championship 'A' Finals

RUSTON, La., Dec. 4.—(Special)—The Ruston High School Bearcats, northeast Louisiana Class A football champions of 1948, and defending state titlists of '47, will meet the Bossier City High School eleven, northwest district champs, here next Friday night for the northern crown and a place in the state finals.

Agreement on the playoff site and time was made at Monroe in the wee hours this morning at Virginia Hotel after Ruston had gained the right to meet the Bossier eleven by defeating Neville at Monroe, 21 to 6, in their district playoff game.

Ruston was represented at the 1 a. m. meeting by Coach L. J. "Hoss" Garrett and Principal H. E. Townsend. Bossier City was represented by Coach Loy Camp and Principal Jacks. It was decided that the title contest would be played at Tech Stadium here Friday night, beginning at 8 o'clock.

Just as they were forced to battle against heavier opposition in their Neville game last night, the Lincoln parish boys will again be outweighed for the coming Bossier City battle. Bossier's line boasts its weight at the ends and tackles, but Ruston will have a shade the better of the weight distribution at the guards and center.

Bossier City's backfield will outweigh Ruston's at about a ten-pound average, and the ball handling duel is expected to be between Jerry Adams, Ruston's 180-pound power driving fullback; and Gene Yarbrough, the 160-pound ace of the Bossier backfield which is also bolstered by Serle Walton, 185-pound fullback; Tony Montalbano, 145-pound right half; and Bobby Ray McHalffey, 135-pound quarterback.

Siding Adams in the Ruston backfield will be the stellar little Al Torbert, 135-pound left half; Bengie Smith, 145-pound quarterback; and Tommy Boatright, 128-pound right half.

J. B. Reese, Orlando Hughes, Herbert Colvin, "Buckshot" Kinard, Jack Carter, Curtis Sherrill, and Gordon Brown give Ruston a dependable line that will have a tough assignment Friday if it outbattles the rival Bearcats from the Red river, and in particular the Bossier tackles, Charles Faulkinberry, 205.

JONESBORO TIGERS BEAT NATCHITOCHES, 15 TO 12

NATCHITOCHES, La., Dec. 4.—(Special)—Dickie Koonce and Van Beasley sparked the Jonesboro-Hodge High School Tigers to a 15-12 victory over the Natchitoches High School Red Devils here last night in a post-season grid battle sponsored by the Lions Clubs of Jonesboro and Natchitoches.

Koonce passed to End Bill Moore for the first Jonesboro touchdown in the opening quarter, and the Tigers registered a safety a few minutes later by blocking Dwane Murphy's punt in the end zone to give the visitors an 8-0 lead.

Murphy broke through the middle of the line and raced 60 yards for the Devil's first score, and the locals went ahead when Morgan passed to Charles Byle from the 30 to the 20, and Byle ran it the rest of the way.

But Jonesboro sewed up the game when W. L. Walker tallied from the three-yard range after a sustained drive put the ball in scoring position. Jonesboro converted, and as the game ended the Tigers were in possession inside the Natchitoches ten.

Syracuse and Columbia began their football rivalry in 1901.

CHOUDRANT CAGE MEET ATTRACTS 21 PREP ENTRIES

Annual High School Tournament Scheduled For December 17 And 18

CHOUDRANT, La., Dec. 4.—(Special)—The annual Choudrant Invitational Basketball Tournament will be held at the Choudrant High School gymnasium here December 17 and 18 with 21 teams participating.

The tournament will be under the direction of O. L. Baker, Choudrant principal, and William D. Clinton, Choudrant coach, with the able assistance of Mrs. Doris Leachman, girls' coach here.

Eleven boys' teams and ten girls' combinations will appear in the event which is offering first, second, and third place trophies in each division.

Girls' teams entered are Simsboro, Downsville, Calhoun, Chatham, Eros, Linville, Dubach, Neville, Farmerville, and Choudrant, with two state champions in the group. Farmerville's sextet won the state crown in Class A last season, and Linville was tops in Class C. But Downsville has a promising strong team this year to rule as tourney favorites with Linville and Farmerville rated third.

Competing in the boys' division will be Jonesboro, Okaloosa, Farmerville, Dubach, Linville, Eros, Chatham, Calhoun, Downsville, Simsboro, and Choudrant. The contending quintet appear about evenly matched with Eros and Choudrant considered slight favorites along with Simsboro and Jonesboro.

Final arrangements for the tournament, including team pairings, are expected to be announced within a few days.

The all-time pro fumble return record is held by George Halas, now coach of the Chicago Bears, who ran 98 yards with a loose ball against Thorpe's Indians in 1923.

OUACHITA POINTS FOR LAKE CHARLES GAME

LIONS WILL FACE WILDCAT ELEVEN IN TITLE BATTLE

Arrangements Yet To Be Made For State Semi-Final 'AA' Scrap

The Lake Charles High School Wildcats, undefeated in southwest Class AA conference play and ranked second among the states 21 double-A teams, are next on the docket for the Ouachita Parish High School Lions when they clash in the state title semi-finals some time this week.

Lion Coach Jim Hodgins last night said arrangements for the game would probably be made today. He said efforts to get all parties involved together for a meeting had not been fruitful and that Jack Hayes, Ouachita principal, would probably complete arrangements in telephone communications with Lake Charles school officials today.

"We're going to try our best to bring Lake Charles to Monroe, Coach Hodgins said, "but of course we don't know for certain where the game will go."

The Wildcats, winners of the southwest district title without the necessity of a playoff as they won over all their district rivals, Bolton, Jennings, and Sulphur, were idle the past week while awaiting the result of the Ouachita-Haynesville playoff at Haynesville Friday night when the Lions came through with a 20 to 6 triumph.

Lake Charles, rated next to Istrouma as possibly the state's top Class AA team, builds its offense around Harold Woods, one of Louisiana's leading scorers, and Woody Watson, another flashy back. The Wildcats won eight of their ten games played this season, a year in which no Class AA eleven went undefeated. Ouachita, including the playoff scrap with Haynesville, has won seven games and lost four.

Coach Hodgins last night said apparently his charges had emerged from the Tornado scrap with no serious injuries unless a twisted ankle suffered by Herman DeLoach is worse than expected. Otherwise the Lions are nursing only the usual game bruises.

"It was a hard game with plenty of hard blocking and tackling," Coach Hodgins commented. "We sat back on our haunches the first half but carried the fight to Haynesville in the second half and really looked like ball players.

"The whole team played outstanding ball once it came to life in the second half, and I was might proud of

ELECTRIC SCOREBOARD, CLOCK DUE FOR TIGERS

ARKADELPHIA, Ark., Dec. 4.—(Special)—The installation of a new electric clock and scoreboard in the Ouachita College gymnasium in time for the Tiger's first Arkansas Intercollegiate Conference basketball game, has been announced by Robert Cowan, director of physical education at the Baptist school.

Coach Wesley Bradshaw, faced with a rebuilding job on the Bengal quintet, stated: "We are trying to improve our facilities as well as produce a better brand of college basketball. In the near future we expect to have our entire athletic plant reconditioned and modernized."

Local businessmen and Tiger boosters, who have subscribed to the fixture, will be recognized by an attached plaque.

'L' CLUB MEETS HERE TOMORROW

Former N. J. C. Athletes Plan To Perfect Lettermen's Organization

The "L" Club, recently organized by former athletic lettermen of Northeast Junior College of L. S. U. to aid in the "Malone Day" festivities at N. J. C. on Thanksgiving Day, will further plans for its completing its organization at a meeting tomorrow night.

The meeting, which all former athletic lettermen of the Indian football, basketball, boxing, and recent baseball club are urged to attend, will begin at 7:30 o'clock at Virginia Hotel.

At the first organization meeting last month provisional officers and committees were named until such time as permanent officials could be named and rules and by-laws adopted.

Guy Sievers was named chairman; Stanley Passman, vice chairman; Clayton Brown, secretary; and San Dunlap, treasurer.

Serving on the committee that selected the automobile present to Coach Jim Malone were Clyde Nash, Raymond Masling, and "Shadow" Holloway; the committee that worked with the N. J. C. student council on the "Malone Day" program included Sievers, Masling, Ivy McDonald, E. L. "Pop" Walker, and Nash.

First football uniforms were sleeveless jackets of canvass, laced in front and drawn tight to fit the body. Navy first used them in 1879.

TROJANS GET TIE WITH IRISH, 'BAMA DEFEATS AUBURN

Several Minor Bowls Get Games Out Of Way In Saturday's Activity

NEW YORK, Dec. 4—(AP)—The Fighting Irish of Notre Dame rescued their third straight unbeaten football season today with a lastminute tying touchdown against Southern California.

But the resulting 14-14 deadlock was almost as much of a shock to the sport world as the earthquake wich rocked the Los Angeles area minutes after the game ended.

The tie, which brought an end to a 21-game all-winning streak for the Irish, was one of three major games on the final regular football Saturday of 1948. All that remains are bowl games and post-season all-star encounters.

Alabama trounced Auburn, 55 to 0, as the two state schools renewed their gridiron series after 41 years at Birmingham, and Clemson closed out an all-winning year by shutting out The Citadel, 20 to 0.

Notre Dame got its tie in a race with the clock. Southern California had taken a 14-7 edge with less than three minutes to play. Bill Gay took the following kickoff and raced 87 yards to the Trojan 13 yard line.

Bobby Williams sneaked eight yards through the middle. One pass was incomplete in the end zone and the next one was ruled complete on the one after interference. Fullback Frank Panelli crashed within a foot of the goal and Emil Sitko went over for the tally.

Steve Oracko calmly added the point that tied the score.

The Clemson victory gave the Tigers the Southern Conference championship. Sophomore halfback Ray Mathews scored all three touchdowns, one a 60-yard sideline sprint after taking a pass from Bobby Gage.

Ed Salem's passing was the big gun of Alabama's potent attack, Salem completed eight of 10 passes for 159 yards and three touchdowns, and scored another tally on an end sweep. He kicked seven consecutive extra points before his eighth attempt was blocked.

In other games, Evansville, Ind., defeated Missouri Valley, 13-7, in the Refrigerator Bowl at Evansville; Hampton Institute edged Wilberforce, 20-19, in the Fish Bowl at Norfolk, Va.; Toledo won its third Glass Bowl victory, defeating Oklahoma City, 27-14; Emporia Teachers whipped Southwest Missouri, 34-20, in the Mo-Kan Bowl at Kansas City; San Diego State beat Utah State, 28-10, at San Diego and San Jose State overpowered the National University of Mexico, 71-19, at Mexico City.

Missouri Valley's loss was its first under its present coach in 42 games.

FRNKA 'COACH OF YEAR' TO MENTORS OF S. E. C.

NASHVILLE, Dec. 4.—(AP)—Henry Frnka, whose Tulane football team came within seven points of a perfect season, is the "coach of the year" in the opinion of his fellow mentors in the Southeastern Conference.

Henry Frnka

The Nashville Banner announced today following its 13th annual poll of the coaches that Frnka polled 52 points to 49 for Johnny Vaught of Ole Miss, winner of last year's poll. The Banner gave 10, five and three points for first, second and third place choices.

The Green Wave, under Frnka, won nine games this season, handing Mississippi its only defeat of the season by a 20-7 score. Tulane's lone loss was to Georgia Tech, which beat the New Orleans eleven 13-7.

Third place in the poll went to Henry (Red) Sanders of Vanderbilt, who scored 44 points. Other coaches ranked in the poll were Wallace Butts, Georgia, fourth and Ray Wolf, Florida, fifth.

The Banner will present a scroll and a plaque to Frnka at its All-Star sports banquet here sometime next month.

SALLIS, HERNANDO PLAY FOR 'B' TITLE IN BOWL

KOSCIUSKO, Miss., Dec. 4—(AP)—Sallis and Hernando, two regional football champions, have accepted invitations to play for the north Mississippi Class B championship in the fourth annual Central Mississippi Lions Bowl here next Friday night.

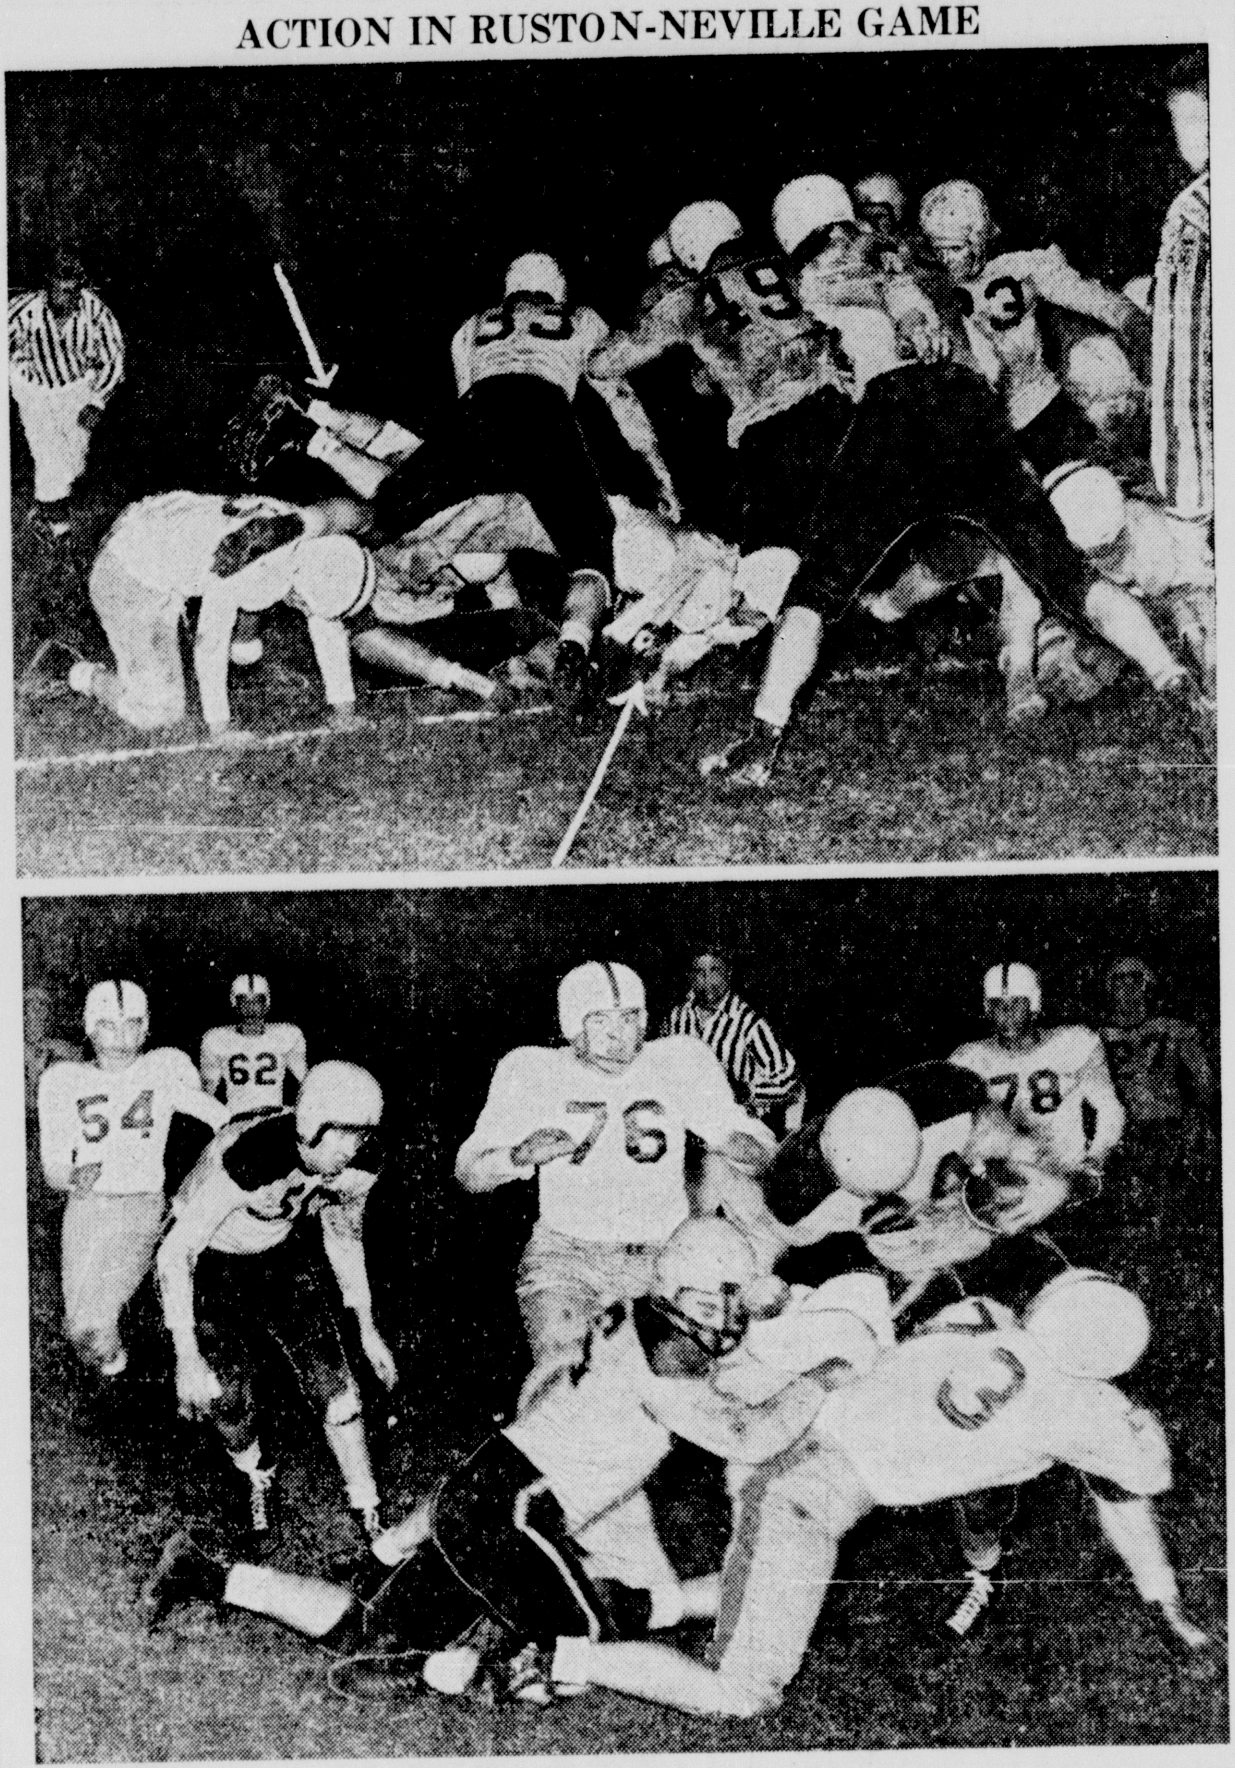
Sallis holds Class B championship of districts three and four as result of its 26-7 victory over Webb Thursday night. Sallis is undefeated in its classification.

Hernando, Class B champs of districts one and two, qualified to play for north Mississippi title by beating Artesia 20-0.

Announcement that the team had agreed to play here was made today by athletic committee of sponsoring Kosciusko Lions Club.

The 1948 game will mark Hernando's second appearance in the Central Mississippi Lions Bowl. Philadelphia defeated Hernando 20-0 in 1945. Kosciusko conquered Canton 20-7 in 1946, and Starkville eked out a 14-13 victory over Morton in 1947.

ACTION IN RUSTON-NEVILLE GAME



The Bearcats of Ruston High School won the northeast Louisiana Class A championship here Friday night, defeating Neville of Monroe, 21 to 6, in a playoff scramble. Above are pictured two of the action scenes in the hard fought game at Brown Field. At the top is Al Torbert, Ruston halfback (arrows point to the ball in Torbert's arms and also the ball carrier's heels), as he is hauled down by Ronald Gunter, Tiger back (shown in sitting position under the pile). Tigers shown closing in are W. T. Brown (33), H. M. Butler (43), Sam Shepard (nearest camera), and Vernon Sanders (23). In the lower photo Neville has the ball with Sam Shepard (24), being stopped by Jack Carter (73) and an unidentified Bearcat barely seen hitting Shepard from the rear. Others in the scene are Ruston players Orlando Hughes (76), Herbert Colvin (78), Tommy Boatright (54), and J. B. Reese (62). Tigers in the action are Joe Love (in foreground wearing mask), Bob Brummel (50), and Ronald Gunter (27).

OUACHITA TIGERS GET QUINT READY

But Cagers In Back Seat As Bengal Eleven Points For Bowl Date

ARKADELPHIA, Ark., Dec. 4.—(Special)—Looking over a group of 20-odd Ouachita College cagers, only one of which wears a Tiger letter, Head Coach Wes Bradshaw had only one comment, "There's plenty of work ahead." And the Bengal mentor obviously had little false pessimism in view of the Baptists' conference opener with Little Rock Junior College in Arkadelphia on January 8.

Meanwhile, O. B. C.'s fledglings must take a temporary back seat to an extended football season by virtue of two bowl games. Until Christmas holidays begin for Ouachita students, the Tiger five will appear in seven non-conference tilts, including a swing through Mississippi.

The lone monogram winner, Sophomore Center Bill Vining of Eudora, is ably backed at the post station by Beebe Junior College transfer Dale Barger, Billy Dunn of Norman, Othel Standridge of Oden, and Marvin Childers of Lavaca. Vining, who scales only 6'-1", is prized for his smooth ball handling and excellent defensive work, but the center slot may be considered unclaimed territory should Bradshaw need the services of Barger or Standridge, both standing 6'3".

All other positions must be filled by freshmen and transfers, and the forwards may fall to Fresh C. E. Harris and Johnny Maurer of Arkadelphia, or to Roger Waggoner of Stuttgart, and Morris Carlisle, Beebe. Elgie Goss, teammate of Standridge at Oden, bids for the traveling ten along with Sparkman's Joel Bryant. This entire six has remained in the running, but recent outings with independent quintets have brought the best from Harris and Carlisle.

Guards consistently in better form for Bradshaw's opening nod are Arthur Boyle, freshman from Burkett, Texas, who may develop as the Tiger floor leader, and ex-Magnolia Aggie starter Red Matthews. Both have plenty of competition from diminutive Eddie Ward, a four-year letterman at Hartford High of Hartford, Ky., and Beebe transfer Brooks Morris. Boyle, Ward, and Morris all favor out-front set shots, while Matthews hits frequently with a deadly one-hand pusher.

DEQUINCY ADVANCES IN CLASS A TITLE CHASE

LAKE CHARLES, La., Dec. 4.—(AP)—DeQuincy defeated LaGrange of Lake Charles here last night 7 to 0 in a playoff game to decide the Southwest Louisiana district Class A high school football championship. The Tigers were outplayed by the local Gators until midway of the fourth period when they recovered a LaGrange fumble and drove 46 yards to their marker.

Fullback Buck Hellen plunged a yard for the score. Halfback George Roy Perkins made the extra point.

GILBERT PLANNING FOOTBALL RETURN

GILBERT, La., Dec. 4.—(Special)—The Gilbert High School Demons will return to the Louisiana football scene next year with their first team since 1939, Coach C. T. Campbell has announced.

The Demons have already lined up a schedule of eight games with room for one more contest on November 24 with any school that is interested in meeting Gilbert on that date.

The Purple and Gold Gilbert eleven will be under Campbell's supervision, the first year of coaching for the former Northwestern Louisiana State athlete.

The 1949 schedule was announced as follows:

Sept. 23—Block at Jonesville.
Sept. 30—Olla, here.
Oct. 7—Mangham, there.
Oct. 14—L. T. I. at Monroe.
Oct. 21—Open.
Oct. 28—Wisner, there.
Nov. 4—Winnsboro "B," here.
Nov. 11—Jefferson Military Institute, here.
Nov. 18—Sicily Island, there.
Nov. 24—Open (to be filled).

GRID MONOGRAMS ARE AWARDED 31 BULLDOG PLAYERS

Jack Brittain, Monroe, Among Letter Winners At Louisiana Tech

RUSTON, La., Dec. 4.—(Special)—Thirty-one members of the Louisiana Tech grid squad, which won second place honors in the Gulf States Conference for the season just ended, have been awarded varsity football letters, Coach Joe Aillet announced.

The Techmen ended the season with the best record any team has established at the college since 1935. Tech's 1948 eleven won seven games, lost two and tied one.

Fourteen of the lettermen closed their collegiate grid careers here this season.

Those slated for graduation before next season include Bob Horneman, Plain Dealing, end; Rudolph (Red) Smith, Bryceland; Jack Kelly, Homer, and John Ray, Ruston, tackles; Andrew Seely, Teague Texas, guard; A. G. Anderson, Plain Dealing, center.

Letters were awarded to 17 players who will be available for Tech's 1949 grid campaign. Those receiving the recognition were Leonard Vogt, New Orleans; Roy Collins, Haynesville; Anthony Cefalu, Shreveport; James Gilbert, Bastrop, and Gerald Mardis, Springhill, ends.

BATON ROUGE BULLDOGS WIN SHRIMP BOWL GAME

BILOXI, Miss., Dec. 4.—(AP)—The Bulldogs of Baton Rouge (La.) High School fought to a 6-0 victory over the Panama City (Fla.) Tornado here last night in the ninth annual Shrimp Bowl football game.

J. E. Watson passed for most of the distance on a 63-yard game-winning touchdown march. Billy Higginbotham plunged the last yard.

Baton Rouge outrushed Panama City 152 yards to 119, and led in passing 89 yards to 29. Higginbotham accounted for 100 yards in 17 running plays.

Panama City stars were Marion Aultman, big tackle, and Buddy Ware, fullback, who gained 67 yards in 12 tries.

Roosevelt Race, Westbury, N. Y., attracted 1,983,746 customers during the 1948 season, an average of 13,681 fans for each of the 145 nights of harness racing.

NATIONAL PROS TO END SEASON IN TILTS TODAY

Cards, Bears Seek West Division Title; Eagles Clinch In East

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Dec. 4.—(Special)—Two National Football League teams will conclude their 1948 seasons tomorrow afternoon when five games, three in the east and two in the midwest, will be played.

Green Bay, which three weeks ago battled the Chicago Bears to within a single point of equalizing the score, will wind up its campaign by meeting the Chicago Cardinals in Comisky Park. Boston will end its season by entertaining in Fenway Park the Philadelphia Eagles who last week clinched the eastern division championship.

Three other games are listed for the next to the last Sunday of regular season activity with the Chicago Bears meeting Detroit in Briggs Stadium, Lo Angeles matching runs, passes and punts with Washington in Griffith Stadium and New York's energetic young team playing Pittsburgh for the second time this season in Forbes Field.

The Cardinals, tied for first place with the Bears, in the western division, will engage the Packers for the 49th time since the series started in 1921. Charley Trippi, Ray Mallouf, Elmer Angsman and the rest of the championship array piloted by Jim Conzelman, will face a determined Packer team headed by Tony Canadeo, second only to Van Buren as a leading ground gainer, and Jack Jacobs, the third best punter and one of the best passers in the league.

In the series the Packers lead with 29 victories to 16 for the Cardinals. Three games have resulted in ties.

In the other game in the west the Bears will meet Detroit for the 29th time. The Lions, with three of the league's outstanding players in Camp Wilson, only nine yards back of Canadeo in ground gaining; Fred Enke, first year passer and ball carrier and the veteran Bill Dudley, will train their sights on the three L's, Luckman, Layne and Lujack, and the Bears' ace punter and ball carrier, George Gulyanics.

The Bears hold the series advantage 18 to 8 with two ties.

Philadelphia's Eagles, strong on defense and one of the league's highest scoring aggregation, will travel to Boston to meet the Yanks. Steve Van Buren may not play tomorrow because of injuries received last week. Tommy Thompson, leadin passer, and Joe Muha, first among the punters also will oppose the Yanks.

The Philadelphians have won six of the seven games played with Boston.

The New York Giants' rising young team paced by Charley Conerly, the top man in the league among the freshman passers, will travel to Pittsburgh to meet the Steelers. Last week Conerly moved into fourth place among the leading passers, behind such veterans as Thompson, Jim Hardy, of Los Angeles, and Ray Mallouf, of the Cardinals. The former Mississippi star has a fifty per cent passing average with 103 completions out of 206 tosses. His total of 1,587 yards is second only to Baugh's. Conerly has 17 touchdown passes to his credit.

Pittsburgh also has a brilliant pass-

"This Corduroy sports coat mellows with years of rough wear. It not only makes a man look good but feel good. What is comparable to Corduroy!

"Here you have sheen and lustre! The light rays are absorbed into its velvety surface of soft, tufted pile.

"For ruggedness and durability, the miniature 'cushions' are first anchored and bound down in the weaving. Then the fibres are cut to a thousandth of an inch so they stand upright and protect the inner fabric itself. For though the corduroy is a honey in looks, it's a brute for wear. That saves you money when you add up its years of service.

"Here's why my Corduroy sports coat always holds its shape. The armholes are taped, the shoulders are taped, the slope of the neck, the lapels and the bottom are taped. And the front is reinforced with canvas. Plus fine single needlework and padded shoulders. The body is lined with rayon. Breast pocket and side pockets have flaps and welted seams."

MIGHTY NOTRE DAME TIED BY SOUTHERN CAL.

EARTHQUAKE HAS PART IN SHOW AS GAME ENDS, 14-14

Last Minute Touchdown Saves Fighting Irish From Defeat By Troy

By Bob Myers

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 4.—(AP)—Notre Dame's mighty Irish were held today to a 14-14 tie by Southern California's Trojans, and ten minutes after the game a real earthquake shook huge Memorial Coliseum.

Mother nature's shuddering all but matched the rumbling of events in this vast concrete bowl as 100,571 people saw the unbeaten Notre Dames lucky to escape with a two touchdown deadlock in a 60-minute battle. The tie was gained in the final 30 seconds of this 20th renewal of the Irish-Troy series.

The stadium had just emptied itself of the howling mob, all on the verge of hysteria after seeing a winning touchdown and a tying touchdown scored in the final moments of the contest.

High on the rim of the stadium, the press box seemed to waltz dizzily back and forth, the chalk white stripes on the field below seemingly—and perhaps they did—to move in crazy, reverse review.

And the scoreboard showed: Notre Dame 14, U. S. C. 14.

Gone was Notre Dame's proud record of being unbeaten or untied in 22 games. This one snapped the Irish's consecutive win streak at 21.

Saved, however, was their record of no defeats in 28 games. But that was thin syrup for a battle today that found Frank Leahy's green jerseyed giants forced to scramble for a tie.

Twice in the last quarter the underrated, thrice-beaten Trojans bent the Notre Dame armor for touchdowns, overcoming a seven-point lead the Notre Dames grabbed in the second period as a crowd of 100,571 people roared in joy or anguish.

Then, in the final minute of the game, 170-pound Bill Gay, a speedmaster from Chicago, took a Trojan kickoff and raced it back 87 yards before he was hauled down on the Trojan 13-yard line.

Reserve Quarterback Bobby Williams, filling in for the injured Frank Tripucka, sneaked up toward the goal for five yards. Time was running out. He passed to Gay in the end zone. It was incomplete. He passed again to Gay, and interference was called on a Trojan defensive man, Gene Beck.

Notre Dame got up to the one-yard line. The Trojans fought furiously. Fullback Frank Panelli managed to get two feet.

Then Squat Emil Sitko, who broke the Trojan back with a 76-yard gallop in this game last year, went over for the tying touchdown.

Steve Oracko calmly kicked the point that gave the Irish the tie.

The Troys were both grieved and joyful. They had been figured to lose by 20 points—more if Master Leahy so elected.

But they played inspired, alert football all afternoon. They saw the Irish fumble four times in the first half, and were never able to cash in, although once they got within two feet of the promised land.

Notre Dame finally got around to scoring in the second period. Tripucka, with the ball on the Trojan 45, shot a pass to his giant right end, Leon Hart.

Hart, all 225 pounds of him, ran, jerked and tore his way 35 yards to score. At least half the Trojan team took a shot at him, some it seemed, a second crack. But he kept going, and Oracko made it 7-0 at halftime for the Irish.

The game rocked on through the third quarter. Halfback Don Doll returned the halftime kickoff 52 yards but it went for nothing.

Late in the third, however, Halfback Jack Kirby intercepted a Williams pass and ran it back 12 yards to the Irish 42. Dean Dill was spilled for five yards loss, but made seven on a run. Then he passed to Kirby for 22 yards down the sidelines, and when the fourth quarter dawned, the Trojans were on the Irish 15.

Dill, electing to run instead of pass, raced up to the five. Fullback Bill Martin hit the line, that vaunted line of Hart, All-America Bill Fischer and the rest, for three. Art Battle added one more, and from the one-yard mark Martin found a huge hole on the left side of the Irish line and sailed through standing up. Dill's placement tied the count.

With three minutes or less left to go, U. S. C. got the ball again in midfield Kirby ripped off 16 yards. Dill found an end, Ernie Tolman, for 16 yards. He made six himself to reach the 12, and Martin hit the line for six more. Battle took it to the three and then Martin found a weak spot on the other side of the Irish line and crashed through. Dill converted.

It looked like the Iirsh were set to receive their first defeat since a Great Lakes Navy team did the trick, 39-7, in 1945.

Then came Gay's spectacular return of the kickoff and the resultant wild climax, and U. S. C. joined the company of that great 1946 Army team

JOCKEY TAKES BAD SPILL IN FAIR GROUNDS ACCIDENT

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 4—(AP)—Apprentice Jockey Lou Cook, leading rider at the Fair Grounds, was shaken up badly today in a spill during the second race.

Cook's mount, Matty M., seemed to trip on the horse in front of him and fell in front of the grandstand just before the finish. Riel Time, who was behind Matty M., stumbled and threw Jockey Joe Cavens.

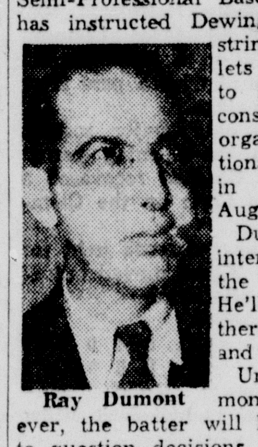
Cook was sent to the Baptist Hospital. X-rays showed no fractures. Cavens was not hurt.

GRAYSON'S SCOREBOARD

By Harry Grayson

NEW YORK, Dec. 4—(NEA)—Ray Dumont reports that Ken Dewing has perfected plans for a device which not only accurately registers balls and strikes on a scoreboard, but even produces the course of the ball.

Dumont, head of the National Semi-Professional Baseball Congress, has instructed Dewing, who has a string of drug outlets in California, to have a board constructed for his organization's national tournament in Wichita next August.



Ray Dumont

Dumont doesn't intend to eliminate the plate umpire. He'll still be back there calling balls and strikes.

Under the Dumont plan, however, the batter will have the right to question decisions.

"In that case," explains Dumont, the man of many ideas, "a lever will be switched to show whether the arbiter is right or wrong. The scoreboard and the magic eye will relay the correct answer."

Seeking to take the bulk of the load off the umpire's shoulders, Dumont would further make things worse for him by also giving the catcher the right to dispute verdicts.

In an attempt to keep protests down to a minimum, and prevent one rerun of a picture after another, Dumont would penalize objecting batters a strike if the magic rays upheld the umpire's decision. In the case of a last strike, one would automatically be called on the hitter on his next trip to the plate. If the umpire was correct in his decision over a catcher's beef, the batter similarly would be given an extra ball.

Dumont says that a loud bell attached to the board would denote each strike. He doesn't explain what would happen if the bell went out of order. Maybe things could be arranged so the umpire could press a button.

Dumont also neglects to tell how pitchers would keep one eye on the board and the other on the plate.

It might be better to plant a wooden Indian back of the umpire, and light up his eyes for strikes and his nose for balls, or have him mechanically indicate what the pitch was with his arms.

Can you imagine the predicament of an umpire if the players could ask for a photograph of every pitch?

The difference between a ball and a strike is in so many cases so infinitesimal that the poor umpire would have to make the decision anyway. So why put him in the middle to a greater extent than he is at present? Can you imagine a batter saying to the old Bill Klem of a few years back, "I'd like to see a picture of that, Mr. Klem?"

And with everybody in the park in position to second guess the umpire, who'd keep the board in electric light bulbs and cart the rocks out of the parks?

Even were it practical, baseball people wouldn't want balls and strikes determined by cross rays.

The plate umpire is part of the game, much of the life of it.

What fan would care to cuss a magic eye?

Without a plate umpire, ballplayers would argue far into the night. If they showed pictures of balls and strikes called by an umpire, they'd row forever.

In the National Semi-Pro Congress tournament in Wichita last August, Dumont introduced Gertie the Goose on the scoreboard, and she laid an egg when a team failed to score.

Ray Dumont lays another egg with his automatic umpire suggestion.

A. A. U. Agrees To Armistice With Hockey Association

AMATEUR GROUP APPROVES SEVEN OUTDOOR MARKS

Egan Calls For Athletic Competition With Russia For 'Understanding'

By Austin Bealmear

NEW YORK, Dec. 4.—(AP)—The 60th national convention of the Amateur Athletic Union moved toward a harmonious climax today when the A. A. U. agreed to an armistice with the Amateur Hockey Association over the bitter dispute that almost wrecked the last Winter Olympics.

The spirit of peace, achieved in the hockey squabble behind the locked doors of a smoky hotel room, spread to the convention floor, where the delegates approved all of the sites for 1949 championships—including the controversial basketball tournament—without a single fuss.

In other highlights of the convention's third day, the delegates:

1. Approved seven American outdoor track and field records, four of which better existing world standards, in addition to swimming marks and those in various minor sports recommended by committees.

2. Listened to Chairman Eddie Eagan of the New York state athletic commission call for athletic competition between this country and Russia as a means of promoting international understanding.

3. Heard the annual report of Mayor James A. Rhodes of Columbus, Ohio, A. A. U. president, which had as its keynote the expansion of the organization's part in international competition.

Thus when the delegates sat down to their annual banquet tonight, only the election of officers and a few odds and ends remained for the concluding session tomorrow. The reelection of Rhodes and all other officers was assured when the nominating committee named them to go unopposed into tomorrow's balloting.

But all of today's convention business was overshadowed by the surprise announcement of a compromise in the hockey situation.

Under the agreement, a joint committee will draw up a new constitution acceptable to both sides which will serve as the governing instrument for amateur hockey in this country, beginning next season.

Among the American track and field records approved were 58 feet, 3/8 inch by Charles Fonville of Michigan in the shot put at the Kansas Relays last April 17; 13.6 seconds for the 120 yard high hurdles by Harrison Dillard of Baldwin Wallace at the same meet; 45.9 seconds for 400 meters by Jamaican Herb McKenley at the National A. A. U. meet in Milwaukee, Wis., last July 2, and McKenley's 46 seconds for 440 yards at Berkeley, Calif., last June 5.

All four better existing world records. In fact, McKenley's 45.9 second performance already has been accepted as a world mark.

The records committee failed to recommend approval of the 9.3 seconds for 100 yards by Mel Patton of Southern California at Fresno, Calif., last May 15, on the ground it needed more information. Patton already is recognized as co-holder of the present American and world record of 9.4 seconds.

Other outdoor records approved were 10.2 seconds for 100 meters by Lloyd LaBeach of Oakland, Calif., at Fresno, last May 15, and 22.3 seconds for the 220-yard low hurdles by Dillard at Salt Lake City, Utah, June 21, 1947—both of which tie existing world marks—and 2:28.8 for 1,000 meters by Tarver Perkins of the Illinois A. C. at Buffalo, N. Y., last Aug. 12.

Among several indoor records approved was the 4:05.3 for the mile run turned in by Gil Dodds of the Boston A. A. at Madison Square Garden, Jan. 31, 1948.

The shifting of the men's basketball tournament to Oklahoma City from Denver, developed no opposition.

Daytona Beach, Fla., was awarded both the men's and women's indoor swimming championships. The men's meet was set for March 31 and April 1 and 2, and the women's meet for April 22, 23 and 24.

Los Angeles was given the men's outdoor swimming meet, with dates in August to be set later, while the women's outdoor meet went to San Antonio, Tex., Aug. 19, 20 and 21.

Odessa, Tex., put in an informal bid for the women's outdoor track and field championships but the committee left the decision to its successor.

GAMS HOME FIRST IN FEATURE EVENT

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 4.—(AP)—W. H. Bishop's Gams drove down the stretch at the Fair Grounds today to win the $1,800 Baton Rouge Purse from his stablemate, Junior Wolf.

Jockey Harold Keene was aboard Gams and his brother, Franke Keene, rode Junior Wolf.

Mrs. Valenti and King Bay got out in front at the start of the six furlong race, but Gams and Junior Wolf came into the stretch for a head and head drive. Gams won by a neck. The Circle K Farm's Athlete, with F. Zehr up, was a fast finishing third.

The Bishop entry of Gams and Junior Wolf paid $7, $6.20 and $4.

3 BLOCKING BACKS WILL BE HONORED

DURHAM, N. C., Dec. 4.—(AP)—Three outstanding blocking backs will be honored at a Monday meeting of the Durham Quarterback Club.

The William P. Jacobs Memorial trophy will be awarded to the following.

Bob Bowlby, North Carolina State, as the best Southern Conference blocker.

Truitt Smith, Mississippi State, as the best in the Southeastern Conference.

Bob Martin, Clemson, voted the best in the state of South Carolina.

Announcement of the winners was made by William P. Jacobs, Jr., of Clinton, S. C., son of the man who instituted the awards several years ago. Dr. Jacobs, prominent in textile and publishing circles, died several months ago.

Bolby's selection was announced today. The six-foot, 170-pounder from Paterson, N. J., will captain the 1949 state team. He was hurt in midseason and missed several games thereafter, but his work up to that point won him the nomination over Maryland's Harry Bonk in a close race.

Back of them were two Clemson players—Martin and Guard Frank Gillespie.

Smith, whose Mississippi State team lost to Clemson as did North Carolina State, just nosed out Tennessee's Jack Armstrong in a vote of the head coaches of the Southeastern Conference. He hails from Hazlehurst, Miss., is a 196-pound junior.

Fire damage to the nation's forests exceeded $55,000,000 during 1947.

Sievers kept the Tornado rocked back with good punting. As a whole we didn't look so hot in the first half, but the boys really showed what they could do in the second."

Haynesville led the Lions 6-0 at the end of the half, but Ouachita went ahead 7-6 in the third period and iced the game away with two more touchdowns in the final period.

The Lions will be appearing in the state semi-finals for the third time in the history of the school.

The first O. P. H. S. eleven to advance beyond north Louisiana play was the 1941 outfit that beat Lake Charles, 20-0, and advanced to the state finals with Jesuit of New Orleans, losing 30 to 7.

The Lions were in the semi-finals again in 1942, losing to Jennings of the southwest district, 26-0.

Such old Lion performers as J. S. Robinson, Burvon Sikes, "Sonny" Foreman, Cullen Kirby, Sam McInnis, Wayne Doss, Charles "Bud" Cain, Jack Jackson, Hoyt Moncrief, Junior Mears, J. M. McBeth, Paul Cook, Herbert Pace, Clifton O'Neal, Rudy Eason, Percy Pace, Larry Bennett, Curtis Hall, Jerry Gregg, Emmett Otwell, Louis Rolleigh, Kilpatrick and Jase Johnson sparked the team coached by Mack Avants that went to the semifinals in 1941.

The 1942 outfit, coached by George Riser, marched high in the title play on the strength of such players as Cain, Fred Gulledge, Otwell, Milam Towns, Pate, McBeth, Gregg, James Wainwright, Johnnie Simpson, Hall, O'Neal, Percy Pace, Frank Fisher, and Sikes.

Coach Hodgins will be depending this trip on a line of such talent as Fred Bosley, Tommy Wilson, Kenneth Greer, Bert DeLoach, Johnny Goodwin, Robert Earl Parker, Bobby Bruce, Wayne McCarty, Gayle Ward, Odie Lee, and Wayne McDonald, and the starting backfield of E. J. Sievers, Mark Boatright, Harold "Red" Phillips, and Billy Joe Milstead and such capable replacements as Herman DeLoach, Bob Carter, and Billy Ray Short.

WOLF'S STATUS AS GATOR COACH MAY BE SET TODAY

ORLANDO, Fla., Dec. 4.—(AP)—The state board of control is scheduled to meet here tomorrow afternoon in special session. There were indications tonight that the meeting may decide the coaching situation at the University of Florida.

Football Coach Ray Wolf's three-year contract expires in the spring and there has been much speculation as to whether the board of control will renew the pact.

J. Hillis Miller, president of the university and athletic officials also were in Orlando tonight.

Neither members of the board nor university officials could be reached immediately for comment.

The Tampa Times said this afternoon it had learned Coach Wolf would be recommended for a new contract by Miller upon the recommendation of Dennis K. (Dutch) Stanley, dean of physical education.

The Bronx once iced a team in the old Canadian-American Hockey League. The squad finished fourth in the 1931-32 season, its only one.

EVANSVILLE WINS IN REFRIGERATOR BOWL SCRAP, 13-7

Missouri Valley Has String Of 41 Consecutive Victories Snapped

EVANSVILLE, Ind., Dec. 4.—(AP)—Evansville College's Purple Aces ended a string of 41 straight football victories for the Missouri Valley Vikings, 13 to 7, today in the first annual Refrigerator Bowl game.

Seventy-five hundred fans witnessed the end of the longest string in the country.

Finesse and hard running produced an Evansville touchdown in the first quarter and the Aces added their other marker with a 94-yard march in the second period.

Missouri Valley, undefeated since 1941, failed to get inside Evansville's 40-yard line in the first half. It bogged down on the Evansville one-yard line in the fourth quarter but scored late in the game after a 71-yard march.

Halfback Gene Logel of the winners, voted the team's outstanding player, took a punt on the Evansville 15 in the first quarter and handed the ball to Quarterback Joe Unfried. Evansville blockers deployed and Unfried went 85 yards for a touchdown.

Logel's running and pass-catching figured prominently in Evansville's second drive, climaxed by Fullback Jim Endress' plunge from the two-yard mark.

Missouri Valley reached Evansville's one-yard line early in the fourth quarter after recovering an ace fum-

TIDEMEN ENGULF PLAINSMEN WITH 55 TO 0 TRIUMPH

Margin Much Wider Than Expected As Old Rivals Meet After 41 Years

By Leroy Simms

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Dec. 4.—(AP)—Alabama celebrated renewal of gridiron relations with Auburn, after a 41 year lapse, with an overwhelming 55 to 0 victory today before 46,000 fans.

The victors dominated play throughout in all departments, but it was their pass attack, with Halfback Ed Salem doing most of the throwing, which turned the contest into a rout.

The two state schools broke off athletic relations back in 1907, after a 6-6 tie football game here. Auburn still leads in the series, seven wins to five.

Salem, 187-pound sophomore playing before a hometown crowd, completed 8 of 10 passes thrown for 159 yards and three touchdowns and scored another marker on a sweep around end. He kicked seven extra points in a row before his eighth attempt was blocked.

EX-INDIAN

Clem Welsh, the Alabama back who scored two touchdowns in the rout of Auburn yesterday, is well known to Monroe football fans as a former Northeast Junior College gridder.

Welch performed for Coach Jim Malone's Redskins in 1942.

It was Auburn's worst defeat since 1917, when Georgia Tech plastered the Tigers, 68 to 7. It also gave old time Alabama followers ample revenge for a 53-5 trimming at he hands of Auburn back in 1900.

Alabama's victory was no surprise, but the size of the score was many touchdowns above the two to three touchdown margin accorded the Tide by the experts.

Travis Tidwell, Auburn back who led the nation in yardage gained as a freshman in 1946, was injured in the first half, but he had not been able to get anything resembling a scoring drive under way before his injury.

Oddly enough, the Trojan team was frankly disappointed. Coach Jeff Cravath, however, who had promised that his boys would play a 60-minute battle, was hardly displeased.

Cravath paid especial tribute to Gay. "We had a victory, and his fine run took it away from us."

Racing Would Give Television Just a 'Taste' To Create Fans

By James A. Burchard

NEW YORK, Dec. 4—(NEA)—Television on the turf is here to stay.

Race Track bosses figure they can manipulate the situation to their advantage instead of dropping a financial decision to bars and bookies.

This was the theme song as representatives of 31 member tracks of the Thoroughbred Racing Associations gathered to discuss current problems. Nothing definite was decided, but television has nothing to worry about. The track owners want it. They just hope they can control it.

Alfred G. Vanderbilt, director of Belmont, Pimlico and Laurel provided the kep speech.

"Our experience with television is too slight to be positive," said Vanderbilt, "but it is too important to overlook. I think we should televise only the feature race or the pool room soon will be as interesting as the track. Television should be used strictly to produce new turf patrons, and the cameras should be leveled only on the more interesting aspects of the sport and the more interesting people."

Practically all present agreed.

The turf owners have only one fear. They wonder whether television will send potential customers to the neighborhood bar which has a television set and convenient bookie in attendance.

There or a bookie emporium fully equipped with the wonders of modern science. Vanderbilt well appreciates this possibility.

Long-Term Contracts

Vanderbilt thinks all tracks should enter into a long-term contract with television stations. In that way it will be insurance against the day television time is at a premium.

Opinions at the TRA confab were illuminating. Here are a few of them:

Spencer Drayton, president of the Thoroughbred Racing Protective Bureau: "Keep television to one or two races. That will whet interest without affecting attendance. In other words, give them one or two rounds of a fight without the finish. That won't be enough to keep them away from the track."

Judge James E. Dooley, TRA president: "Television gets racing into the public eye and makes new customers. We haven't had it at Narragansett yet, but we'll have it at the June meeting."

John D. Jackson, general manager of Arlington and Washington Park, Chicago; "Television, if used properly, will benefit racing. We tried it out in 1947. But the television people threw us over for baseball, just when our big events came up. So we had no television this year. Nothing has been decided for 1949."

Ed J. Brennan, general manager of Monmouth: "Another vote for television if it's not overdone. I agree with John B. Kelly of Atlantic City that it might be a boon to bookies if more than two races were televised."

Santa Anita Gives Cue

Despite all the palaver, nothing concrete was decided.

The turf chiefs answered questions as put forth by Bryan Field, general manager of Delaware Park, and representatives of those tracks with television agreed to send in written reports Field, however, need look no farther than the latest Santa Anita contracts.

Today, when an owner nominates a horse for a Santa Anita stake, he must agree in writing to appear on a television program. There's your answer. Pimlico, Laurel, Monmouth, Jamaica, Belmont and all other tracks dabbling in the television future can get their cue from the coast.

"But let's not be too hasty," cautioned Atlantic City's Jack Kelly.

"Let's keep it to one race or mostly two. Televising an entire program would be a boon to illegal betting and drive people to bars or bookies. We'll kill our own business.

"Luckily, people who go to poolrooms don't care much about pictures. They just want to know what horse won, which is a break for us."

seven points in front and kept ahead throughout.

It was a rough contest with 40 personal fouls being called.

The Owls took advantage of L. S. U.'s wild shooting and had things their own way.

Rice's 19-year-old sophomore forward, Joe McDermott, kept the Owl's attack clicking and took scoring honors with 19 points. He hit the basket for seven straight markers in the early minutes.

Dick Thompson and Bob Meador shared scoring laurels for the Tigers with 11 points each.

PARKER, CRONIN FEUD REACHING CLIMAX ON MAT

Jack Curtis And Bill Steddum Named To Assist In Scramble Here

The feud that flared up between Allen "Sailor" Parker, wrestler from Nashville, Tenn., and Referee Pat Cronin, former professional boxer of Jackson, Miss., in a semi-final mat show here last week will be given an airing in a tag team scramble here Tuesday night.

Promoter Gus Kallio said Jack Curtis, world's light heavyweight champion, and Bill Steddum, the jawbreaker from Waco, Tex., would also figure in the feature attraction that developed when Cronin challenged Parker for a settlement with boxing gloves or on the mat.

Cronin, bleeding at the mouth as the result of wounds suffered in a fistic riot that involved Cronin, Promoter Kallio, and Bill Barney at the conclusion of the Parker-Barney semi-final last Tuesday, appeared particularly anxious to get the settlement with fists, but Parker figured otherwise.

"I'll wrestle you anytime if you'll take me on in a tag team match," Parker said. "We'll choose our own partners."

In selecting Curtis, Cronin came up with a partner who only a few months ago was his feuding rival in just such a setup as that now developing between Cronin and Parker. On the previous occasion, however, it was Curtis challenging Cronin for a date with the gloves to erase a grievance held by the champ over the referee. Cronin accommodated and, for his acceptance, was knocked out in the fourth round.

Parker, in choosing Steddum, selected as his partner the battler who gave Don Serio, Baltimore, Md., a fractured jaw a few months ago at Jackson, Miss.

Advised that Steddum was Parker's partner, Cronin declared: "Steddum might be a jaw-breaker, but with Curtis in my corner I'm not worried. I think we can take care of ourselves. I know what to do with the average wrestler when it comes to fighting, and I've reason to know that in my corner I have a better than average wrestler who can take care of himself. Curtis can really hit. I ought to know."

A pair of introductory scrambles with Cronin meeting Parker or Steddum, and Curtis facing the battler Cronin fails to draw will open the show at 8 o'clock at Kallio's Walnut street arena.

FIVE TEAMS DOMINATE NEWSPAPER'S ALL-S. E. C.

ATLANTA, Dec. 4.—(AP)—Georgia, Tulane, Georgia Tech, Mississippi and Vanderbilt each landed two players and Florida one on the Atlanta Journal's All-Southeastern Conference football team announced tonight.

Sports Writer Guy Tiller reported that the only unanimous choice of 28 southern scribes making the selections was John Rauch, Georgia's quarterback.

In the backfield with Rauch are Florida Halfback Chuck Hunsinger, Tulane Fullback Eddie Price and Vanderbilt's Herb Rich.

Rich, Tiller said, barely nosed out Joe Geri, Georgia, and Shorty McWilliams, Mississippi State, for the fourth spot.

Bill Healy, Georgia Tech guard, and Barney Poole, Mississippi end, topped the line choices. Healy received 25 of 28 votes and Poole 21.

Rounding out the line are George Broadnax, Georgia Tech end; Porter Payne, Georgia, and Paul Lea, Tulane, tackles; Jimmy Crawford, Mississippi guard, and John Clark, Vanderbilt center.

Voting in the poll were four sports writers from each state in the conference.

SOUTHEASTERN LIONS CHECK BADGERS, 49-44

HAMMOND, La., Dec. 4.—(AP)—Southeastern Louisiana College paced by Harold Owens, defeated Spring Hill College of Mobile, Ala., 49-44, in a Gulf State Conference basketball game here tonight.

The S. L. C. Lions, after taking an early lead were pressed hard by the Badgers who tied the home teams three times in the first half, 13-13, 15-15 and 19-19.

The shooting of Owens, who scored 19 points in the first half, led Southeastern to a 28-24 halftime lead.

In the second half, Spring Hill tied the Lions only twice—32-32 and 41-41. With three minutes to go and the score deadlocked at 41-41, Southeastern's Aubrey Cole and Lauin Meador scored the eight points to give the Lions the victory.

Owens, who tallied 21 points, was top scorer for the Lions. Buddy Lauten racked up 12 for the Badgers.

ALVIN DARK GETS SCRIBES' VOTE AS 'ROOKIE OF YEAR'

Stanky Gets Assist For Help To Brave Freshman; Bearden Second

NEW YORK, Dec. 4.—(AP)—The Baseball Writers Association picked Alvin Dark of the Boston Braves as the rookie of the year today. And for the second straight season Eddie Stanky rated an assist.

Dark received 27 of a possible 48 votes. Gene Bearden, pitching sensation of the world champion Cleveland Indians, was second with eight votes.

This is the second year the writers have named a rookie of the year and each time it has been a fellow who played alongside Stanky. Last season the winner was Jackie Robinson of the Brooklyn Dodgers.

The Braves knew they had a good shortstop prospect in Dark, a 25-year-old Louisiana boy. But they also knew they needed an experienced second baseman to show him the ropes.

So Stanky was pried off the Dodgers and stuck into the Braves' infield. Dark, who skipped all the lower minor leagues and who had played only two seasons of organized ball, learned quickly. By the time Stanky was forced out of the lineup with a fractured ankle, the rookie was able to take care of himself.

Breaking into the regular lineup in late June, Dark immediately went on a hitting spree. He connected safely in 23 straight games, finally winding up with a .324 average for the season.

THE NATION TODAY By JAMES MARLOW

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—(AP)—Getting ready for President Truman's inauguration, January 20, has Washington hopping around like a man with firecrackers in his ears.

Those running the show are in a fast spin trying to take care of the details. They want to make it the biggest inauguration in American history. They probably will, unless it rains or snows.

They figure about 750,000 people will see the inauguration itself or the parade that follows, either from grandstand seats or standing on the curb. The cost probably will hit around $300,000.

Other millions of people around the country will follow it on their radios or over television. It will be the first inauguration ever televised. And the whole place will swarm with newspaper reporters.

But since the show is still about seven weeks away, most of the details still have to be filled in.

Around noon on January 20 Mr. Truman will be sworn in for his first full term in office by Chief Justice Vinson of the United States supreme court. The president's term begins that day.

He will take this oath, already set down in the Constitution for all presidents:

"I do solemnly swear (or affirm) that I will faithfully execute the office of president of the United States and will, to the best of my ability, preserve, protect and defend the Constitution of the United States."

Then Senator Alben W. Barkley, of Kentucky, will take the oath as vice-president. It's not known at this point who'll administer the oath to him.

All this will take place on the east side of the capitol, where for months carpenters have been building about 14,000 wooden seats in the open air, facing the building.

The people who get those seats—free—will be diplomats, members of the supreme court, congressmen and senators, members of the president's cabinet, and others, all by invitation.

After he takes the oath, the president will deliver his inaugural address. Then he and the vice-president will scoot off to lunch.

So much for what happens at the capitol. All the arrangements there are in the hands of a special congressional committee. Congress this year voted money to take care of those expenses.

Then an inaugural committee—not connected with congress—takes over. A parade will start at the capitol and wind down through Pennsylvania avenue until it passes the White House a mile away.

This parade will last two or three hours and will be full of soldiers, sailors, marines, West Point and Annapolis cadets, army bands, navy bands, college bands, the governors of states and floats representing the various states.

All this will pass the massed thousands standing along the line of march and other thousands who have been able to buy seats in the wooden grandstands built along the way.

In front of the White House, in a block-long grandstand, President Truman will review the parade, surrounded by friends and guests.

The business people of Washington are putting up the money to build the stands along the line of march. Tickets for seats in them cost from $2 to $10 or more.

(If you're thinking of coming here and want such a seat, send your application to the inaugural committee, room 166, Tariff building, 7th and E streets, northwest, Washington, D. C.)

FORTIER UPSETS ISTROUMA IN 'AA' TITLE SCRAMBLE

Tarpons Come From Behind To Squeeze Past Indians, 14 To 13

BATON ROUGE, Dec. 4.—(AP)—Fortier of New Orleans eked past the Istrouma Indians here tonight to capture the south Louisiana Class AA championship by a single point, 14-13.

A record crowd of 19,000, the largest ever to see a prep contest here, watched the two teams battle on even terms with Istrouma very much in the ball game right up to the final whistle.

The Tarpons spotted the Indians two touchdowns in the first half, then got one back to trail at intermission by 13-7.

A blocked punt early in the third quarter tied the score. Seconds later the trustworthy toe of Louis Cruz booted the ball accurately between the uprights for the leading and winning point.

Both Istrouma scores cane on passes from Lester Landry to Marvin Taber. The first, in the opening period, was good for 14 yards and the second accounted for 49 yards.

Ridley Boudreaux sparked a drive from the Istrouma 44 to paydirt for the first Fortier touchdown, plunging over from the eight to score. After holding Istrouma on downs to open the second half, Al Robelot blocked Lester Landry's punt attempt on the Istrouma 27 and recovered over the goal line for the marker.

Cliff Efferson kicked the extra point for Istrouma while Cruz converted both for the winners.

Fortier supporters were able to achieve something not done before this year in L. S. U.'s Tiger Stadium. After the game they dismantled both goal posts and carted them off to New Orleans. The Fortier band played taps to the accompaniment of splintering wood and hysterical cheers from the New Orleans side. L. S. U. opponents have been stymied in similar attempts by the University R. O. T. C. acting as field police.

WINNSBORO HAVING JITTERS AGAIN

WINNSBORO, La., Dec. 4.—(Special)—The feelings of the residents of Winnsboro, who have been jittery, since the double murder of Mr. and Mrs. Paola on October 31, have definately not improved during the past two weeks, due to the fact that a thief or thiefs have broken into and robbed two business houses within the last two weeks. These robberies as well as the murder are still unsolved.

Jack Carpenter's Grocery Store was entered and approximately six dollars in cash and an undetermined amount of cigarettes were taken.

Entrance to the building was gained through an opening used in the summertime for a fan. The canvas covering was removed from the hole, the fan pushed aside and the party or parties entered through the small opening.

Then during the past week end, the Winnsboro Feed and Seed Store was entered. In this store, the thief or thieves broke open and badly damaged a $300 cash register, securing approximately $30 in cash. Entrance to this building was gained by breaking a window facing the narrow alley between the Dye Hardware lumber shed and the Winnsboro Feed and Seed Store. According to T. C. Hatfield, owner of the store, a fingerprint expert was called from Monroe, and he obtained several clear prints.

ARKANSAS MAN ADMITS SLAYING OWN SISTER

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 4.—(AP)—Police Supt. A. A. Watters said George E. Coleman, 26, admitted strangling his 32-year-old sister in her French quarter apartment today.

Watters said Coleman, booked earlier on a charge of murder, said in a statement that he killed Mrs. Naomi Whitney during an argument. Her nude body was found on a divan with a rope tight about her neck.

Assistant Coroner Philip Montelepre called the death a homicide by strangulation.

The police superintendent said a friend of Mrs. Whitney told him that Mrs. Whitney was the mother of a 10-year-old girl who lived with her grandmother in Memphis. He gave these details:

Coleman related he came here yesterday from Ash Flat, Ark., and spent the evening with his sister.

Coleman told several conflicting stories, one that he hid behind a door in his sister's room while a man attacked her.

The apartment showed signs of a fight. The door was padlocked from the outside when police arrived.

SPY HUNTS MAY BE OPENED SOON

Unearthing Of New Evidence May Prompt Committee To Renew Hearings

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—(AP)—New hearings to dig into fresh reports of a pre-war Red spy ring were ordered today by the house un-American activities committee. The hearings will begin Tuesday afternoon.

The committee said it now knows who slipped out the national secrets which were found in a hollowed-out pumpkin on the Maryland farm of an admitted former Communist courier.

Evidence identifying the person who took the documents will be brought out at the hearings, Robert E. Stripling, the committee's chief investigator, promised.

Before announcing reopening of the Investigation, which produced sensational evidence last summer, Stripling said that some "very important" new documents have been turned up.

He said these were separate from the microfilmed copies of secret government material—chiefly from the statestate department—which were found Thursday in a pumpin on Whittaker Chambers' farm near Westminister, Md. Chambers has testified that he was a pre-war member of the Communist underground, but since has renounced communism. At present he is a senior editor on Time magazine.

Stripling said Chambers will be one of the witnesses at the new series of hearings. Subpoenas have been issued for the appearance of an unspecified number of other witnesses, including some handwriting experts and other technicians.

Also, the committee gave permission to two federal law enforcement agents to study the new documentary evidence, including enlarged prints of the microfilmed documents found on Chambers' farm. George Morris Fay, U. S. attorney for the District of Columbia, and R. P. Wharty, an official of the department of justice's criminal division, were authorized to look them over.

Stripling made it clear that the No. 1 aim of the committee would be to present evidence showing who gave the secrets to Chambers, who said he quit the Reds in 1938.

Stripling told reporters:

"The purpose is to bring to a conclusion the hearings the committee has had in progress several months on the Hiss-Chambers matters and on espionage in the federal government."

The man named Hiss to whom he referred is Alger Hiss, former state department official who now is president of the Carnegie Endowment for World Peace.

In last summer's hearings, Chambers swore that Hiss was a pre-war member of a "Communist apparatus" which operated in Washington. Hiss said Chambers lied. Chambers, however, repeated his accusation in a radio broadcast, where he did not have the immunity granted witnesses in congressional hearings, and Hiss sued him for $75,000 damages. The suit is pending in Baltimore district court.

Stripling said the committee has served a subpoena on Richard F. Cleveland of Baltimore, Chambers' lawyer, calling on him to produce certain documents and sworn statements taken in connection with the libel action.

Representative Mundt (R.-S. D.), now in South Dakota, undertook to round up the members of the un-American activities committee for the new hearings. The time element is important to Mundt; he takes office as a member of the senate next month.

Meanwhile, he radioed Representative Nixon (R.-Calif.), who is en route to Panama, requesting him to hurry back to Washington as soon as possible. Nixon replied that he would fly back as soon as his ship docks Tuesday, if he cannot arrange earlier accommodations. Nixon handled most of the details of the earlier investigations into reported Communist spying.

The microfilms found in Chambers' pumpkin were encased in metal tubes. Stripling said they didn't appear to have been in the pumpkin long. The Baltimore News-Post quoted Chambers as saying he had hidden them in the pumpkin so that Communists wouldn't be likely to find them if they visited his farm house when he was gone. The newspaper also said that Chambers declared the microfilms previously had been secreted in Brooklyn, N. Y., and never reached Russian hands.

The state department so far has had no comment on the developments. Officials there said they hadn't seen the documents.

Mundt said in a statement through his office last night that the microfilms provide "definite proof" of the existence of "one of the most extensive espionage rings in the history of the United States." He said there is no doubt that "secret documents of direct significance to our national security were fed out of the state department by a member of the Communist underground to Whittaker Chambers."

He said U. S. agents had been hunting the microfilms for 10 years, and that they are now under 24-hours-a-day guard.

MAN, WOMAN ARE HELD ON IMMORALITY CHARGE

H. L. Marlow, 40, of 304 South Fourth street and Lillia V. Nelson, 33, of Winnfield, were arrested late last night by Monroe police on immorality charges, officers said.

Marlow was charged with using a room for prostitution or assignation and was being held in default of a $100 bond. The woman was charged with using a room for prostitution or assignation and vagrancy. She was being held on a $200 bond. They were arrested in a local hotel, officers said.

MANGLED PALESTINE PLAN IS FINALLY APPROVED BY GROUP

Mixture Of British, American Proposals May Fail To Get Final Okay

By Francis W. Carpenter

PARIS, Dec. 4. — (AP) — A mangled British-American plan for a Palestine conciliation commission was approved today by the United Nations political committee but final U. N. assembly approval was doubtful.

The vote in the 58-member committee was 25 to 21 for the drastically amended resolution originally introduced by Britain and supported by the United States. Nine countries abstained and three were absent.

Only a simple majority was required for committee approval, but a two-thirds majority of those present and voting is necessary in the assembly, where the same 58 nations are represented.

The Soviet bloc, with 6 votes, was part of the 21-nation minority which voted against the final draft. This group, including the Arab bloc, is in a position to kill the commission proposal when the resolution comes up in the assembly early next week.

One of Russia's main objections was to the arrangements for setting up the three-nation conciliation commission. She wants a stronger voice in selecting the three countries.

The Arabs said one of their reasons for opposing the resolution is because it mentions the 1947 partition plan. They said they are opposed to any plan which even indirectly refers to the partition of Palestine and recognition of Israel.

There still is a possibility of a compromise which would remove Soviet objections and swing the Russian bloc votes. This would result in a vote of 31 to 15 for the resolution, if all other delegates stand pat.

If the assembly fails to approve the resolution, the situation in effect would remain as it was before the assembly took up the Palestine question at this session.

The acting U. N. mediator, Dr. Ralph Bunche, would continue his duties, under resolutions previously adopted by the assembly and the security council. These measures also include the partition plan approved by the assembly 33 to 13 November 29, 1947.

Here in brief are the main provisions of the resolution—shot through with amendments—approved today:

1. A conciliation commission of three members would be established.

2. This commission, whose members are to be chosen by the five big powers, would take over the job of the U. N. mediator. Also, if the security council required, it would take over the U. N. truce observation machinery in Palestine.

3. It would assist Arabs and Jews to achieve a final settlement of all outstanding questions between them.

4. The conciliation commission would draw up for the 1949 general assembly detailed plans for a permanent international regime for Jerusalem which would provide maximum local autonomy for distinctive groups in the international zone.

5. It would ask that refugees, wishing to return to their homes and live at peace with their neighbors, be allowed to come back. The commission would facilitate their return.

6. The commission's headquarters would be in Jerusalem and the U. N. would provide a limited number of guards for its protection.

The political committee beat down repeated Australian attempts to make the 1947 partition plan the starting point for negotiations on boundaries and political problems.

It also knocked out of the original British draft:

1. That the conciliation commission consider both the 1947 partition scheme and the Bernadotte plan in working out Israel's boundaries. This eliminated the recommendation of Count Folke Bernadotte, slain mediator, that the Negev desert be taken from Israel in return for western Galilee. The Jews hold both the Negev and Galilee now.

2. A section endorsing Bernadotte's recommendations which apparently would have given Arab Palestine to Trans-Jordan.

The delegates thus left the commission without specific directives on boundaries. Apparently the field is wide open for the commission to write its own ticket.

The Russians declared the final resolution still contains things which they do not like.

Most of all, they objected to the method for setting up the conciliation commission. They want its three members selected by the security council where the veto applies, instead of by a committee of the five big powers —Britain, France, the United States, Russia and China—as the present draft provides.

The Russians also do not like the provision for Haifa port and Lydda airport, both in Jewish hands, to be made free, nor the provisions concerning the return of Arab refugees to their homes.

The committee, after approving the British resolution, defeated a Soviet proposal calling for the withdrawal of all foreign (Arab) troops and foreign military personnel (U. N. military observers) from Palestine. The vote was 33 to 7 against the Soviet mesaure, with eight abstentions. Guatemala joined the six Soviet bloc countries in the minority.

The delegates voted 26 to 14, with eight abstentions, against a Syrian proposal to establish a commission to prepare a plan for a single Palestine state along federal lines. A second Syrian resolution called for a ruling from the international court of justice as to whether the assembly would partition Palestine without the consent of the majority of Palestine's population. This was defeated by a 21 to 21 tie vote, with four abstentions.

This completed the political committee action on the Palestine problem. The chairman announced the committee would take up the Korean question Monday.

British Representative Harold Beeley said his government wished to reserve its position on the order of business for next week. Beeley said Britain may wish to discuss the question of Italian colonies ahead of the Korean problem.

Elsewhere in the U. N.:

1. The assembly's No. 2 political committee adopted a resolution calling upon the big powers to use the veto more sparingly in the security council and to consult among themselves "whenever feasible" on important decisions. Only the Soviet bloc voted against the proposal sponsored by the United States, Britain, France and China.

2. The assembly's 14-member steering committee voted 8 to 4 to adjourn the present assembly session during the night of Dec. 11-12. It rejected 6 to 5 a British proposal for the assembly to continue in session in Europe until it completed all business before it. British Minister of State Hector McNeil said he would carry his fight for an extended session to the assembly floor next week. The steering committee will meet tomorrow at 4 p. m. (10 a. m., EST) to decide what to do about the remaining schedule of work. The committee's decisions must be approved by the full assembly.

KIDNAPPING CHARGED IN PATIENT'S CASE

CLINTON, La., Dec. 4.—(AP)—The taking of a woman patient from the East Louisiana Hospital for the Insane to Gloster, Miss., has resulted in the filing of a charge of aggravated kidnapping against Lavond "Tootie" Smith, 50, Sheriff N. L. Palmer said today.

Palmer said Smith, a gravel pit worker of Jackson, La., attended a dance at the hospital in Jackson Nov. 24 and that night took the young woman to Gloster. The sheriff said Smith returned to Jackson next day, leaving her in a hotel, but went back to Gloster Nov. 27. He was arrested by police who came to investigate a disturbance at the hotel.

The sheriff said he filed an affidavit yesterday charging Smith with aggravated kidnapping. Smith was taken to the East Baton Rouge parish jail in Baton Rouge.

Lacy Richardson, business manager of the hospital, said the patient was reported missing Nov. 24 and the usual notice was sent to authorities in nearby parishes and Mississippi counties.

The sheriff of Amite county, Miss., advised the hospital Nov. 28 that the patient was in Gloster and her return was arranged, Richardson said.

Richardson said the federal bureau of investigation had been asked to investigate the case, but the field office in New Orleans had "no comment."

FIVE MEN JAILED IN NEGRO'S DEATH

LYONS, Ga., Dec. 4. — (AP) — Five white men were arrested today and held under suspicion of murder in the ambush slaying of a Negro, Robert Mallard, November 20.

Mallard was slain as he neared his home, 18 miles southeast of Lyons. His widow, Amy James Mallard, said he was killed by five or six robed but unmasked white men.

The arrests were announced by Capt. Delmar Jones of the Georgia bureau of investigation. They came after Superior Court Judge Robert H. Humphrey called the Toombs grand jury into special session at 10 a. m., Friday to probe the Mallard murder.

Captain Jones identified those arrested as: J. Roderick Clifton, 36; William Lamar Howell, 4; James Spivey, 24; Herschel Sikes, 34, and Barney Sikes, 34, all of Lyons.

The five denied any connection with the Negro's death. None apparently was surprised by the investigator's action. Each, accompanied by relatives, arrived at the courthouse during the afternoon and milled about in the corridors.

T. Ross Sharp of Lyons, attorney retained by the accused, issued a statement declaring "we want and invite an investigation by the grand jury. We will not bring habeas corpus proceedings or ask for bail."

JEWS FIGHT AMONG SELVES IN ROMANIA

BUCHAREST, Romania, Dec. 4—(AP) —A three-day truce called at noon today halted, at least temporarily, a week-long struggle between Zionists and anti-Zionist left-wing Jews in Romania.

The left-wing Democratic Jewish committee has been trying unsuccessfully to take over Zionist organizations in Romania.

The truce, ordered unofficially by high Romanian authorities, has ended incidents which were becoming increasingly serious. In some places Zionists have reoccupied their clubs, barricading themselves with enough supplies to last five days.

The trouble began when the Democratic committee, which supports Romania's Communist government, occupied these Zionist clubs.

This morning about half the clubs were again in the possession of Zionist organizations. Headquarters of Mishmar, left-wing Zionist group which is part of the Democratic committee, has not been affected. Mishmar had acted in solidarity with other Zionist groups, as had Ichud, the Jewish labor party.

The Jewish imigration office, which is the Jewish agency's branch in Bucharest and is considered as an unofficial Israeli consulate, has been turned back to its rightful occupants. No papers were missing, and the office has resumed its activities.

MAN RECOVERS SIGHT LOST 18 YEARS AGO

ROCKFORD, Ill., Dec. 4.— (AP) — Herb Ozburn, 63, says that in the last three weeks he has begun to regain the sight he lost 18 years ago and is discovering this is an amazing colorful world.

"The thing I notice most is the loudness of the colors," Ozburn, said yesterday in his small general store in suburban Loves Park.

"The clothing is amazing—checks, plaids and stripes. People are running around in things we wouldn't have dared wear in 1930."

He said he has difficulty distinguishing teen-age girls from boys, adding: "I finally realized it was the clothes. They both wear the same things.

"And the women's lips. They jump out at you. That bright red. The buildings all look different, too. They have such big windows, and the new ones are low and flat and much smaller than they used to be."

Ozburn smiled at his wife, Charlotte, who also is 63. "Charlotte looks wonderful," he said. "I expected her to look much older than she does."

Ozburn, formerly a painter and interior decorator, said his sight began to fail when he was 45 and subsequently he became totally blind. He said a physician told him cataracts were forming in his eyes but he rejected his advise of surgery. Three weeks ago he said he realized he had seen the mustache of a passer-by on the street. The next day, he said, he could make out large letters on a signboard and now he can distinguish features of his family and friends. Mrs. Ozburn said only his right eye is recovering.

"It's just a miracle," Ozburn said. "I'm going to celebrate by painting my house next summer."

In Chicago medical authorities declined to comment in the absence of a full history of the case.

ATHLETE IS KILLED IN 5-WAY COLLISION

CORINTH, Miss., Dec. 4.—(AP)—State Highway Patrolman W. Y. Klyce said a 17-year-old Rienza, Miss., youth was killed and five others injured in an accident involving five vehicles on U. S. highway 45 near here last night.

Klyce identified the dead youth as Billy Green, a star basketball player and singer at the Rienza High School.

He said one car, three trucks and a chartered bus carrying a symphony orchestra from New York to New Orleans, were involved in the crash. He did not know the name of the orchestra.

Those hurt were Donald Gray, Grady Richardson, both of Rienza, Clifford Calvery and Alvis Booth of Burnsville and Mrs. Bill Carthwright of Bonneville, the patrolman said.

He said none of the persons aboard the chartered bus were injured.

Klyce said the accident occurred about 6 p. m. yesterday when the car driven by young Green crashed into the parked truck of William J. Ferguson of Tupelo, and glanced off, side-swiping two pickup trucks coming from the opposite direction. He said the bus ran into the pileup.

Booth is hospitalized at Booneville with a fractured arm, and possible skull and spine injuries, Klyce said.

Mrs. Cartwright, Gray and Richardson suffered minor injuries.

TURKEY BRINGS MAN $30.50 PER POUND

MODESTO, Calif., Dec. 4—(AP)—A turkey sold for $30.50 a pound here.

It wasn't an ordinary bird. Armour and Company paid $732 yesterday for the grand champion of the Far West Turkey Show—A 24 pound hen grown by Elwood Swanson of Turlock, Calif.

Kraft Foods paid $440.75 for the reserve champion—A 41 pound tom also grown by Swanson. The seven top dressed birds brought a total of $1,895.88.

The heaviest bird wasn't sold. The 45 ½ pound tom was presented to Governor Earl Warren for his Christmas dinner table by H. H. Black, Paso Robles breeder.

Louisiana Oil And Gas News

OILERS LOCATE THREE NEW PRODUCERS IN TWO PARISHES

Huenefeld No. 1 In Ouachita Is Quit By Drillers; New Wells Are Found In Richland And LaSalle Parishes

Drillers in Richland and LaSalle parishes last week uncovered three new producers, abandoned an old well in Ouachita parish and sited new locations in three other parishes, according to the Louisiana department of conservation's weekly report revealed here yesterday.

Of the two new yielders found in Richland parish, the American Liberty Oil Company's C. Fuller No. 1 in 4-16-8E of the Big Creek field, was the top producer with 143 barrels a day. The new well was reached at a total depth of 3,328 feet.

The other Richland parish producer discovered last week was the Gulf Refining Company, Lee Donnell No. 4 in 19-17-9E of the Delhi field. Reached at 3,200 feet, the new well produces 13 barrels daily.

Top producer of the week was the Placid Oil Company's St. of La. Catahoula Lake No. 1 in 6-6-4E of the Catahoula Lake field in LaSalle parish. Yielding 280 barrels daily, the No. 1 was brought in at 4,574 feet.

The V. V. Bull's Huenefeld No. 1 in 29-18-5E of Ouachita parish, was plugged and abandoned at 4,926 feet.

New Locations

Caldwell parish: Sohio Petroleum Company's LaSalle Company's No. B-1 in 33-14-5E.

LaSalle parish: Trout Creek field: H. W. Todd Oil Company's Todd-Pipes No. 2 in 18-8-3E.

Union parish, Wildcat field: C. M. Bagley's Gatson No. 1 in 11-23-1W. Truxno field: Midstates Oil Corporation's Lyons and Prentiss, et al, Forst Lumber Industries No. 5 in 19-23-1E. Monroe gas field: The Interstate National Gas Co., Inc. Fee Gas No. 215 of 15-20-1E.

OIL COMMITTEE TO GET NEW CHAIRMEN

Newcomers Will Serve On Oil Industry Information Committee For One Year

BOSTON, Mass., Dec. 4—The names of six state chairmen of the Oil Industry Information Committee in New England, who will serve until November, 1949, were announced by Willard W. Wright, chairman of the O. I. I. C. for the New England district. The chairman and the state committees they will head, are:

F. B. McConnell, district manager for the Gulf Oil Corp., Providence, Rhode Island, has been chosen chairman of the O. I. I. C. of Rhode Island, succeeding C. A. Sheehan, sales manager of the Socony-Vacuum Company, of Providence. Mr. McConnell has been vice-chairman in charge of industry participation for the committee in Rhode Island.

James L. McIntyre, president of the Laurel Oil Co., has been chosen chairman of the committee for Connecticut, succeeding Carl E. Small, Tide Water Associated Oil Co., of New London, Conn. Mr. McIntyre has been serving as district vice-chairman of the committee in charge of speakers.

Frank J. Meade, of Burlington, Vermont, district representative of The Texas Co., has been chosen chairman of the committee for Vermont, succeeding George H. Stuart, of Barre, Vermont, district manager of the Esso Standard Oil Co. Mr. Meade has been Burlington area leader of the information program.

Meldon F. Rice, of Goffstown, New Hampshire, district manager for the Shell Oil Co., has been chosen chairman of the O. I. I. C. of New Hampshire, succeeding Harold H. Eubank, of The Texas Co. Mr. Rice has been vice-chairman in charge of speakers for the industry's program in New Hampshire.

Raeburn B. Smith, district representative of the Gulf Oil Corp., of Bangor, Maine, will continue to serve as chairman of the O. I. I. C. of Maine. Although it is customary to rotate the position of state chairman, Mr. Smith has not served a full year as chairman in Maine.

Thomas F. Walsh, assistant manager of sales for The Texas Co. in New England has been chosen chairman of the O. I. I. C. of Massachusetts, succeeding E. J. Pease, manager of industrial sales for the Sun Oil Co.

Detailed plans for the operation of the oil information program during 1949 will be completed shortly, Mr. Wright said. A continuation of the program, on as broad a basis as for 1948, has already been decided.

The program is designed to supply accurate information regarding the oil industry and its contributions to human progress.

GAS SHIPMENTS TO EAST IS INCREASED

Tennessee Company Says Deliveries Almost Doubled Since First Of This Year

HOUSTON, Tex., Dec. 4.—(AP)—The Tennessee Gas Transmission Company announced that its natural gas deliveries to the east have been almost doubled since the first of this year, and that its 1948 construction program has been completed ahead of schedule.

President Gardiner Symonds said the system is now delivering in excess of 605-million cubic feet daily, and that the shortage of gas in the Appalachian area should be somewhat alleviated this winter. President Symonds explained that accelerated deliveries of pipe were responsible for the rapid completion of a major portion of the second parallel line from south Texas to West Virginia. These deliveries were made possible mainly by trade-out arrangements with other pipe lines. He also paid particular tribute to the loyalty and hard work of the Tennessee gas organization in completing this work in time to meet the winter demands of the delivery areas.

Additional facilities put in service during 1948 included approximately 710 miles of main pipe line loops and 83 miles of lateral line to the Carthage field in east Texas, and approximately 74,000 additional compressor horsepower in existing compressor stations. The company now has in operation about 2,500 miles of large diameter pipe and 15 compressor stations with the aggregate of approximately 217,000 compressor horsepower.

The Tennessee Gas Transmission Company has authority from the federal power commission to further increase its capacity to 660 million cubic feet daily and work on this project will be continued in 1949.

U. S. CRUDE OIL OUTPUT DECREASES

Drop In Kansas' Production; North La. Downs Yield 800 Barrels

TULSA, Okla., Dec. 4.—(AP)—The nation's crude oil production dropped during the week ended November 27 to a daily average of 5,620,780 barrels, the Oil and Gas Journal reported today.

This figure was 35,855 barrels lower than the previous week's all-time daily high, said the Journal, which called the decline "season."

A drop in Kansas' production accounted for most of the decrease. The state's average was down 24,200 barrels to 293,400. Wyoming, off 13,600 barrels to 155,490, was another major factor in the decline.

Other areas where output dropped were Montana, down 4,640 barrels to 24,280; Louisiana, down 800 in the northern section to 492,450; the eastern area, 150 to 62,950; Alabama, 50 to 1,300; Arkansas, 450 to 81,050, and California, 350 to 959,750.

Major gains were reported in the following states:

Michigan, up 3,100 barrels to 48,300; Mississippi, up 2,650 to 130,200; Oklahoma, 1,500 to 442,400; Colorado, 460 to 49,430.

The Colorado figure was that state's sixth all-year high and the second straight time this year it has set an all-time record.

Florida had an increase of 75 barrels to 775, Illinois was up 100 to 179,600, Indiana gained 200 to 26,200 and Kentucky increased 300 to 24,400.

Production was unchanged in Texas, 2,523,850 barrels; New Mexico, 134,605, and Nebraska, 350.

The daily averages:

	Nov. 27 Crude Oil	B of M Nov. Demand	Nov. 20 Crude Oil
Louisiana	492,450	500,000	492,250
North Louisiana	113,800		114,600
South Louisiana	378,650		378,650
Mississippi	130,200	131,000	127,550

COMMISSIONER DIGBY FAVORS 40-ACRE RULE

BATON ROUGE, La., Dec. 4.—(AP)—Commissioner of Conservation S. L. Digby expressed himself informally in favor of a 40-acre spacing rule for the 8,200-foot sand recently discovered in the University field of East Baton Rouge parish.

The commissioner gave his opinion at a hearing on regulations to govern drilling to the new formation. A formal order will be issued later.

At the hearing, William G. Blackwell, geologist appearing for the Bank Head Oil interests, testified that he did not believe more than 20 acres of the sand could efficiently be drained from one well. But Jack Harang, geologist for the William G. Helis interests, expressed the view that the new sands were similar to deeper ones in the same area, and would permit 401 acre spacing.

Thirty-five million Americans have no access to public libraries.

GULF CHANNELS TO BE MAINTAINED

Offshore Oil Drillers Told Channels Must Be Kept Open For Coastwise Shipping

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 4—(AP)—Offshore oil drillers were told Thursday that reasonable channels must be maintained for coastwise shipping in the Gulf of Mexico.

The statement came from Col. L. B. Wilby at a meeting of oilmen before a three-member board from National Coast Guard Headquarters. It was the first meeting of its kind among oil operators, the coast guard and army engineers.

Wilby, representing Col. John Hardin, New Orleans district army engineer chief, showed the oil operators a chart listing each drilling installation in the gulf. From each installation a shaded area or route was drawn to a shore location. The routes to the oil platforms were shown to be criss-crossing shipping lanes along the entire Louisiana coast, extending out as much as 30 miles.

Reasonable channels for coastwise shipping will have to be kept open, Wilby said, "because obviously a battleship or ocean liner cannot be dodging an oil platform every 200 yards. We hope to resolve the difficulties without injury to either side."

Wilby added that public hearings will be held in a few months on the question of access routes to deep water drilling locations.

Oil interests promised to cooperate with regulations but asked especially that for relaxation of the usual marine safety rules for their limited marine operations. They failed to reveal much of their plans for gulf development.

Frank Lindeman, Jr., chairman of the newly-formed offshore operators' committee, representing the Stanolind Oil and Gas Company of Houston, Texas, was asked by Capt. H. Peterson of the coast guard for a description of expected developments in the tideland tracts in five years. Lindeman declined to make estimates, but said "the surface has been scratched."

Peterson heads the coast guard division of navigation aids. He said the coast guard's chief concern is additional aids to navigation, marine inspections and rescue operations. He said information on such requirements is needed two years in advance for budget estimates.

Thomas Pennington of the Humble Oil and Refining Company, Houston, said present problems of offshore operators include the standardization of signals, licensing of men familiar with local waters to operate oil company craft, classification of vessels for carrying oil workers and supplies as passenger or work boats, and excessive safety equipment required on the boats.

SUGGESTS GULF SHIP LANES BE MOVED OUT

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 4.—(AP)—A suggestion was made here Friday to shove steamship lanes further out in order to avoid new offshore oil developments.

The proposal came as shipping and oil interests, coast guard officials and army engineers put their heads together to try to solve navigation problems cause by the oil rigs.

The offshore oil platforms exist in an area belt roughly 15 miles wide off the Louisiana coast.

Shipping spokesmen indicated willingness to cooperate with the oil interests in seeking solutions to their problems, but insisted that the oil platforms be provided with correct navigation warning devices.

Col. L. B. Wilby of the New Orleans district, army engineers, said his group is not trying to hold back offshore oil developments. But he said construction of permanent structures that will unduly interfere with navigation will not be permitted.

Speaking for the shipping group, Capt. A. K. Johnson of Lykes Brothers Steamship Company, Inc., Galveston, Tex., said the main issue is to establish shipping lanes.

Colonel Wilby requested marine groups to designate individuals to work with the engineers in forming a plan for the offshore areas.

DELAY SENTENCING OF WOMAN IN CASE

FERRIDAY, La., Dec. 4.—(Special)—Sentence will not be passed on Mrs. Corinne King Willson, who was convicted of manslaughter here Nov. 29, until Dec. 11, according to presiding Judge Vincent M. Mouser of Columbia.

Mrs. Willson was tried in connection with the shotgun slaying of her husband, J. Riley Willson, 38-year-old Concordia parish planter and stockman. The slaying occurred June 8.

Judge Mouser presided after Judge Jesse C. McGee of Harrisonburg, excused himself on grounds that he was serving as district attorney at the time the crime was committed and asked that another judge be named to hear the evidence in the case.

In the preliminary hearing and during her recent trial, Mrs. Willson entered a plea of self defense. She had been charged with murder and had been denied bond at the preliminary hearing. The state did not seek capital punishment in its statement before the court.

SCHOOL BOARD FACES 2 ISSUES

Hot Lunches And Teacher Salary Questions Before State Body

By Edmond LeBreton

BATON ROUGE, La., Dec. 4.—(AP)—The state board of education will have two of the hottest problems of the state government before it Monday when it meets in New Orleans.

The questions are:

Shall the board make it a policy that hot school lunches be served free at all schools receiving state funds for the purpose?

How can the $8,000,000 special fund for guaranteeing a minimum salary scale for teachers be distributed as planned when a validating constitutional amendment was defeated at the polls?

Several other divisions of the state government have wrinkled their brows over these issues, both of which have to do with important parts of the governor's program, but it appears that the board must make the fundamental decisions. It may do so at Monday's meeting, or it may defer action until the three new elected members take their seats next month.

Only the board, Superintendent of Education S. M. Jackson said in an interview a few days ago, can set policy as to school lunches. The state, with federal aid has provided an allocation to schools based on the number of lunches served. The amount runs up to 22 cents per meal for the top-grade lunch, with milk. Some schools contend they cannot afford to serve the meals on this amount and are collecting a small service charge from pupils.

Jackson said, however, that two-thirds or more of the parishes have been able to make ends meet on the allotment and that there is no reason why the others cannot do so.

He added that it was clearly the intent of the legislature that the meals be served free, but that only the board could make this a matter of state policy.

Plans for distributing the $8,000,000 teachers' salary guarantee fund to the parishes on the basis of their needs, as estimated by the department of education and local officials, have run up against a constitutional barrier. The constitution requires that the public school fund be distributed three-fourths on the basis of children of school age in each parish, one-fourth as "equalization," or, in general, according to need in each parish.

The amendment which would have exempted the $8,000,000 from this requirement failed at the polls.

New Orleans School Superintendent Lionel Bourgeois already had challenged the proposed distribution, which left New Orleans out of participation in the fund.

After the adverse vote on the amendment, State Treasurer A. P. Tugwell ruled that he could not honor warrants drawn on the basis of the proposed distribution, since it violated the constitution.

But the board of education, he said, had a right to withdraw the fund in a lump if it wished. Then whatever distribution it made of the fund would be its own responsibility. The board has not yet made a decision.

The possibility of a special session of the legislature to untangle the school fund situation was discussed for a time, but state officials now seem agreed that there is nothing the legislature could do that would not run up against the same constitutional block.

In any case, the prospect of a legislative session in the next few weeks seems dim in the light of Gov. Earl K. Long's statement this week that he has no plans to call one before the regular session of 1950 "unless some emergency comes up."

Financial emergencies may well develop in some state departments later in the fiscal year, since the amendment that would have allowed the state board of liquidation to provide state funds for budget units without the present limits also failed. Legislative appropriations for a number of institutions and departments were made low, with the understanding that the board could supplement them if necessary later.

But all departments apparently have ample funds to operate for several more months. The local school boards have enough money on hand, state officials have announced, to avoid pay cuts at least through January, even if the special fund remains frozen that long.

MAN SHOOTS NEGRO WHO KISSED WIFE

DALTON, Ga., Dec. 4.—(AP)—Police tonight reported a white man shot and critically wounded a Negro who allegedly tried to kiss the white man's wife.

Police Lieut. J. C. Bramblett said Richard Bingham, Negro cook, was critically wounded with a shot gun. Lieut. Bramblett said he was informed Bingham walked into the kitchen of the home of Grady King and attempted to kiss Mrs. King.

The officer said King walked next door to a cafe where Bingham worked and shot him. Bingham was taken to a Chattanooga hospital.

King was charged with assault and attempt to murder and was released on bond, Bramblett said.

NEGRO BOY INJURED WHEN HIT BY TRUCK

WINNSBORO, La., Dec. 4—(Special)—An eight-year-old Negro boy, the son of Gene Wilhite, a farmer of near here, was injured yesterday afternoon when he was struck down by a milk truck in downtown Winnsboro.

Taken to the Winnsboro Sanitarium, the youth was reported suffering an injured arm, but was not in serious condition, hospital attendants said.

A witness to the incident, City Marshall George Farrington, said he shouted a warning to the Negro, but too late to save young Wilhite from being struck by the truck. Farrington, who said the accident was unavoidable, identified the driver of the truck as James Wells, of Winnsboro.

NEW YORK STOCKS

NEW YORK, Dec. 4.—(AP)—A creeping advance carried the stock market ahead fractions to around two points today. It was the fourth day in a row that the general price level has slanted ahead.

Buying was pretty well spread out, with some of the best gains posted in oil, rail, chemical and motor groups. Trading was slow, in line with the usual pattern of Saturday business.

Bonds, where changes at all, were mostly higher.

WINTRY BLASTS HIT MID-WEST SECTION

CHICAGO, Dec. 4—(AP)—Snow and high winds gave residents of a large area of the country's mid-section a taste of winter Saturday.

The storm brought snow from North Dakota and Montana southwestward through most of Wyoming and northern Utah. Snow and colder weather was moving east toward Minnesota and Wisconsin.

Considerably cooler weather spread westward from the southern rockies to the Pacific coast.

Generally fair weather prevailed eastward from the snow belt.

New York

NEW YORK, Dec. 4.—(AP)—Cotton futures were firm today. Trading was the most active for a short session since resumption of Saturday dealings last August. A major portion of the dealings represented covering in March and May deliveries against export sales of U. S. cotton to France. It was estimated that French needs at the present time were in the neighborhood of 300,000 bales. There also was a moderate amount of commission house buying which came into the July 1949 delivery. The demand was said to be based on the fact that this position was relatively cheap in comparison with the may delivery. The buying was based on prospects for a tightening in the open market supply position as a result of heavy entries into the loan and large exports.

Futures closed 45 cents to $1.35 a bale higher than the previous close.

CZECH MOVEMENT WARNS CATHOLICS

Tells Leaders Of Churches Recent Radio, Press Attack Was Last Chance

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia, Dec. 4—(AP)—The Czechoslovak resistance movement told Roman Catholic church leaders today that this week's press and radio attacks on the church were the "last warning."

The movement's official newspaper said editorially that religious freedom existed in Czechoslovakia "but no church must become a shelter for those who defend the old order and mammon."

The resistance group is composed of those who fought underground against the German occupiers, who returned to Czech soil in legions formed in Russia and on the western front, or who were in Nazi concentration camps.

One of the leading figures in the movement is the priest, Josef Plojhar, minister of health in the Communist-dominated government of Premier Klement Gottwald. Plojhar was suspended from functioning as a priest by Archbishop Joseph Beran because he campaigned along with the Communists in the elections last may.

On Thursday, anto-clerical blasts from the press and radio were stepped up as a curtain-raiser for next week's trial of three Greek Catholic priests on charges of anti-state activities.

Newspapers ran long stories explaining charges against both the Roman Catholic and Greek Catholic churches.

The three acused priests are charged with being leaders of anti-Communist Ukrainian Nationalists, fighting to set up a great Ukrainian republic extending from the Kusan river in Russia, to the Poprad river in Slovagia. Such a state would cut across areas in Rusia, Poland, Romania and Czechoslovakia.

The editorial in the resistance movement paper said:

"These recent declarations must be a last warning for the really responsible leaders of the Roman Catholic Church to seek the way of understanding and of improvement, and not the way of dissent. It is impossible to test endlessly the patience of both the people and thinking believers, especially not in a nation of hussites."

(Vjan Hus, a Protestant reformer who was influenced by John Wycliffe, was burned at the stake in 1415 for his fight for freedom of conscience. The Czechs claim they were the only nation to continue his struggle for church reform.)

LITTLE THEATRE CURTAIN CALL

Every now and then the opportunity to perform some deed of the heart comes one's way. Our organization now has this opportunity but we will need the help of every member of the Little Theatre and any person residing in the Twin Cities who approves of our undertaking.

As you know, the Little Theatre is taking its new two-act play, "Dear Ruth," to the Veterans' Hospital in Alexandria on Sunday, December 19. This is the Sunday before Christmas, and the thought occurred to us to make this event something more than just presenting a play. Let's give the soldiers a "bang-up" Christmas party! To do so, we will need approximately 350 gifts to distribute to the patients, 350 gifts from the good people of Monroe and West Monroe. This will require a tremendous effort on our part, but to make happy the gallant men who secured this great nation for us is worth our best efforts. We are contacting various clubs, auxiliaries and societies to help us in collecting these gifts, and they will be taken to the Veterans' Hospital in Alexandria by the cast and stage crew of "Dear Ruth" on Sunday, December 19.

We have asked the Red Cross to tell us what the boys want most. This was really unnecessary, for all one has to do is to imagine himself a "shut-in" and ask himself what he would like. Cards, games, cigarettes, cigarette lighters, pajamas, slippers, robes, books, stationery, note paper, fountain pens, three cornered bed pillows, kodak film and cameras, diaries, and many other items. The convalescents can use, in addition to the gifts listed above, shirts, ties, socks, underwear, tie pins and clasps, belts, toilet articles and kits.

When shopping for your families and friends, why not buy one more gift for a boy in the Veterans' Hospital? It is really a very small way to show your appreciation for the free America you live in.

Mail or send your gifts to the Red Cross, 200 South Grand, which is acting as our collecting agent for the gifts to be taken to the veterans.

Let's go, Monroe. Let's make ourselves known to our veterans. What do you say?

Time out for a bow to our director of "Dear Ruth." From the most reliable source we hear she is terrific. In the words of her props chairman. June Shultz lived each role as it went into rehearsal—alive and enthusiastic about the continuity of the whole she commanded her cast and spectators' admiration as practice progressed. As we have maintained from the beginning this is the public's forum of detail and unless we can qualify our statements, then we will withhold them until they are newsworthy. It affords us the greatest pleasure to report that with Director June Shulz and the capable cast she has lined up "Dear Ruth" promises to be another outstanding production for Little Theatre.

Intimate Notes. . . . Mrs. McGowan who teaches out at Sterlington called up and offered to loan Little Theatre a B-4 bag—thanks for heeding our plea. That's the spirit we appreciate most. . . . Irving Zeidman called to inform us that Shelley Winters of Hollywood fame "A Double Life" and "Cry the City," is one and the same gal who appeared with Monroe Little Theatre in 1943. He met her last February in New York through a friend of his and she asked about her friends in Monroe. At that time she was playing the lead in the popular stage production "Oklahoma," replacing Celeste Holm who was elevated to stardom in the same role. . . . Bill Kelly of 1000 McGuire near Northeast Center called at the newspaper office and generously offered the loan of a brand new B-4 bag, army air corps flying clothes, insignia, caps and wings. He was so sincere in his purpose that we can only think, thanks for the people who care. . . . Johnny Mullin has been asked to do the role of Sgt. "Chuck" Vincent in "Dear Ruth." From our reports he has majored in dramatics and is very talented.

LITTLE THEATRE SKETCH

Helen Hart . . . a very attractive young lady and a native of Monroe, graduated from Ouachita Parish High School and attended Northeast Junior College. She was interested in dramatics in high school and college, appearing in several plays at Ouachita and she did make-up and helped back stage with productions at N. J. C. Helen is a member of the Rainbow Girls and has been associated with Employers Liability Assurance Corp. for the past three years. In 1945 she modeled outdoor sketches for Photographer James Manson of Tucson, Ariz.

An active member of Little Theatre, Helen did make-up on all five plays last season and appeared in "The Devil's Disciple." In her opinion Little Theatre is a good place to meet new people. Her hobby is outdoor sports.

PRESSMEN'S EXEC EXPIRES AT HOME

Former Senator Administrative Official Succumbs After 4-Day Illness

PRESSMEN'S HOME, Tenn., Dec. 4.—(AP)—George L. Berry, president of the International Printing Pressmen's Union (A. F. L.) and one time political figure, died at his home today.

The labor leader, who served briefly in the United States senate and held several high administrative jobs, died at 6:15 a. m. (EST) following a four-day illness.

Death was reported caused by a digestive disorder.

Funeral arrangements were postponed pending arrival of relatives.

Berry, 66, had been the active head of his union most of the time since he first was elected president in 1907.

But his activities outside the union were as impressive as those within. He built a sizable personal fortune and was assistant administrator of the national recovery administration in the early days of the New Deal.

Orphaned at six, Berry started his career in the printing trades at nine with the Jackson (Miss.) Daily News. At 16 he started out to practice the trade elsewhere.

His journeys took him to St. Louis, Nebraska City, Denver and San Francisco and finally to the gold fields of Nevada.

Following his election as union president Berry established this community only a few miles from where he was born as union headquarters.

He built a home for incapacitated or indigent pressmen here and a trade school. Later he established an enterprise of his own—the International Playing Card and Label Company.

Berry served as U. S. senator in 1937 and 1938 but was defeated when he sought to retain the office.

He retired from politics after that but his name has bobbed up frequently in the news since then. Only last year he was fined $10,000 on federal charges of income tax evasion in 1939, 1940 and 1941.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Marie G. Berry and a sister, Mrs. Bonnie Price.

Sybil Louise Boutwell Weds Robert Lee Jones At Impressive Ceremony

Miss Sybil Louise Boutwell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter W. Boutwell, of Oak Grove, became the bride of Mr. Robert Lee Jones, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gentry Jones at a recent ceremony at the home of the bridegroom's parents on Bres avenue.

An improvised altar before the mantle, decorated with large white chrysanthemums and seven branch candelabra bearing tall white tapers, formed a background for the ceremony which was performed by Dr. E. K. Means, of the First Methodist Church.

Mrs. A. M. Serex, who was accompanied at the piano by Mrs. John Sholars, sang "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Mrs. J. Edward Williams, sister of the bridegroom, was the matron of honor.

She wore a pastel green taffeta gown with sweetheart neckline, tight fitting bodice, and a full skirt trimmed with a taffeta bow. She wore a bandeau fashioned of pink roses and carried an old fashioned bouquet of lady bountiful roses. Her long gloves were pink.

Mr. Gentry T. Jones, Jr., brother of the bridegroom served as best man.

The bride wore a gown of slipper satin in french net. The satin basque was fashioned with sweetheart neckline and long tight fitting sleeves that ended in a point over the hands. They were fastened with tiny satin covered buttons. The voluminous skirt of net was embossed with dainty satin bows and ended in a long train. The veil of net which fell from a coronet of seed pearls and brilliants, was adorned with tiers of chantilly lace. She carried a white prayer book surmounted by orchids and valley lilies.

Mrs. Boutwell, the bride's mother, chose for the ceremony, a grey dressmaker suit with matching accessories and a corsage of catelaya orchids. Mrs. Jones, mother of the bridegroom, wore a royal blue crepe frock with sequin trim and matching accessories. Her corsage was of pink caranations.

A reception followed the ceremony. The bride's table was covered by mirrors which were surmounted by crystal candelabra bearing tall tapers and by garlands of gardenias and valley lilies.

Mrs. Klien Crow, sister of the bridegroom and Mrs. Gene Wilson, of Oak Grove, sister of the bride, assisted in the serving.

Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Tom Smith of Stuttgart, Ark.

Immediately after the reception the couple left for a wedding trip to Shreveport and Dallas. For travel the bride chose a wine colored wool suit with matching coat. She wore grey accessories and a corsage of baby orchids.

The couple is at home at 205 1/2 S. 4th street, West Monroe.

Attractive Luncheon Honors Sally Foster

A miniature bride's bouquet was used as a centerpiece for the luncheon table when Mrs. E. E. Eaves and Mrs. Sam Humphries entertained recently for Miss Sally Foster, a much feted bride of the season. For the event which took place at a local tea room, Miss Foster chose a brown satin afternoon frock with faille trim. She wore a miniature bride's bouquet, presented by the hostesses.

Other guests attending the luncheon were Mrs. C. S. Foster, mother of the guest of honor, Mrs. Gardiner Young, Mrs. R. M. Troy, Mrs. O. A. Easterling and Mrs. Tom Davis.

Rosanne Reid Weds Fred M. Frazier

Ceremony Takes Place At Home Of Parents In Presence Of Relatives And Friends

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Henry Reid was the scene of a wedding of great interest Friday evening when their daughter, Miss Rosanne Reid, became the bride of Mr. Fred Maurice Frazier, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Frazier of Tallulah, and Elwood, Ind. Judge William M. Harper performed the double ring ceremony in the presence of relatives and close friends.

Mrs. Florence Allbritton played a program of nuptial music prior to the ceremony. She played "At Dawning" and "Claire deLune," and as the processional "The Bridal Chorus from Tawnhauser." The recessional was chosen from "Midsummer Night's Dream." Miss Camille Hancock sang "Because."

The bride, given in marriage by her father wore a blush pink heavy satin gown created with high tiny pointed collar, and sculptured bodice fastened down the front with minute self-covered buttons and glove-fitting sleeves. The full gathered skirt was overlaid with a colonial peplum and was extended into a chapel sweep. The shoulder length veil of blush pink French illusion depended from a Flemish Cloche of satin edged with tiny pink seed pearls. She carried an exquisite bouquet of pink dawn roses with a shower of valley lilies and ribbons.

The ceremony was performed before the mantle which was banked with pink roses and stephanotis. Seven branched brass candelabra holding pink tapers were placed at each end of the mantle before a gold framed mirror. Candelabra and roses were also used in decorating the other reception rooms. Mr. Charles Reid, Jr., and Mr. Mac Ward lighted the tapers just before the ceremony.

The bride's table in the dining room was covered with an imported appliqued organdy cloth. Crystal candelabra with pink tapers were placed at each end. On the four corners of the table were low arrangements of crystal roses filled with pale pink flowers, valley lilies and candytuft. The double ring wedding cake was placed in the center of the table and was embossed with blush pink roses and sprays of valley lilies and caught with tulle around the base.

Assisting in serving at the reception were the bride's aunt, Mrs. R. R. Beaman of Houston, Texas, and her cousin, Mrs. L. M. Vaughan of Houston, Mrs. Hollis Venable, Miss Joyce Siegle, Miss Anna Lee Russell, Mrs. Dent Tisdale, Mrs. Clifford Johnson and Mrs. John Allen.

For traveling the bride chose a brown suit with brown alligator bag and shoes, dusty pink blouse and dusty pink felt bonnet trimmed with self material, and matching gloves. She wore a brown orchid corsage. The couple motored to New Orleans after the ceremony and there boarded a plane for a ten day trip to Havana, Cuba.

The bride attended Northeast Junior College and the University of Texas. She is a popular member of the younger set and of D. B. S. sorority, Purple Jackets of Northeast Junior College. She is a granddaughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bender, Jr., of Houston, Texas, prominent residents of that city.

Mr. Frazier is a graduate of Kentucky Military Institute and attended Indiana University. His family also maintains a home in Elwood, and in Crawfordsville, Indiana. The couple are at home at Waverly, where Mr. Frazier manages his father's plantation.

Dining room table makes an attractive setting for this miniature Christmas tree for a small home. Singing star Dorothy Sarnoff, of the Broadway hit "Magdalena," puts an angel on the tree to top off its bejewelled novelty decorations.

By Epsie Kinard
(NEA Staff Writer)

NEW YORK—(NEA)—If a crowded house limits your sphere for Christmas decorating, put a miniature tree on your dining table. There it will spread Yuletide cheer over every meal and bring members of a family to a favorite gathering spot when gift packages are opened.

From famed floral designer Benny Hubbard comes help in making in miniature a dazzling tree. He ornaments miniatures—some are no taller than 30 inches—with imported bejeweled novelties, says you can also make your tree twinkle like a sequin-studded evening gown by using costume jewelry, or shiny five-and-dime store baubles.

Space these twinklers closely, says Hubbard, when you hang ornaments to the branches of your tree of fir, balsam or pine. Our expert explains that the way to turn a skimpy bough of evergreen into a tapering and full-spreading little tree is to add more branches. He builds up a tree by mounting many small evergreen branches into a base of foam rubber. This new two-inch thick latex product, which you can also use and cut to whatever size needed, comes in individual sheets. It may be used pincushion fashion for sticking in sharply whittled evergreen branches.

What's left of that sheet of foam rubber may be used to make a pair of tree-flanking Christmas candelabras. Mr. Hubbard cuts big Christmas stars out of foam rubber and edges the white outlines of these with red ribbon. You can stick several large red candles into these "candelabra bases" of foam rubber, says the expert, if each candle is shaved down to a fine point. Short spikes of evergreen may also be stuck in.

Looking for a new idea in wreaths? Copy Mr. Hubbard's trick of decorating one with fresh fruit which is as good to look at as it is to eat. String cranberries on wire to make a big bowknot. Spear lemons with hairpins and fasten these to the wreath for color effects. In between, stick in clusters of grapes, wired on with hairpins. English walnuts individually wrapped with squares of orange-colored cellophane may also be wired on.

Want something special to shout cheer from your front door? Make an angel of evergreen, as Mr. Hubbard does, and silver the branches of pine that you use for her skirt and the spreading branches of balsam or fir that you use for her wings with metallic paint. Use a Christmas ball for making the angel's head and nail polish for painting features on her face. Hair of steel wool may be glued on to her head and a ribbon-wrapped wire hung over it may be used as a halo.

Christmas star cut from foam rubber and edged with red ribbon makes a festive holder for candles and evergreen spikes.

This front-door decoration is a silvered evergreen angel with a Christmas-ball head and a halo of ribbon-wrapped wire.

As good to eat as it is to look at is this green wreath, decorated with lemons, cranberries, grapes and nuts.

Here it is December. Again this year we'll act like human beings and get into a continual rush to put off doing something. Like . . . well . . . like making a sitting appointment for the portraits we plan to give this Christmas.

We know from experience that so many requests for appointments will pour in upon us the last few days, that there will be disappointments in spite of our efforts to prevent them.

A call to the studio today will gain you three important assurances: A leisurely sitting . . . unhurried selection of proofs and delivery of finished work in time for the tree Christmas morning.

BETH FUNDERBURK WEDS RAY CLAWSON IN CHURCH CEREMONY IN WINNSBORO

Of widespread interest is the marriage of Miss Beth Ellen Funderburk, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Vern J. Funderburk, Winnsboro, to Ray W. Clawson, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray W. Clawson, Sr., Winnsboro. The ceremony took place in the First Christian Church with a former pastor, Rev. Claude Jones of Hot Springs, Ark., officiating.

Mrs. Roy W. Clawson, Jr., is the former Miss Beth Funderburk of Winnsboro.

The altar background of magnolia branches and garlands of southern pine accented an elaborate grouping of branched candelabra and tall basgets of white chrysanthmums and gladioli combined with a fern laced arch to complete an unusual and distinctive bridal setting.

The nuptial music was rendered by Mrs. Walter Woods, pianist and Mrs. Cecil Hill, cousin of the bride, as soloist. For the processional, Mrs. Woods played Mendelssohn's "Wedding March" and for the recessional Wagner's "Bridal Chorus" from Lohengrin. Mrs. Hill sang "Because" and "I Love You Truly". Serving as ushers were Bruce Landis, John Balance, and Caleb Martin. The tapers were lighted by Vern J. Funderburk who wore a dress suit of navy blue and Emily Funderburk who wore a floor-length frock of pink taffeta. Both carried white tapers with satin streamers.

James Eppinette of Monroe served as best man. The matron of honor, Mrs. Mabel H. Hart, of Pineville, and the bridesmaids, Mrs. James Eppinette of Monroe, Mrs Robert Monk of Arcadia, and Miss Ruth Pott of Winnsboro, were gowned in floor length models in blue and pink satin fashioned along princess lines with bustle backs. They carried old-fashioned bouquets. The bride entered with her father, Dr. Funderburk, who gave her in marriage. She was attired in a traditional ivory satin gown, fashioned with fitted bodice with long sleeves, featuring a square yoke of Princess lace; similar lace formed a soft peplum below the long waistline, the skirt extending into a long train. She wore the conventional veil of illusion attached to a bonnet effect of shirred tulle trimmed in orange blossoms. She carried a cascade bouquet of white orchids, lilies of the valley and white carnations.

Mrs. Funderburk, mother of the bride, chose a floor-length dress of aqua blue crepe trimmed in rhinestones and a corsage of pink carnations. Mrs. Clawson, mother of the groom, chose a black floor-length model trimmed in rose with a corsage of rose carnations.

A reception followed immediately after the ceremony at the home of the bride. Dr. and Mrs. Joe Funderburk, of Homer, received guests in the reception hall. The reception room, where guests were received by the bride and bridegroom, their parents, and the bridal attendants, was beautifully decorated with bouquets of white chrysanthemums. The bride's table covered with a linen damask cloth was centered with a three-tiered wedding cake, embossed with white roses, lilies of the valley and topped with bells. On either side, white burning tapers were in crystal holders. The crystal punch bowl graced a side table and was presided over by Mrs. A. D. Richardson of Louiville, Mississippi, and Mrs. Hardy Reitzell of Monroe.

Assisting in the serving were Misses Pat Applewhite, Mildred Eckhardt, Betty Miller, and Beth Stodghill. Mrs. Katherine Funderburk presided over the bride's book. Mrs. B. G. Coulter, Mrs. B. S. Landis, Sr., Mrs. J. W. McLemore, Sr., Mrs. G. J. Fleischmann, Mrs. G. W. Legan, and Mrs. W. W. Stephenson extended courtesies throughtout the evening.

For traveling, the bride wore a maroon suit with grey accessories. The orchid, from her bridal bouquet, worn on her shoulder completed her ensemble.

The bride is a graduate of Northwestern college at Natchitoches, a member of Pi Kappa Sigma sorority, and is now teaching in the Winnsboro High School.

Mr. Clawson attended Northwestern college, was a member of Phi Kappa and is now a flight instructor with Monroe Air Park.

After a wedding trip to Galveston and Corpus Christi, Texas, the couple are making their home in Winnsboro.

Out of town guests were: Mrs. Mable Hart from Pineville, Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Hochenedel of Alexandria, Dr. and Mrs. Joe Funderburk, Homer; Jewell Mosely, Huttig, Ark., Miss Bess Mosely, McGee, Miss., Tom Blissard, Laurel, Miss., Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Legan, Marion Legan and Miss Diane Legan of Macan, Miss., Mrs. A. D. Richardson, Sr., Mr. and Mrs A. D. Richardson, Jr., of Louisville, Miss., Mrs. G. E. Mosely, Columbia; Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Legan, Clinton, La., Mr. and Mrs. Robert Monk of Arcadia; Mr. and Mrs. James Eppinette, Monroe. Other out of town guests, all of Monroe, were: Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Clawson, Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Armstroung, Miss Anita Armstrong, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Parker of Springhill, La., Mrs. J. J. Nolan, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Nolan, Mrs. A. D. Brown, all of Oak Ridge; Dr. and Mrs. V. H. Reitzell and daughter Patsy, of Monroe, Mrs. Cecil Hill, of Monroe and Mr. and Mrs. G. J. Fleischmann and daughter, Kathie, of Start.

Weight Gain

By Alicia Hart

A rapid gain in weight is the problem that disturbs many girls during their first school year spent away from home. Some girls gain as much as 10 to 15 pounds during a year of greater freedom from close parental supervision of diet. Greater convenience of a campus soda fountain also explains why more pounds stack up on the scale.

If your physical examination when entering school shows that your weight is normal for your height, you'll be wise to exercise self-discipline in order to hold it at that level. It is easier for most girls to add pounds than to substract them.

To bolster your self-discipline, check your weight regularly. Weigh yourself once a week on the scales in the gym or in the nurse's office. When you see signs of unusual gain you are less likely to indulge yourself with double malteds, or hot fudge sundaes.

Getting your pals interested in holding their weight down will also help you to avoid food excesses. It's easier to order a glass of fruit juice instead of a gooey temptation if your order is backed up by chums. Share parcels of food from home with several girls to avoid overindulging yourself.

Skipping meals at school to hold weight down defeats its purpose. You miss the protective foods you need in order to maintain good health. You're more apt to satisfy hunger pangs later on with rich filling foods which give you a lot of weight-building calories but not necessarily all of the vitamins and minerals you need.

MRS. J. C. LINER AND BAMBI

Bambi The Deer Has Good Time As Pet Of J. C. Liner Household

You might think that you'd have to take to the woods to find a deer. Not if you're a friend of Mrs. J. C. Liner, however, for if you call on her, you may find her pet doe, Bambi, strolling around the living room.

Mrs. Liner, wife of a local radio station owner, acquired the deer about two months ago, the day after its birth. The animal of the white tail species, was an offspring of a couple of deer on the Liner farm, about eight miles outside the city. Its mother died during Bambi's birth and her mistress has nursed her ever since.

You might wonder what you'd do with a baby deer. Like all other babies, Bambi thrives on milk. She receives two bottles of it every three hours. Until the past week that has been her sole diet. Now she's getting older and is beginning to take a few nibbles of dirt and grass ever so often during her exercise period in the yard.

In the evenings she is allowed to go into the house from her aluminum cage in the garage and she wanders at will. At night she sleeps in the bathroom behind a heater.

She has almost tripled her size since birth. Formerly a tiny thing with hoofs the size of a dime, she now weighs approximately 40 pounds, and has hoofs as big as a fifty-cent piece, and she's grown in length as well as height.

Her future? She'll probably keep right on commuting from her aluminum cage in the garage to the house. —J. F.

Gadget Keeps Shirttail In

By Alicia Hart
(NEA Staff Writer)

A shirttail which pulls out of a shirt with every up-reaching gesture is an annoying problem to the modern Gibson Girl.

Designed to help her solve this good-grooming problem is a new sewing aid which helps to keep blouse and skirt from coming apart. This help-in-need is a tape made of neoprene sponge rubber backed with cotton. This may be stitched around the inside waistband of a skirt. The inner adhesive waistband has a porous non-slip surface which gently clings to blouse fabric and discourages a shirttail from pulling up. The inch-wide tape is flat so that an inner belting made of it doesn't add bulk to a waistline.

Such a tape may also be used to line bra and slip straps for a non-sliding grip over the shoulder. According to manufacturing tests, the tape will withstand dry-cleaning, washing or steam-pressing.

Cabbage Is Rich Budgetwise Dish

By Gaynor Maddox

Cabbage is prized as a rich source of vitamins and minerals. To get the full benefit of its valuable nutritive content, eat cabbage raw whenever possible. Innumerable cold salad dishes can be made from this vegetable.

Cabbage is also excellent as a meat stretcher. For example, leftover meat, mixed with rice is used as a stuffing for cabbage. Whether the large outer leaves are stuffed with the mixture and slowly simmered in spicy tomato sauce, or the whole head scooped out, stuffed and baked, it affords a satisfying and comparatively economical main dish.

Sweet-Sour Cabbage

Four cups shredded cabbage, 1/2 cup diced bacon, 3 tablespoons flour, 1/4 cup honey, 1/4 cup vinegar, 1/2 cup water, 1 teaspoon onion, chopped.

Cook shredded cabbage in boiling salted water until tender. Drain. Dice bacon. Cook until well done. Remove bacon and place on cabbage. Blend bacon fat with flour. Add honey, vinegar, water and chopped onion. Cook until thickened. Pour over cabbage and bacon. Season to taste. Heat thoroughly. Serve hot. Note: This same recipe may be used with cooked potatoes instead of cabbage.

Fall menus always have place for steamed puddings. Here's a ginger special for October.

Ginger Baked Apples

(Serves 4)

Four large apples, 4 tablespoons brown sugar, 1 lemon, grated peel, 1 teaspoon powdered ginger, 1/2 cup hot water, cream or top milk.

Wash the apples, pare and core them. Place in a small baking dish. Fill the centers with the sugar and grated lemon peel. Sprinkle with ginger over the tops. Add the water at one side of the dish; do not pour it over the tops. Bake in a moderate oven (375 degrees F.) until tender and golden—35 to 45 minutes. Serve cold with top milk or cream. If the apples are sweet, use the juice of the lemon mixed with the hot water, as directed.

EDWINA DUNN WEDS ARNOTT L. JONES AT PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH CEREMONY

An impressive ceremony at the First Presbyterian Church united in marriage Miss Edwina Dunn, daughter of Mrs. Eddie Dunn and the late Mr. Dunn and Mr. Arnott L. Jones, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Jones, of Forty Fort, Pa., The double ring service, performed by the pastor, the Rev. Ernest D. Holloway, took place at six o'clock, Wednesday evening, November twenty-fourth.

The altar was banked with white stock against a green background, and tall white tapers burned in floor candelabra to illuminate the setting for the bridal party.

Mrs. B. D. Albritton at the organ rendered a concert of beautiful nuptial music while the guests were being seated by the ushers, Mr. Billy L. Dunn, Mr. E. A. Porter, Jr., and Mr. Harper Young, the latter also serving as groomsmen. Mrs. Albritton also accompanied the soloist, Mrs. J. Norman Coon who sang "O Promise Me" and "Because" and after the benediction sang "The Lord's Prayer." The traditional wedding marches were used to begin and end the service, the wedding party entering to the full volume of the organ rendition of the Bridal Chorus from Lohengrin by Wagner.

Mrs. E. A. Porter, Jr., sister of the groom, the matron of honor, and Mrs. Harper Young, bridesmaid, wore identical gowns of blue taffeta with moulded bodices with jewel necklines and cap sleeves. The long billowy skirts were accented by peplums of net which formed a brief bustle. They wore mitts of net and carried pink feathered carnations tied with pastel ribbons. Their hats were also fashioned of matching material.

Little Miss Mary Coon, the junior bridesmaid, wore a gown which was a replica of those worn by the other attendants and she carried a miniature bouquet. Mr. A. L. Jones served his son as best man. The bride entered the church on the arm of her brother, Mr. James Dunn, who gave her in marriage. Her gown was of pink net and lace, the skirt featuring wide bands of the lace from a tight fitted bodice to the hemline of the full skirt. The fitted sleeves ended in lily points over the hands. Her finger-tip veil of graduated lengths fell from a cap of net in the same blush shade. Her bouquet was of gardenias tied with loops of white satin ribbon. Her only ornament was a cameo lavalliere, a gift of the groom. Mrs. Dunn, mother of the bride, chose a floor-length dress of aqua jersey with which she wore a corsage of pink carnations. Mrs. Jones, Sr., wore dusty rose taffeta moire with matching lace mitts and a corsage of gardenias.

Immediately after the ceremony a reception was held in the home of the bride's mother on McGuire avenue.

Members of the wedding party received guests. The drawing room was decorated with white chrysanthemums and painted daisies in artistic arrangements.

The bride's table in the dining room was overlaid with a handsome embroidered linen cloth. The bride's cake, placed at one end of the table, was embossed in bride's roses of spun sugar and surmounted with bride and groom figurines, and was fringed with fluted ruffles of frothy white net. Triple holders supported tall pink tapers to illuminate the scene. Mrs. Floyd Fisher, presided at the punch bowl.

Assisting in serving guests were Miss Vivian Fluitt, Miss Margie Ricks, Miss Doris McRight, Miss Marie Smith and Mrs. J. C. Holloway.

For traveling, Mrs. Jones wore a soft grey wool suit with black accessories and a corsage of gardenias. Following a wedding trip they are at home at 612 South Second street. Out-of-town guests for the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Jones, Sr., of Forty Fort, Penn., Mr. and Mrs. William D. Mouat, and Mrs. Stuard Braden of Philadelphia, Penn.

Miss Ouida Welch Weds Mr. Oxford At Methodist Church

Beauty of detail characterized the wedding of Miss Ouida Welch, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Wick Welch, when she became the bride of Mr. A. Carlisle Oxford, at the First Methodist Church of West Monroe on Friday evening, November 26.

The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. R. H. Staples, pastor of the church, in the presence of numerous friends and relatives.

Baskets of white chrysanthemums against a background of smilax, with tall white tapers in branched candelabra illuminated the scene.

While guests were being seated by the ushers, Mr. Joe Ham and Mr. Glenn Ham, cousins of the bride, a prenuptial program was rendered by Mr. James Gilmer at the organ. He also played the traditional wedding marches. Miss Billye Durbin, the soloist, who was accompanied by Miss Jane Wallace, sang "Ah, Sweet Mystery of Life" and "Because."

The bride's attendants all wore pastel shades. Miss Betty Henry wore dusty rose faille taffeta and Miss Vashti Elizabeth Ham, the bride's cousin wore light aqua, while the maid of honor, Miss Mignon Oxford, sister of the groom, wore an orchid dress. They carried bouquets of bronze chrysanthemums, which were cascaded with streamers of satin ribbons to harmonize with their gowns. Clusters of flowers were worn in their hair.

Mr. Charles Oxford served his brother as best man. The bride, given in marriage by her father was gowned in an original model of duchess satin. The fitted bodice had a yoke edged with lace while self-covered buttons fastened the back. The big sleeves ended in points over the hand and the long, full skirt fell into a train.

Her veil of illusion fell from a coronet of tulle and orange blossoms and extended beyond the hemline of the gown. The bridal bouquet was fashioned of white chrysanthemums and valley lillies with streamers of white satin ribbons.

The mother of the bride chose aqua with a peplum accented with sequins. Her corsage was of pink feathered carnations and white bride's roses. Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held at the McGuire Club where the parents of the bride and groom stood with other members of the wedding party to receive the guests.

The lounge was decorated in white mums and the bride's table also carried a green and white theme. Each tier of the wedding cake was embossed in bride's roses and love knots. Candles burned in branch candelabras in the center of the table.

Mrs. O. J. Ham presided at a massive punch bowl at one end of the table. Assisting serving were Miss Billye Durbin, Miss Jane Wallace, Miss Jo Ann Lewis, Miss Kaye Moak, Miss Leita Baker, Miss Mary Francis Griffin, and Mrs. Irene Niederkorn. Mrs. Robert Berry presided at the bride's book.

Also serving were Mrs. John Lewis, Mrs. E. L. Page, Mrs. A. P. Burkett, Mrs. R. B. Henry, Mrs. J. W. Golson, and Miss Marguerite Norris.

The bride chose for travelling an aqua crepe frock with matching hat and brown coat. She wore a corsage of yellow roses. They left for a wedding trip to New Orleans and the Gulf Coast. After their return they will be at home at 236 South Riverfront, West Monroe, La.

Out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Hortman, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Day of Gilliam, Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Kirk of Shreveport; Mr. and Mrs. Dallas Lutes, of Ruston; Mr. and Mrs. M. H. "AND A LITTLE CHILD SHALL LEAD THEM"

To look at the world through a child's eyes . . . to love as sincerely as a child does . . . to think with a mind as free from prejudice as a child's . . . is perhaps the happy solution to the future upon which we so often ponder. The faith of a child is the faith and love taught in our churches. Renew your faith. Attend church services regularly and seek solace, comfort and guidance from the teachings of our Lord.

The Important Matter: If one were given five minutes' warning before sudden death, five minutes to say what it all had meant to us, every telephone booth would be occupied by people trying to call up other people to stammer that they loved them.—Christopher Morley.

As we live, and enjoy health and strength, we have the opportunity of expression. May we employ it well.

An open door is an invitation. Our doors are ever open inviting all to enter into the services of worship. Sunday school at 9:45 a. m. Morning worship, 10:50-11:50. At this service this Lord's day, the Lords' supper will be taken. NORTH MONROE LIONS ASSEMBLE

Regular Meeting Is Occupied With Plans For Holiday Time

The North Monroe Lions Club held their regular weekly meeting last Tuesday evening at the Hotel Frances.

Lion George Walcott was in charge of the program and inasmuch as he had called upon Lion Winslow to arrange a program of entertainment for the evening, he requested Lion Winslow to act as a master of ceremony and introduce his guests. They included Miss Lela Bess Kite, Miss Patice Going, Miss Bonnie Binghaman and Irving Zeidman. Each did a grand job with their particular talent and all were thanked at the end of the program by President Fred Meyer for putting on one of the best shows this club has had.

The business end of the meeting was taken up with a report by General Chairman Fran Brennan of the progress being made by the community Christmas tree. Lion Brennan reported that at a meeting held earlier in the week of his committee chairmen it was decided that a Christmas tree, twenty to thirty feet high, completely decorated, would be placed on the grounds of the Central Grammar School. That on December 22 at the sight of this tree Santa Claus would distribute gifts to all children up to the age of twelve. As a means of estimating the number of gifts that will be required Lion Brennan explained that parents desiring to have their children receive a gift from Santa are requested to write the Community Christmas Tree, North Monroe Lions Club, Monroe, La., advising the name and age of their child, or children. In return they will receive an official Santa Claus ticket which upon presentation to Santa Claus on December 22 will entitle the holder to a gift.

As for the method to be used in obtaining gifts Lion Brennan explained that large boxes will be placed in the stores for the use of those people desiring to take part in this cause, they will simply desposit their gifts in these boxes.

Lion Brennan reminded the members that the gifts are for the children of the community and that any gift regardless of how small, wrapped or unwrapped would be welcomed.

He concluded by asking for the cooperation of the entire membership in this worthy project.

CROSLEY P.-T. A. PLAY SPONSORS

'Ready Made Family' To Be Given On Night Of December 10

The Parent Teachers Association of the Crosley School will sponsor the M. I. A. comedy, "Ready Made Family," to be shown at Crosley auditorium on December 10. This play has been shown twice to overflow crowds, the last time being at Barkdull Faulk School auditorium.

The play is in three acts and concerns two families joined together by the marriage of a widow and a widower, both of whom have children. The shenanigans pulled by the children and the actions of the colored maid and colored handy man will keep you laughing the entire show.

The cast of characters in the order in which they appear: Begonia Washington (colored maid) by Anne Bivins; Nicodemus Pipp (colored handy man) by Daniel Hudnall; Lydia Martyn (sister-in-law of Mrs. Martyn) by Lula Mae Hammond; Gracie Martyn (Mrs. Martyn's younger daughter) by Tommye Anne Bivins; Marilee Martyn (Mrs. Martyn's older daughter) by Barbara Jean Sammons; Bob Martyn (Mrs. Martyn's son) by Artis Tynes; Doris Turner (daughter of Henry Turner) by Judy Caraway; Sammie Turner (son of Henry Turner) by Dwight Hodges; Agnes Martyn (widow) by Elgie Mae Steele; Henry Turner (widower) by Thomas Truitt.

In the true style of "the play must go on" one of the junior members of the cast was striken with appendicitus the night prior to the last showing of the play but she insisted that the operation be put off until after the play so she could do her part.

This play is under the auspices of the Mutual Improvement Association and is directed by Mrs. Judy Caraway.

Anyone desiring tickets can contact the teachers and students at Crosley School.

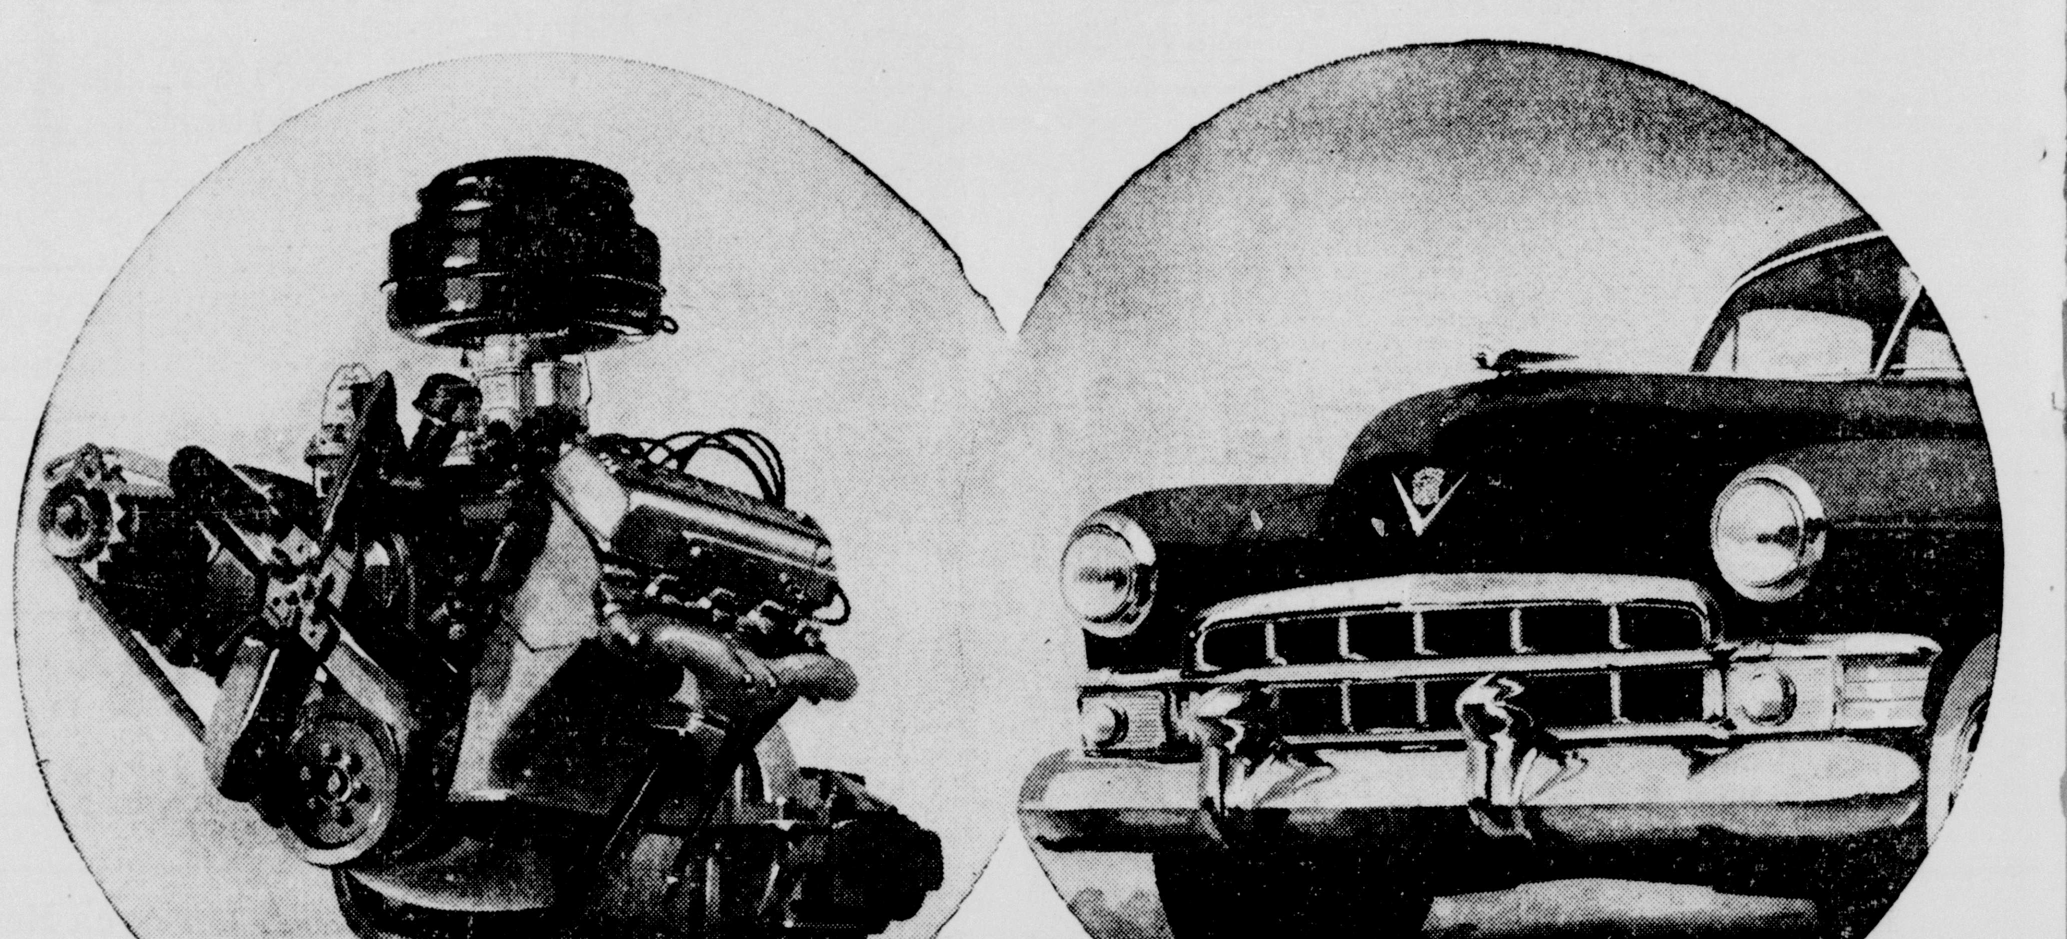
Cadillac
PRESENTS ITS CREATIVE MASTERPIECE...



...The world's newest engine—for the world's finest car!

White Sidewall Tires available at additional cost.

No Cadillac announcement has ever been more significant than the one which appears on this page. For, this year, Cadillac presents its creative masterpiece—a wholly new V-type eight-cylinder engine—which is, beyond all doubt, the highest development yet attained in automotive power plants. ★ This great power plant has been twelve years in the building—for basic development work started in 1936. It has many unusual qualities which set it apart from all other creations of its kind. It is far more alert, powerful and responsive to the throttle—yet it affords an increase in gasoline economy of approximately twenty per cent. And the manner of its performance actually challenges the imagination. It is liquid smooth; it is quick and eager beyond all experience; yet the power application is so effortless that the driver is scarcely aware of the engine's existence. The car seems almost to move by automatic propulsion. ★ Even experienced Cadillac owners must put aside all previous conceptions of performance when they drive the 1949 Cadillac. It is a revelation—from silken start to silken stop. ★ There are, of course, many other advancements in addition to the history-making engine. There is new beauty in the front ensemble; there is a newly-designed, more attractive instrument panel, with all driving controls at your finger tips; and throughout the chassis and body will be found those characteristic refinements which result from Cadillac's unceasing search for perfection. ★ But the big Cadillac story, for 1949, is performance. It is not only the world's new standard—it is beyond the world's current conception.

AMVET AUXILIARY MEETS MONDAY

Officers Will Be Elected To Serve For Ensuing Year

A special meeting of the Walter S. Savage, Jr., post No. 5 AMVETS Auxiliary has been scheduled for Monday night, December 6, at 7:30, aboard The AMVET, floating home of the local AMVET post.

Subject to action Monday night will be the election of officers to serve during the coming year; completion of plans for the Auxiliary's Christmas project for the hospitalized veterans; formulation of plans for the local's party; presentation of organization plans for the mariner Scout troop to be sponsored by the Auxiliary.

The election of officers is of utmost importance to all members of the post and all members are urged to be in attendance to make their nominations.

Last year the local Auxiliary packed bed bags for the veterans at the hospital in Alexandria and several suggestions have been made for the project this year. A definite decision as to the nature of the project will be made Monday night and any suggestions will be welcomed.

A representative of the local Girl Scout headquarters will present to the meeting the initial steps in organizing the proposed mariner Scout troop. As this will no doubt be the major undertaking of the Auxiliary for the coming year it is especially important that all members be present to hear these plans.

MRS. THOMPSON PRINCESS' AID

Local State Sunshine Girls Organizer Has New Commission

Mrs. Opal Thompson, royal advisor of the local Olive Council No. 1, Pythian Sunshine Girls and state organizer for the state of Louisiana, has just received her commission as deputy supreme royal princess of the Pythian Sunshine Girls.

Mrs. Thompson has been assigned as regional supervisor having jurisdiction over the Pythian Sunshine Girls of Louisiana, Mississippi, Arkansas and Alabama, and will work directly under Supreme Royal Princess Mrs. Olive M. Brith of Baldwin Park, Calif.

Mrs. Thompson became interested in the Pythian Sunshine Girls movement while visiting the supreme session of Pythian Sisters in Chicago in the summer of 1946. On returning home she and other Pythian Sisters began to lay the groundwork for the local council. The teachings of this girls' order are clearly brought out in their motto which is to do all the good they can in all the ways they can to all the people they can. Olive Council No. 1 was finally instituted on the night of October 11, 1947, by Mrs. Selma Vogt, supreme organizer of East St. Louis, Ill., and Mrs. Opal Thompson who had been appointed state organizer of Louisiana, with 33 charter members and five mothers. This council has enjoyed a steady growth and to date has doubled its membership.

The girls are beginning an extension campaign in the near future with the hope of bringing the principles of their order before the young girls of other cities in Louisiana.

PRESBYTERIAN MEN WILL MEET

The Men's Club of the First Presbyterian Church will have the regular monthly meeting on Wednesday, December 8, at 6:30 p. m. at the church. Fred Meyers, class president, invites all members and visitors are welcome. The entertainment will be in the nature of a Christmas party. The program is in charge of T. Mickel, chairman, and R. E. (Bob) Ellington. The supper will be prepared by Ralph Gibson, O. C. Roddy and M. A. Bell, who comprise the refreshment committee.

The Frank P. Stubbs Bible class meets in the Paramount Theater Sundays at 9:45 a. m. R. E. (Bob) Ellington, president, urges that there be a good attendance Sunday.

'ROAD BACK HOME' DR. THOMAS' THEME

"The Road Back Home" formed the theme of the Friday night sermon by Dr. John Thomas, evangelist, at the First Presbyterian Church. He took up the parable of the prodigal son which he said in story form is Jesus' inimitable description of how we go about getting right with God. The prodigal son, he said, represents all humanity and it is needed that we turn back to God. In the first place he admitted his sins—"I have sinned against heaven and in thy sight." In the second place he quit his sin, leaving the scene of his moral defeats and the friends who had joined him in them. Finally, he cast himself on his father's mercy.

But Jesus dosn't leave us without the picture of the welcome he received. The father who fell upon his neck and kissed him is a symbol of the Heavenly Father who stands at the end of the road ready to welcome us when we come back home.

The play is being presented for the purpose of raising funds for the school's annual yearbook.

JUNIOR RED CROSS IS AID TO ADULTS

Junior Red Cross is a division of membership of the American Red Cross and is the American Red Cross in the schools. The junior membership functions in partnership with the local Red Cross chapter and actively participates in those phases of the chapter program which are appropriate for elementary and high school pupils. It is of primary importance that Junior Red Cross resources be used to meet the needs of schools and communities and serve as a contributing factor to the growth and development of boy and girls.

The purposes of Junior Red Cross are:

1. To give youth an opportunity to share in community, national and international responsibilities through the organized channels of Red Cross.
2. To develop within children a desire to render voluntary service.
3. To provide an opportunity for boys and girls to learn to assume responsibilities and carry them out.
4. To promote international understanding.
5. To further community and personal health.
6. To provide training for better citizenship.
7. To teach boys and girls to plan, think, and work together effectively in doing things they consider worth while.
8. To contribute to the development of emotional security.
9. To learn Democratic ways of living.

HUNTING HINDERED BY BAD WEATHER

FERRIDAY, La., Dec. 4.—(Special)—The open season for hunting deer, which began on Thanksgiving Day, was not very successful in this section because of inclemency of the weather. Many camping parties were forced to break up because of the bad weather and few deer were bagged by the hunters.

Among the out-of-parish hunters coming in for the opening of the deer slaying season were: J. W. Bateman, Baton Rouge; Thomas Snodgrass, Shreveport; Reeve Lewis, Jr., Sterlington, and Dr. J. C. Ernest, Monroe, all former residents.

BOY SCOUTS IN BIGGEST EVENT

Ouachita Valley Council Will Have Roundup Next Saturday

Scouts and Cubs in all areas of the Ouachity Valley Council will be busy this week making preparations for their biggest event of the year, the Boy Scout roundup, to be held in Monroe next Saturday, December 11. Members of Scout troops and Cub packs are getting ready for the Scout parade on Saturday morning and the special roundup ceremony to be held at Gentry's Rodeo Arena on Saturday afternoon. This roundup event is the climax for the third annual membership roundup of the Ouachita Valley Council.

Membership of the Ouachita Valley Council, Boy Scouts of America, increased greatly during the month of November, as a result of the third annual roundup program. L. L. Price, "range boss," announced that over twenty units have already qualified for roundup awards, and many new boys have joined Scout troops or Cub packs. An even greater membership increase is expected as the roundup contest closes this week.

The first Scout activity in next Saturday's program will be a Scout parade, which is to be routed through the main business districts of West Monroe and Monroe, and to begin at 11:00 a.m. In addition to hundreds of Scouts and Cubs participating in this parade, the following bands will take part: Ouachita Parish High School, Neville High School, Delhi, Bastrop and Winnsboro. There will also be several other added features to the parade.

The highlight of the roundup activities will be the roundup ceremony scheduled to begin at 2:00 p.m. at Gentry's Rodeo Arena, West Monroe. In this event, all new Scouts and Cubs will be branded for Scouting in an unusual branding ceremony. All roundup winners, including Scouts, Cubs, leaders and roundup units, will receive their awards in this activity. Other items on the program include a bicycle ballet by troop 12, clarks, and troop 13, West Monroe; a Cub bicycle parade by pack 1, Monroe; signal tower building by troop 10, West Monroe, troop 67, Sterlington, troop 94, Dodson, troop 99, Winnfield, and troop 88, Atlanta. There will also be a first-aid demonstration by troop 34, Monroe, and troop 28, Monroe, as well as a camping demonstration by troop 26, Monroe; a Scout drill by troop 31, Monroe; a Cub demonstration by pack 13, West Monroe, and pack 34, Monroe. All troops and packs present for this event will participate in a grand entry and special color ceremonies.

The following units have qualified to date for roundup awards: Troop 92, Lake Providence; troop 88, Atlanta; troop 99, Winnfield; troop 45, Ruston; troop 57, Delhi; troop 12, Clarks; troop 13, West Monroe; troop 61, Monroe; troop 56, Tallulah, troop 17, Ferriday, troop 24, waterproof; troop 2, Bastrop; troop 49, Dubach; troop 25, Lake Providence; troop 37, Pioneer; pack 1, pack 31, pack 34, Monroe; pack 13, West Monroe; pack 39, Oak Grove.

Many other units are expected to qualify for awards before the roundup ceremony, December 11.

SANTA IS DUE ON WEDNESDAY

Will Arrive In Connection With Giant Balloon Parade In 2 Towns

Santa Claus is coming to Monroe Wednesday, December 8. This time he'll ride in a parade astride a giant Balloon Train, the latest creation of his North Pole Toy shop. The parade will begin promptly at 5 p.m. at the intersection of Louisville and Fifth, will go west on Louisville to Walnut, south on Walnut to North Grand, continue on North Grand to DeSiard, east on DeSiard to Five Points. The sensational Balloon Train is one of 50 giant balloons that will parade here at the invitation of the merchants' division of the Chamber of Commerce.

The gigantic balloons are motivated principally by hand, and it will require the efforts of almost 200 young men to make the parade move. Boys from Neville High School, Louisiana Training Institute, Ouachita Valley Vocational School and the Boy Scouts of America have volunteered to serve.

The balloons will be supplemented and glamourized by the assistance of a number of high school bands and marching units from northeast Louisiana. At the present time the Ouachita Parish High School band and Lionettes, the Neville High School band and Tigerettes, the St. Matthews' pep squad, the Winnsboro High School band and the R. O. T. C. cadet corps with their color guard have asked permission to participate in the parade. It is expected that other bands not yet heard from will also participate in the show.

Chief Ward, of the Monroe police department, has announced that parking on DeSiard street will be prohibited on the day of the parade after 4:30 p.m. and requests the cooperation of all local citizens.

Through school superintendents and principals, every school child in northeast Louisiana has been invited to attend this unusual show. As well as being a thrilling sight, the 50 balloon characters included in the parade offer an educational opportunity for children and grownups alike to see a reduced copy of the gigantic New York Balloon Parade of giants held by Macy's each year.

Santa Claus will stay in Monroe during the evening following the parade and will be on the streets and in the stores until they close at 9 p.m.

BALLOON TRAIN COACH

EXCHANGE CLUB HEARS OF TRAFFIC

December 2, the Monroe Exchange Club met at its regular luncheon meeting at the Frances Hotel Thursday noon. The meeting was begun in regular fashion with song fest followed by invocation. Guests at the luncheon were Mrs. Ed Lockhart, Bill Reagan, Captain Jack Davis of the Monroe police force, also an old member, Bill Love.

The regular business meeting was dispensed with to permit Captain Jack Davis to explain the proposed traffic changes in the most congested area within the corporate limits. With the aid of a map, Captain Davis pointed out the "limited" proposal of one-way streets, that if ratified by the city council, would go into effect on trial—the bottlenecks being worked out as detected. Captain Davis emphasized that the proposal was only the beginning of much needed traffic regulation, that the proposal was in infant stages and would necessarily be constantly ratified and expanded to meet the needs of fast-growing Monroe.

There was much discussion as to the merits of the new proposal and; on motion, Tom Fernberg, seconded by Jimmie Harbuck, the new traffic plan as submitted by Captain Jack Davis was given a unanimous vote of confidence.

MRS. CHANDLER TO GIVE RADIO TALK

At the regular broadcast time on Tuesday noon at 12:30, of the Monroe League of Women Voters, Mrs. Juliue Chandler will discuss the regional conference which was held in Dallas on December 2 and 3. Mrs. Chandler will answer questions pertaining to the conference and will bring out the most important highlights which will affect the local league.

All league members are urged to listen to this broadcast as each will want to know, in advance of the January meeting, just what was done at this conference.

'STABAT MATER' WILL BE GIVEN

Mixed Chorus To Present Brilliant Classic Next Thursday

The Northeast Junior College music department will present the mixed chorus under direction of Miss Gertrude Sandrock, assistant professor of voice, in a performance of the "Stabat Mater" by Gioacchino Rossini in Brown Hall auditorium on Thursday, December 9, at 8 p. m.

There will be no admission charge, announced Harry M. Lemert, head of the music department.

The chorus has gained considerable recognition in this section through the programs which it has presented during the past few years. The group's appearance Thursday night marks the first performance of the current season.

Augmenting the chorus at this time will be several outstanding soloists form the Monroe area. They include: Mrs. A. M. Serex, Miss Wanda Madere, Miss Lola Hern and Miss Billye Durbin, sopranos; Miss Pat Ann Rector, alto; Walter C. Minniear, tenor; Lloyd Walters and Reginald Spencer, basses.

Other guest singers appearing with the chorus in Thursday's performance will be: Mrs. Helen Agnew, Mrs. Lloyd Walters, Dean Rodney Cline and Harry M. Lemert.

The "Stabat Mater" was composed for the Catholic Church in 1832, but had its first complete performance at the Salle Ventadour in January, 1842. From that time on it has enjoyed great success in all countries of western Europe and America. The mass is not used for religious purposes because of the florid quality of the music. This very florid quality, however, is reason that Rossini's vocal music has such living beauty and charm to audiences, critics agree. The composer was a master of vocal writing.

Rossini is known as one of the foremost operatic composers of the early nineteenth century. During the period between 1810 and 1829 the Italian musician composed 38 operas, including the still popular "William Tell" and "The Barber of Seville."

His fame was great throughout his lifetime and he was singularly honored by both the governments of France and England.

Panama hats, though produced in Ecuador, take their name from the fact that Panama was originally the chief center of their distribution.

Trinity Church To Have Interesting Program In Night Service

Monday evening at 7:30 p.m. Trinity Lutheran Church will hold special services for the deaf of this area. Preaching in the sign language will be the Rev. Hans Bollow, newly assigned missionary to the deaf in this field.

Following the services, at 8 o'clock, a sound film will show depicting the great advances in training deaf children to speak and to read lips. The film, "The World of Silence," was made by the Lutheran School for the Deaf, Detroit, Mich., and tells the story of that school's work among deaf children. It is known as the oldest and largest of its kind and the only Protestant school for deaf children in America. Besides this film, which is taken in color, another on the program is titled "Carlsbad Caverns." The public is welcome to attend.

For many years Lutheran missionaries to the deaf from St. Louis, Mo., and Memphis, Tenn., traveled to the deep south to bring God's word to the deaf in that territory. Last August a graduate of Concordia Seminary, St. Louis, was commissioned to take up the work in this section.

Rev. Bollow is a graduate of Concordia Collegiate Institute, Bronxville, N. Y., and has served as pastor at Brooklyn, N. Y., as chaplain at Kings County Hospital, and as assistant missionary at the Metropolitan Inner Mission in New York City.

FIFTH DISTRICT MEDICOS TO MEET

The Fifth District Medical Society will meet in Hotel Virginia December 9 at 4 p.m. for the regular December meeting. On the program will be a discussion of cancer of the throat by Dr. Francis E. Le Jeune, specialist in ear, nose and throat diseases, New Orleans.

Also Dr. Rosewald Johnson of the department of pediatrics at Tulane will discuss new advances in the treatment of diseases of blood forming organs of childhood.

The members of the medical society throughout the fifth district are all invited to attend.

Following the afternoon program, there will be a banquet held in Hotel Virginia.

FAVORITISM IS NOT BLAMED ON OFFICER

BELVIDERE, Ill., Dec. 4.—(AP)—The stern law enforcement efforts of Patrolman Leroy Kaschub, 27, have the town talking, but no one has accused the ex-G. I. cop of favoritism.

Kaschub said when he joined the force three years ago that nothing would stand between him and his duty. His arrest record included nabbing of Aldermen Irvin Eicksteadt and Lester Cunningham, Kaschub's wife, Winifred, and his brother, Carl. All were convicted of minor traffic ordinance violations.

Last Thursday, Policeman Kaschub attended a wedding rehearsal in the Emmanuel Lutheran Church for his wife's sister, Lorna White of Waukesha, Wis., and Clifford Pundt of Belvidere.

Shortly after the rehearsal, Kaschub obtained speeding warrants against Pundt, and the best man, Alfred Rainwater, also of Belvidere.

The warrants were served during a party in Kaschub's house for the happy couple.

Police Magistrate Carl Suhr postponed trial of the groom and best man last night so the marriage could proceed as planned. But the bridegroom and his friend must appear to answer the speeding charges next Friday.

Asked by a reporter for comment on his charges against Pundt and Rainwater, Kaschub said "the relatives and friends of policemen, above all people, should know enough to avoid breaking the laws."

GILBERT BROTHERS, General Contractors
STRAN-STEEL DIVISION
3040 DESIARD STREET, MONROE - PHONE 8589 or 6525
as QUONSET* dealer for this area

Appointment of this new Quonset dealer enables your community to enjoy the use of all-steel Quonset buildings at lowest cost. Need for building expansion in this community—on farms, in industry and commerce, for business and pleasure—can be met with Quonset construction right now.

No other type of building construction can offer Quonset advantages. Framed with steel and covered with steel, Quonsets are strong and durable, rot-proof, termite-proof and fire-resistant. No other building can be erected so swiftly, or is so economical to buy and maintain.

Basic advantage which makes the Quonset possible is the fundamentally different—and better—framing material which we call Stran-Steel. Lightweight all-steel framing members reach the building site fabricated to exact shape and dimensions, ready to erect with carpenters tools. Stran-Steel studs, arch-ribs and purlins contain the patented nailing groove—which enables the erecting crews to apply exterior covering and interior materials by nailing them directly to the framing members. Wide latitude of choice for interior decorative effects is possible, and any kind of insulation may be applied—for whatever you use, you nail to Stran-Steel.

Ask your dealer to show you how these modern new Quonset buildings can meet your building problem.

REV. JAS. REID WILL PREACH

West Monroe Memorial Presbyterian Church To Hear Evangelist

James V. Reid, evangelist of Fort Worth, Texas, will be the guest speaker at the Memorial Presbyterian Church Sunday, West Monroe, at 11 a. m. At the evening worship hour at 7:30 he will present a series of colored pictures of missions and properties in Central America.

He is well known in this area for his work among the young people in former years at Eyworth League assembles and summer camps. He is a musician of note, but his life work has been of a missionary objective, having made twelve trips into the Latin American countries, where he assisted the various Protestant mission churches in furthering and increasing the interest among their people and more closely associating their work with that of the home church.

He has just returned from a tour of Central America and his colored moving pictures, portraying the missions of these countries, the properties of Protestant churches there, interior life, jungle life, and the future possibilities of Christian work in neighboring lands, will be presented in an interesting and informative manner to those who hear him and see his pictures. To add to the evening's program, Mr. Reid will render several special hymn interpretations on the piano.

BURGOYNE GOING TO ORLEANS MEET

S. E. Burgoyne, business director of St. Francis Sanitarium, Monroe, will attend the American Hospital Association Institute on hospital public relations, December 6-8, at the Roosevelt Hotel in New Orleans. Administrators, public relations directors and trustees from approximately 40 hospitals and eight blue cross plans over the country are registered for the institute.

Recognizing the responsibility of the hospital to give the best possible health care to its community as a basis for public good will, the institute will furnish a concentrated introduction to public relations problems and techniques. Outstanding speakers from hospital and allied fields and representatives of the people will discuss means of determining public opinion, relationships with groups in the hospital and the community, and effective ways in which the hospital may communicate with them. Registrants will study actual case histories and resolve, through group discussion, common problems in hospital public relations.

IS THERE A SANTA CLAUS?

We take pleasure in answering at once and thus prominently the communication below, expressing at the same time our great gratification that its faithful author is numbered among the friends of THE SUN:

"DEAR EDITOR—I am 8 years old.

"Some of my little friends say there is no SANTA CLAUS.

"Papa says 'If you see it in THE SUN it's so.'

"Please tell me the truth, is there a SANTA CLAUS?

"VIRGINIA O'HANLON,
"115 West Ninety-fifth street."

VIRGINIA, your little friends are wrong. They have been affected by the skepticism of a skeptical age. They do not believe except they see. They think that nothing can be which is not comprehensible by their little minds. All minds, VIRGINIA, whether they be men's or children's, are little. In this great universe of ours man is a mere insect, an ant, in his intellect, as compared with the boundless world about him, as measured by the intelligence capable of grasping the whole of truth and knowledge.

Yes, VIRGINIA, there is a SANTA CLAUS. He exists as certainly as love and generosity and devotion exist, and you know that they abound and give to your life its highest beauty and joy. Alas! how dreary would be the world if there were no SANTA CLAUS! It would be as dreary as if there were no Virginias. There would be no childlike faith then, no poetry, no romance to make tolerable this existence. We should have no enjoyment, except in sense and sight. The eternal light with which childhood fills the world would be extinguished.

Not believe in SANTA CLAUS! You might as well not believe in fairies! You might get your papa to hire men to watch in all the chimneys on Christmas eve to catch SANTA CLAUS, but even if they did not see SANTA CLAUS coming down what would that prove? Nobody sees SANTA CLAUS, but that is no sign that there is no SANTA CLAUS. The most real things in the world are those that neither children nor men can see. Did you ever see fairies dancing on the lawn? Of course not, but that's no proof that they are not there. Nobody can conceive or imagine all the wonders there are unseen and unseeable in the world.

You tear apart the baby's rattle and see what makes the noise inside, but there is a veil covering the unseen world which not the strongest man, nor even the united strength of all the strongest men that ever lived, could tear apart. Only faith, fancy, poetry, love, romance, can push aside that curtain and view and picture the supernal beauty and glory beyond. Is it all real? Ah, VIRGINIA, in all this world there is nothing else real and abiding.

No SANTA CLAUS! Thank God! he lives, and he lives forever. A thousand years from now, VIRGINIA, nay, ten times ten thousand years from now, he will continue to make glad the heart of childhood.

WHEN PEARLY ARRIVED WITH THE SPECIALIST NEXT DAY, SABLE STILL DID NOT HAVE A COLD, BUT SHE HAD THE STAGE ALL SET WITH A LOT OF MEDICINE AND A HOT-WATER BOTTLE!
WHEN THE DOCTOR PUT A THERMOMETER IN HER MOUTH, SHE KNEW IT WOULD NOT REGISTER ABOVE NORMAL AND SHE WAS AFRAID THAT THE DOCTOR AND PEARLY WOULD GET WISE THAT SHE WAS FAKING!
SABLE ASKED PEARLY AND THE DOCTOR TO CLOSE THE WINDOWS AND AS THEY DID, SHE TOUCHED THE THERMOMETER TO THE HOT-WATER BOTTLE CAUSING IT TO REGISTER ENOUGH TO CONVINCE THE DOCTOR THAT SHE WAS ILL!

SABLE, HONEY, YOU WERE MIGHTY CLEVER TO OUTWIT PEARLY AND THE DOCTOR··· I WAS SO WORRIED ABOUT YOU WHILE THEY WERE DOWN THERE!
AND I WAS WORRIED ABOUT YOU UP HERE! IF PEARLY HAD SUSPECTED THAT I WAS FAKING···
···HE MIGHT HAVE SEARCHED THE PLACE AND FOUND YOU! THAT WOULD HAVE BEEN CURTAINS FOR BOTH OF US!
RIGHT, SABLE! MY BEING HERE IS TOO RISKY! I'VE GOTTA GET OUT··· I CAN'T JEOPARDIZE YOUR SAFETY ANY LONGER!
···I JUST CAN'T TAKE A CHANCE ON ANYTHING HAPPENING TO YOU! I LOVE YOU SO, SABLE!
AND I LOVE YOU TOO, JACK! IT'S WONDERFUL! AT LONG LAST, WE FINALLY DISCOVERED THAT WE'RE IN LOVE!
···BUT, JACK··· YOU CAN'T LEAVE HERE YET··· YOU'RE STILL TOO ILL FROM THAT HORRIBLE PUNISHMENT YOU GOT IN PEARLY'S DUNGEON!
OH, I'M OKAY··· I'M GONNA SNEAK UP TO THAT OLD ABANDONED LANDING STRIP THAT YOU TOLD ME ABOUT!

MAYBE IN A COUPLE OF DAYS YOU'LL BE WELL ENOUGH TO ATTEMPT IT!
···I JUST CAN'T LET JACK EXPOSE HIMSELF YET!
···WHEN JACK FALLS ASLEEP TONIGHT, I'LL GET FAT STUFF OUT OF TH' BASEMENT AND WE'LL SNEAK UP TO THE STRIP AND WATCH!
PUFF···PUFF··· ME GLAD ME CAME WITH YOU, MISS SABLE, BUT ME SORRY ME SO SLOW AT WALK-UM UP HILL!

EDGAR RICE BURROUGHS
"TAKE THE TAWANAU (PRISONER) AWAY," THE WITCH-DOCTOR DIRECTED "AND GUARD HIM WELL."
MEANWHILE, TIMARU AND SOROS, UNEASY AT TARZAN'S LONG ABSENCE, RETURNED TO THE CLEARING BEFORE THE NATIVE VILLAGE.
"TARZAN IS EITHER A PRISONER OF THE ORANG-RIMBA, OR HE IS LOST IN THE JUNGLE," SOROS GROWLED.
"NO," TIMARU REPLIED, "TARZAN IS NOT LOST. HE KNOWS THE JUNGLE. AS FOR BEING CAPTURED, THAT, I FEAR, IS POSSIBLE......"
HOGARTH
SUDDENLY, WITHOUT WARNING, SHADOWY FIGURES ROSE FROM THE UNDERBRUSH, LEAPED UPON THEM, AND BORE THEM TO THE GROUND.

"MOTHER, THESE ARE THE CAPTIVES FROM THAT MOON WE ARE MINING," TOR EXPLAINS. ZARIN BEAMS, "IT WILL AMUSE ME TO QUESTION THEM LATER. NOW HERE IS A SURPRISE FOR YOU."

It's a woman's privilege to change her mind!
DON'T SAY THINGS LIKE THAT, MARGIE! GOSH! EVERY TIME YOU CHANGE YOUR MIND ABOUT ME, YOU TAKE TEN YEARS OFF MY LIFE!
I CAN'T HELP IT, FREDDIE. IT'S JUST THE WAY THINGS ARE!

FREDDIE, YOU'D CHANGE, TOO, IF SOMEBODY YOU LIKED A LOT HAD--HAD BAD BREATH! WON'T YOU TALK TO YOUR DENTIST? PLEASE!

TO COMBAT BAD BREATH, I RECOMMEND COLGATE DENTAL CREAM! FOR SCIENTIFIC TESTS PROVE THAT IN 7 OUT OF 10 CASES, COLGATE'S INSTANTLY STOPS BAD BREATH THAT ORIGINATES IN THE MOUTH!
"HERE'S WHY: COLGATE DENTAL CREAM HAS AN ACTIVE PENETRATING FOAM THAT GETS INTO THE HIDDEN CREVICES BETWEEN TEETH—HELPS CLEAN OUT DECAYING FOOD PARTICLES—STOP STAGNANT SALIVA ODORS—REMOVE THE CAUSE OF MUCH BAD BREATH. AND COLGATE'S SOFT POLISHING AGENT CLEANS ENAMEL THOROUGHLY, GENTLY, SAFELY!"
COLGATE DENTAL CREAM DOES A SUPER JOB OF POLISHING TEETH, TOO! AND HOW I GO FOR COLGATE'S GRAND WAKE-UP FLAVOR!
